No. 758. Families Below Poverty Level Under Alternative Income Definitions, by Race, Age of Head, and Region: 1976

[For year ending June 30. Data measure the incidence of poverty under different income concepts. Unrelated individuals are included in these data as "one-person families." Based on data from Current Population Survey, adjusted by source for underreporting of income and nonreporting of families residing in the outlying areas and institutions. Cash transfer income includes payments for social security and railroad retirement, government pensions, unemployment insurance, workmen's and veterans' compensation, veterans' pensions, supplemental security income, and aid to families with dependent children. In-kind transfers include food stamps, child nutrition, housing assistance, medicare, and medicaid. For composition of regions, see fig. I, inside front cover]

No. 759. Families and Unrelated Individuals Below Poverty Level and Aggregate Income Deficit (1976 Dollars), by Sex and Race of Head: 1959 to 1976

[As of March of following year. Income deficit defined as the difference between the total income of families and unrelated individuals below poverty level and their respective poverty thresholds. In computing the income deficit, families reporting a net income loss are assigned zero dollars; for such cases, the deficit is equal to the poverty level. For explanation of poverty level, see table 755 and text, p. 438]

No. 762. Persons and Families Below Poverty Level—States: 1959 to 1975

[Number in thousands. Persons and families as of April 1960 and 1970, and spring 1976. For explanation of poverty level, see text, p. 438. For 1959, excludes all persons in group quarters. For 1969, excludes unrelated individuals under 14 years of age and persons in specified types of group quarters, i.e., inmates of institutions, persons in Armed Forces living in barracks, and college students living in dormitories. For 1975, same as 1969, except college students living away from home are included at their family's home. Poverty criteria computed on a national basis only and not adjusted for regional, State, or other local variations in cost of living, 1975 data from the 1976 Survey of Income and Education (SIE), a special survey mandated by Congress as part of the Education Amendments of 1974 (Public Law 93-380); based on a sample of 151,000 interviewed households; subject to sampling variability. NA Not available. X Not applicable. [1] Market value without deduction of mortgages, liens, or other incumbrances. Beginning 1962, includes foreign real estate. [2] Includes all common and preferred issues, shares in domestic or foreign firms, certificates and shares of building and loan and savings and loan associations, Federal land bank stock, accrued dividends, and other instruments representing equity interest in an enterprise. Stock held in trust is included, but value is understated. [3] Includes checking and savings balances, currency on hand or in safe deposit boxes, cash balances with stock brokers, and postal savings accounts. Cash in trust is included, but understated. [4] Includes notes and mortgages, security credit, and similar assets. [5] Cash surrender value; i.e., the amount individuals could expect to receive were they to surrender their policies to the carriers. It takes account of policy loans, accrued dividends, and unearned premiums. [6] Includes all assets owned in trust except real estate. Trust classification figures should not be used to arrive at total assets because these data are included in individual asset types. [7] Includes all legal obligations except loans on life insurance policies.

[1] Estimates derived by "perpetual inventory" method which is intended to reflect reproduction cost of different types of assets. Estimates are obtained by: (a) reducing each year's gross capital expenditures in current prices to 1958 price level by means of the appropriate construction cost index; (b) depreciating gross capital expenditures in accordance with an assumed length of life for different types of assets, thus obtaining net capital expenditures for each year in 1958 prices; (c) cumulating net capital expenditures for as many years backwards as corresponds to the assured length of life of the type of asset involved. [2] Owner occupied only. [3] Current dollar estimates are based on book values; constant dollar estimates reflect book values reduced by means of wholesale price indexes. [4] Includes business and household inventories. [5] Private farm land estimates based on census or similar data. Private nonfarm land estimates are derived by application of rough ratios of land to structure values for different types of real estate. Excludes subsoil assets.

[1] For gross and net stocks, constant dollar data tend to be lower than current dollar data. Implicit price deflator is set equal to 1 at midpoint of year; due to inflation during last six months of 1972, implicit price deflator applied to stocks at year-end was greater than 1. Depreciation is considered to occur evenly throughout calendar year, and is deflated at midpoint of year. [2] Includes farm, not shown separately.

Section 15

Prices

This section presents indexes of producer and consumer prices, actual prices for selected commodities, and budgets for urban families and retired couples. The primary sources of these data are monthly publications of the Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, which include: Monthly Labor Review; Consumer Price Index; Estimated Retail Food Prices by Cities; Retail Prices and Indexes of Fuels and Utilities; and Producer (formerly Wholesale) Prices and Price Indexes. The Bureau of Economic Analysis of the Department of Commerce is the source for the gross national product (GNP) implicit price deflator figures; see table 783. The Department of Agriculture's Economics, Statistics, and Cooperatives Service (ESCS) prepared indexes of prices received and prices paid by farmers; see section 24.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics prepares monthly indexes of producer prices for a large selection of commodities; monthly indexes of consumer prices for both commodities and services; and weekly indexes of spot market prices for 22 commodities. The single year 1967 is currently the standard reference base period for most general purpose index numbers prepared by Federal agencies.

Producer price index.—This index (formerly the wholesale price index), dating from 1890, is the oldest continuous statistical series published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. It is designed to measure average changes in prices of all commodities, at all stages of processing, produced or imported for sale in primary markets in the United States.

The index has undergone several revisions (see Monthly Labor Review, February 1962). It is now based on approximately 2,800 commodity price series instead of the approximately 1,900 included in the 1947–60 period and the 900 included for the period prior to 1947. Prices used in constructing the index are collected from sellers, if possible, and generally apply to the first significant large-volume commercial transaction for each commodity—i.e., the manufacturer's or other producer's selling price, the importer's selling price, or the selling price on an organized exchange or at a central market.

The weights used in the index represent the total net selling value of commodities produced or processed in this country, or imported. The values are f.o.b. production point and are exclusive of excise taxes, interplant transfers, military products, and goods sold directly at retail from producing establishments. Effective January 1976, the weights are values of net shipments of commodities as derived from the industrial censuses of 1972 and other data. From January 1967 through 1975, weights were based on 1963 shipment values.

Consumer price index (CPI).—This index measures the average changes in the cost of a fixed, or constant, "market basket" of consumer goods and services purchased by urban wage earners and clerical workers (45 percent of the civilian noninstitutional population); see below, however, for change beginning 1978. Weights which reflect the relative importance of the components of the index (e.g. housing, food, entertainment) and which are used in calculating the index are based on studies of actual expenditures by consumers. Quantities and qualities of items in the "market basket" remain essentially the same between consecutive pricing periods (monthly for national data), so that the index measures the effect of price change only on the cost of living. It does not measure changes in the total amount families spend for living; geographic area indexes do not measure relative differences in prices or living costs between areas.

A study conducted during 1917–19 provided the composition of the "market basket" and the weights used until 1935. Since then, this index has undergone several major revisions which involved bringing the "market basket" of goods and services up to date, revising the weights, and improving the sample and methodology. The fourth revision, which is shown in this section and which was incorporated in a new series beginning in 1964, introduced expenditure weights relating to 1960–1961. The most recent revision, issued beginning January 1978, is based on an updated "market basket" of goods and services and revised expenditure weights relating to 1971–1972. This revision also establishes a second CPI index representing all urban consumers (80 percent of the civilian noninstitutional population). For a discussion of the history and concepts of the CPI, see Consumer Price Index, report number 517, published by the BLS.

The list of items priced for the index (prior to 1978) includes approximately 400 goods and services. The items priced are described by detailed specifications to insure that, as far as possible, the same quality is priced each time, and that differences in reported prices are measures of price change only. All taxes directly associated with the purchase or continued use of the items priced are included in the index.

The national index for the fourth revision of the CPI, which is shown in this section, is based on prices collected in 56 areas. These include the urban portions of 37 standard metropolitan statistical areas (SMSA's), the more extensive standard consolidated areas for Chicago and New York-Northeastern New Jersey; and 17 nonmetropolitan urban places. (See text, page 2, for explanation of the SMSA concept.) Area definitions are those established for the 1960 census and do not include any subsequent revisions. Foods, fuels, and a few other items are priced monthly in all areas. Prices of most other goods and services are obtained monthly in the 5 largest areas and every 3 months in other areas. Rents are surveyed bimonthly in the 5 largest areas and every 3 months in other areas. Between scheduled survey dates, prices are held at the level of their last pricing for all goods and services except new automobiles. Price data for the 56 areas are combined for the United States with weights based on 1960 population of the several areas represented by each sample area. Indexes are published for areas grouped by size of city and by region of the country, and for 23 separate metropolitan areas.

Food price indexes are computed as a subgroup of the consumer price index. The indexes have been computed from prices of 60 foods from 1950–52, 90 foods from 1953–63, and 96 foods beginning January 1964.

Statistical reliability.—For a discussion of statistical collection and estimation, sampling procedures, and measures of statistical reliability pertaining to the Producer Price Index and the CPI, see Appendix III.

No. 789. Average Prices (Unit Values)—Selected Commodities Exported and Imported: 1965 to 1977

[In dollars per unit. Includes trade of Puerto Rico with foreign countries. Unit values obtained by dividing annual values of domestic exports and of imports by annual quantities. Values of goods exported represent those at port of export. Values of goods imported, 1965 to 1973, represent market values in country from which imported; thereafter, transaction values f.a.s. (free alongside ship) at port of export. Unit values may show actual price movements only roughly for commodities subject to considerable price variations among different grades, methods of packing, etc., and to year-to-year variations in proportions of grades, etc. Unit values of agricultural exports also include effects of Commodity Credit Corporation sales for export]

No. 792. Consumer Price Indexes, by Major Groups: 1950 to 1978

[1967=100. Annual averages of monthly figures. Prior to 1965, excludes Alaska and Hawaii. Beginning 1965, except as indicated in text, p. 482, for 1978, indexes reflect buying patterns of urban wage earners and clerical workers in the 1960's, including single workers living alone as well as families of two or more persons; indexes for prior years apply only to families of two or more persons. See also Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1970, series E 135-173]

No. 797. Urban Budgets for a 4-Person Family and for a Retired Couple: 1967 to 1977

[In dollars. 4-person family refers to annual living costs for a family comprising a 38-year-old employed husband, a wife not employed outside the home, an 8-year-old girl, and a 13-year-old boy. Retired couple refers to a retired husband 65 years old or over and his wife. The 3 budget levels reflect costs of different specified types and amounts of goods and services. Each level provides for average inventories of clothing, housefurnishings, major durables, and other equipment. Metropolitan areas are as defined in May 1967]

No. 801. Average Retail Prices of Selected Foods: 1965 to 1978

[In cents per pound, except as indicated. Represents averages of prices reported by retail dealers in cities included in the Retail Food Index. Data are estimated averages of prices reported by retail dealers. Number of cities varies according to the number of cities in which an item was priced and the availability of prices within the cities. Excludes sales taxes. Prices for individual cities combined on basis of population weights. See also Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1970, series E 187–202]

Section 16
Elections

This section relates primarily to Presidential, congressional, and gubernatorial elections. Also presented are summary tables on congressional legislation, population of voting age, voter participation, and campaign expenditures.

Official statistics on Federal elections are collected by the Clerk of the House of Representatives and published biennially in Statistics of the Presidential and Congressional Election and Statistics of the Congressional Election. Federal and State election statistics appear also in America Votes, issued biennially by the Elections Research Center, Washington, D.C.; and data on Federal elections appear in the U.S. Congress, Congressional Directory, and in official State documents. Data on voter eligibility and participation are obtained by the U.S. Bureau of the Census as part of the Current Population Survey (CPS) and are published in Current Population Reports, series P-20 and P-25 (see text, p. 1).

Almost all Federal, State, and local governmental units in the United States conduct elections at various intervals for different offices and other purposes. The conduct of elections is regulated by State laws or, in some cities and counties, by local charter. An exception is that the U.S. Constitution prescribes the basis of representation in Congress and the manner of electing the President, and grants to Congress the right to regulate the times, places, and manner of electing Federal officers. Amendments to the Constitution have prescribed conditions for voting eligibility. The 15th Amendment, adopted in 1870, gave all citizens the right to vote regardless of race or previous condition of servitude. In 1920, women were given the right to vote by the 19th Amendment. The payment of poll taxes as a prerequisite to voting in Federal elections was banned by the 24th Amendment in 1964. In 1971, as a result of the 26th Amendment, eligibility to vote in national elections was extended to all citizens, age 18 and over.

Presidential election.—The Constitution specifies how the President and Vice President are selected. Each State elects, by popular vote, a group of electors equal in number to its total of Representatives and Senators. The electors meet in their respective States subsequent to the election to cast their ballots for President and Vice President. Usually, an elector votes for the candidate with the most popular votes. A majority vote of the entire number of electors is necessary to elect the President and Vice President. If no candidate receives a majority, the House of Representatives, with each State having one vote, is empowered to elect the President and Vice President, again, with a majority of votes required.

The 22d Amendment to the Constitution, adopted in 1951, limits presidential tenure to 2 elective terms of 4 years each, or to 1 elective term for any person who, upon succession to the Presidency, has held the office or acted as President for more than 2 years. The 23d Amendment, adopted in 1961, grants the District of Columbia 3 presidential electors, a number equal to that of the least populous State.

Congressional election.—The Constitution provides that Representatives be apportioned among the States according to their population; that a census of population be taken every 10 years as a basis for apportionment; and that each State have at least 1 Representative. At the time of each apportionment, Congress decides what the total number of Representatives will be. Since 1912, the total has been 435, except during 1960 to 1962 when it increased to 437 to accommodate granting 1 Representative each to Alaska and Hawaii. The total reverted to 435 after reapportionment following the 1960 census. Members are elected for 2-year terms, all terms covering the same period.

The Senate is composed of 100 members, 2 from each State, who are elected to serve for a term of 6 years. One-third of the Senate is elected every 2 years. Senators were originally chosen by the State legislatures. The 17th Amendment to the Constitution, adopted in 1913, prescribed that Senators be elected by popular vote.

Voter eligibility and participation.—The Census Bureau publishes estimates of the population of voting age and the percent casting votes in each State for Presidential and congressional election years. Voting-age population estimates include a number of persons who meet the age requirement but are not eligible to vote (e.g., aliens and institutionalized persons). It was estimated that, in November 1978, 4,000,000 aliens and 500,000 institutionalized persons were part of the voting-age population. Since 1964, voter participation and voter characteristics data based on the CPS (see above) conducted during November of election years have also been issued biennially.

Statistical reliability.—For a discussion of statistical collection and estimation, sampling procedures, and measures of statistical reliability applicable to Census Bureau data, see Appendix III.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1970. See Appendix I.

No. 821. Vote Cast for United States Representatives, by Major Political Parties, by States: 1972 to 1976

[In thousands, except percent. In each State, totals represent the sum of votes cast in each Congressional District, except as follows: In Alaska, Delaware, Nevada, Vermont, and Wyoming, only 1 Representative was elected for the State at large. In numerous States, one or other of the major parties had no candidate in some districts. In those cases where votes of a party as such are cast in endorsement of a candidate of another party, votes are counted as for the endorsing party. See also footnotes below. No. 836. Participation in Presidential Elections, by Population Characteristics: 1968 to 1976

[As of November. Covers civilian noninstitutional population, 18 years old and over, except for 1968, 21 years old and over (see also footnote 1, table 835). Includes aliens. Figures are based on a population sample (see text, p. 1) and differ from those in tables 835 and 841 based on population estimates and official vote counts. Differences in percentages may also be due to overreporting of voting (reluctance of some persons in the sample who actually did not vote to so report)]

No. 846. Election Campaign Costs for National Offices: 1972

[Covers some prenomination expenditures. Data are provided by the U.S. General Accounting Office, Office of Federal Elections (O.F.E.), created to administer the Federal Elections Campaign Act of 1971, effective as of April 7, 1972. Previously, only committees operating in two or more States were required to report receipts and expenditures. In 1968 there were 222 such committees, not all of which contributed to a Presidential campaign. The new requirement of comprehensive disclosure resulted in 1,785 committees filing reports with the O.F.E. in 1972, all of which contributed in some way, but not exclusively to a Presidential candidate. Except for congressional spending, all other figures are from the O.F.E.]

Section 17

Banking, Finance, and Insurance

This section presents data on the Nation's finances, various types of financial institutions, money and credit, securities, and insurance. The primary sources of these data are publications of several departments of the Federal Government, especially the Treasury Department, and independent agencies such as the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Federal Reserve System, and the Securities and Exchange Commission. National data on insurance are available primarily from private organizations, such as the American Council of Life Insurance.

Flow of funds.—The flow of funds accounts of the Federal Reserve System (see tables 848 to 854) bring together statistics on all of the major forms of financial transactions and financial claims to present an economy-wide view of asset and liability relationships. In flow form, the accounts relate borrowing and lending to one another and to the nonfinancial activities that generate income and production. Each claim outstanding is included simultaneously as an asset of the lender and as a liability of the debtor. The accounts also indicate the balance between asset totals and liability totals over the economy as a whole. Data included here present end-of-year asset and liability positions in financial claims rather than flows that occurred during the year. Three publications of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System contain information on the flow of funds accounts: Summary data on flows, in the Federal Reserve Bulletin and in Flow of Funds Accounts, 1946–1975; and concepts and organization of the accounts, in Introduction to Flow of Funds (February 1975).

Banking system.—Banks in this country are organized under the laws of both the States and the Federal Government. State-chartered banks are supervised by officials of the respective States. "National" banks are supervised by the Comptroller of the Currency. Reports of Condition have been collected from national banks since 1863. Summaries of these reports are published in the Comptroller's Annual Report, which also presents data on the structure of the national banking system.

The Federal Reserve System was established in 1913 to exercise central banking functions, some of which are shared with the U.S. Treasury. It includes national banks and such State banks as voluntarily join the System. Statements of State bank members are consolidated by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System with data for national banks collected by the Comptroller of the Currency into totals for all member banks of the System. Balance sheet data for member banks are published in condensed form in the Federal Reserve Bulletin.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC), established in 1933, insures each depositor up to $40,000 and also provides additional insurance coverage of up to $100,000 for certain time and savings deposits of official custodians of public funds in banks that are members of the Federal Reserve System and in such nonmember banks as join the insurance fund. A balance sheet for all banks in the country is published semiannually in Assets, Liabilities, and Capital Accounts—Commercial and Mutual Savings Banks, a joint publication of the FDIC, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, and the Comptroller of the Currency. Major item balance sheets for all commercial banks are published monthly in the Federal Reserve Bulletin.

Savings and loan and other credit agencies.—Savings and loan associations, insurance companies, finance companies dealing primarily in installment sales financing, credit unions, and personal loan companies represent important sources of funds for the credit market. Savings and loan associations which, unlike banks, are not engaged in deposit banking, are primarily involved in credit extension in the form of loans. Statistics on savings and loan associations are collected by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. Statistics on loans, investments, cash, etc., of life insurance companies are published principally by the American Council of Life Insurance in its Life Insurance Fact Book. Consumer credit data are published currently in the Federal Reserve Bulletin.

Federally chartered credit unions are under the supervision of the National Credit Union Administration, established in 1970. State-chartered credit unions are supervised by the respective State supervisory authorities. The Administration publishes comprehensive program and statistical information on all Federal and federally-insured State credit unions in the Annual Report of the National Credit Union Administration and also publishes an Annual Report on the operations of all State-chartered credit unions.

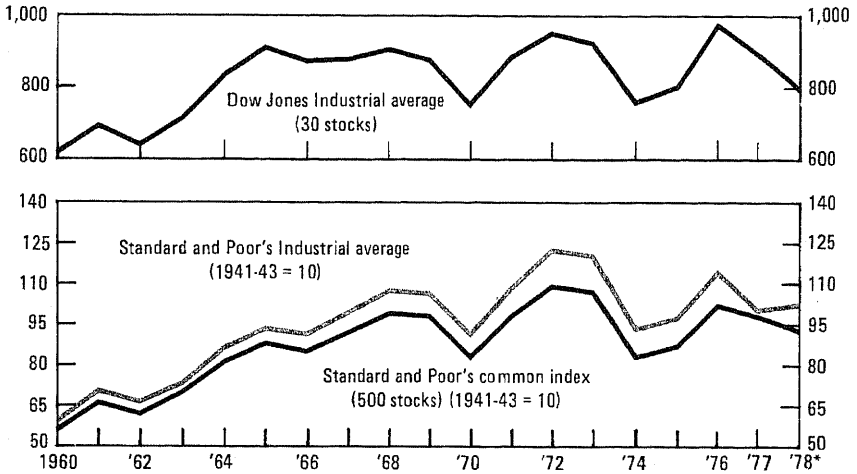
Government corporations and credit agencies make available credit of specified types or to specified groups of private borrowers, either by lending directly or by insuring or guaranteeing loans made by private lending institutions. Data on operations of Government credit agencies, along with other Government corporations, are available in reports of individual agencies; data on their assets and liabilities are published in the Treasury Bulletin.

Currency.—Currency, including coin and paper money, represents almost one-fourth of all media of exchange in the United States, with most payments made by check. All currency is now issued by the Federal Reserve Banks and the Treasury.

"Currency and coin in circulation" (official Statement of United States Currency and Coin) refers to all coin and paper money outside the Federal Reserve Banks, except gold and silver coin known to have been exported and, beginning with 1934, all gold coin. It includes all coin and paper money held by the public in the United States. It also includes cash in vaults of commercial and savings banks, currency lost or destroyed, and currency carried abroad by travelers.

Securities.—The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) was established in 1934 to protect the interests of the public and investors against malpractices in the securities and financial markets and to provide the fullest possible disclosure of information regarding securities to the investing public. Since its inception, the SEC has compiled a comprehensive monthly data series on new corporate securities offerings which cover substantially all new issues offered for cash sale in the United States in amounts over $100,000 and with terms to maturity of more than one year. This series is published monthly in the Commission's Statistical Bulletin.

Insurance.—Insuring companies, which are regulated by the various States or the District of Columbia, are classified as either life or property. Companies which underwrite accident and health insurance only are included with life insurance; those which underwrite accident and health insurance in addition to one or more property lines are included with property insurance. Insuring companies, other than those classified as life, are permitted to underwrite one or more property lines provided they are so licensed and have the necessary capital and/or surplus.



There are a number of published sources for statistics on the various classes of insurance—life, health, fire, marine, and casualty. Individual States collect data on all insurers operating within their respective jurisdictions, and many of the States publish an annual insurance report giving individual company data and aggregates of certain items for the companies operating within the State. Organizations representing certain classes of insurers publish reports for these classes. Among them are the annual commercial publishers, such as The National Underwriter Company whose Argus Chart (annual) contains financial and operating data for individual health and accident insurance companies, including Blue Cross and Blue Shield Plans. The American Council of Life Insurance publishes statistics on life insurance purchases, ownership, benefit payments, and assets in its annual Life Insurance Fact Book.

No. 858. Federal Reserve System—Member Bank Reserve Requirements: 1972 to 1978

[Under criteria effective Nov. 9, 1972, a reserve city is designated by the presence of a Federal Reserve Bank or branch or of the head office of a bank having net demand deposits of more than $400 million. Banks having net demand deposits of $400 million or less are considered to have character of business of banks outside reserve cities and may maintain reserves at ratios set for banks not in reserve cities. Reserves are required against net balances due from domestic offices of member banks to their foreign branches, against foreign branch loans to U.S. residents, and against borrowings from foreign banks by domestic offices of a member bank. Applicable reserve percentage in Nov. 1972 was 20, reduced to 8 effective June 21, 1973, and to 4 effective May 22, 1975. See also Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1970, series X 813-820]

[1] Demand deposits subject to reserve requirements are gross demand deposits minus cash items in process of collection and demand balances due from domestic banks. [2] Reserve city banks. [3] Christmas, vacation club, and like accounts are subject to same requirements as savings. [4] Other than savings. [5] Requirements on certain large time deposits increased by marginal reserve requirements of 3 to 5 percent during June 21, 1973, through Dec. 11, 1974. [6] Applied only to former reserve city banks for one week. Other banks continued requirement of 13 percent. [7] In effect prior to Nov. 9, 1972. [8] Average reserves on all time deposits must be at least 3 percent.

No. 901. Securities—Net Change in Corporate Securities Issued: 1950 to 1976

[In millions of dollars. Covers estimated cash transactions only. New issues exclude foreign companies, and include sales of securities held by affiliated companies, special offerings to employees, and also new stock issues and cash proceeds connected with conversions of bonds into stocks. Closed-end investment company issues are included from 1971 forward. Retirements include the same types of issues, and also securities retired with internal funds or with proceeds of issues for that purpose. See also Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1970, series X 507-509]

NA Not available. [1] Includes servicemen's group life insurance of $27.4 billion in 1965, $16.8 billion in 1970, $28.8 billion in 1974, and $1.7 billion in 1975. [2] The rate is the ratio of the number of policies lapsed or surrendered (for cash, extended term, or reduced paid up insurance), less reinstatements, to the mean number of policies in force. Includes policies issued by foreign companies, primarily Canadian. [3] Total income and payments to policyholders include data on operations of accident and health departments of life insurance companies; since these data are not shown separately, components do not add to totals. [4] Accidental death benefits included with disability benefits.

Business Enterprise

This section relates to the place and behavior of the business firm and of business initiative in the American economy. It includes data on the number, types, and size of businesses; financial data of domestic and multinational corporations; business investment, expenditures, and profits; business sales and inventories; consumer cooperatives; minority-owned firms; mergers, acquisitions, and business failures.

The principal sources of these data are the Survey of Current Business, published by the Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA); the Federal Reserve Bulletin, issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System; the annual Statistics of Income reports of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS); The Failure Record Through (Year), issued by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., New York; and Fortune and The Fortune Directory, issued by Fortune, New York. Other sources are publications of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), the Federal Trade Commission (FTC), and the Administrative Office of the United States Courts.

Business firms.—A business firm is generally defined as a business organization under a single management and may include one or more plants or outlets. The IRS concept of a business firm relates primarily to the legal entity used for tax reporting purposes. (See page 804 for explanation of the difference between "firm" or "company" and "establishment".) A firm doing business in more than one industry is classified by industry according to the major activity of the firm as a whole. The industrial classification is based on the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Manual (see text, page 396). The IRS Statistics of Income reports present data, based on a sample of tax returns before audit, separately for sole proprietorships, partnerships, and corporations. While many corporations file consolidated tax returns (i.e., one return for the parent firm and all its subsidiaries), most corporate tax returns represent individual corporations, some of which are affiliated through common ownership or control with other corporations filing separate returns.

Corporate assets and liabilities.—In its annual report, Statistics of Income, Corporation Income Tax Returns, the IRS presents balance sheet and income estimates for all active U.S. corporations. The FTC issues 2 current reports, the Quarterly Financial Report for Manufacturing, Mining and Trade Corporations, which presents quarterly income account and balance sheet data for manufacturing industries and the Working Capital of U.S. Nonfinancial Corporations, which presents data on components of current assets and liabilities of all nonfinancial U.S. corporations. Until 1978, the latter was issued by the SEC. Broker-dealer financial data are detailed in the Annual Report of the SEC.

Corporate income, profits, dividends, and taxes.—Several agencies, among them the IRS and the BEA, compile corporate income account data. These data, however, are not comparable because of differing methods of compilation.

The IRS publishes financial data for all business enterprises, based on a sample of income tax returns filed by sole proprietorships, partnerships, and corporations. These data appear in Statistics of Income—Business Income Tax Returns and Corporation Income Tax Returns. Supplemental reports published periodically present data on foreign income and taxes reported by U.S. corporations.

The corporate data issued by the BEA are a part of its national income and product accounts (see text, p. 437) and are defined as required for purposes of national income estimation. The primary sources for BEA estimates of profits, taxes, dividends, and undistributed profits are the original corporate tax returns submitted to the IRS. Various adjustments of the IRS data are required by the national income treatment, particularly with respect to profits which would be disclosed if all tax returns were audited, depletion, capital gain or loss, treatment of bad debts, measurement of income received from abroad, and intercorporate dividends to make the figures comparable with other entries in the national income accounts. BEA's corporate profits data also include net earnings of several federally sponsored credit agencies not included in Statistics of Income.

Sources and uses of corporate funds.—These data (table 927) show capital requirements of corporations and the manner in which they are financed. Sources of funds should be equal to their uses. Certain discrepancies, however, interfere with this equality due to omission of such factors as (1) money accruing to corporations from an excess of sales over purchases of used plant and equipment, (2) transactions in securities held as permanent investments except public offerings, and (3) net purchases of land. Also, the balance sheet data upon which many of the financial flow estimates are based are not fully comparable with the tax-return based estimates of internal sources, or the establishment series underlying the figures on inventory change.

Plant and equipment expenditures.—Estimates of actual and expected expenditures for new plant and equipment in the United States by most private, nonagricultural business firms are based on quarterly sample surveys conducted jointly by the Bureau of Economic Analysis and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The sample was designed for complete coverage of all companies with gross assets of $50 million or more, and a random selection of companies with assets of less than $50 million. There are approximately 10,000 firms in the sample, with response rates varying from 70 to 75 percent. Published data are adjusted to reflect the expenditures of all companies. In 1972, the responding companies accounted for 68 percent of total capital expenditures in the United States.

For quarterly data, see current issues of the Survey of Current Business; for discussion of coverage, concepts, and methodology, see the January 1970 issue for actual expenditures and the February 1970 issue for expectations.

Business sales and inventories.—Business sales and inventories as defined by the BEA are the sum of data for manufacturing, merchant wholesalers, and retail trade. Sales are estimated aggregate values and inventories are book values at the end of the period. Sales signifies sales or shipments for retail and wholesale trade and billings or shipments for manufacturing. Trade inventories are valued at cost of merchandise on hand, while manufacturers' inventories are valued at approximate current costs or at book values, as reported by the manufacturer. Inventories data for manufacturing (see tables 932 and 933) are based on data from the Census of Manufactures and the Annual Survey of Manufactures. Data for manufacturing also appear in Manufacturers' Shipments, Inventories, and Orders, published by the Bureau of the Census in its Current Industrial Reports, series M3–1.

Industrial and commercial failures.—These data, published monthly in the Failure Report by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., are available by years since 1857 and by months since 1900. The number of failures includes concerns involved in court proceedings or voluntary actions likely to end in loss to creditors; discontinuances with outside obligations paid in full are not included. Data cover manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, building contractors, and certain types of commercial service, but exclude finance, insurance, and real estate companies; railroads and steamship lines; and amusement enterprises.

Statistical Reliability.—For a discussion of Statistical collection and estimation, sampling procedures and measures of statistical reliability applicable to Census Bureau data, see Appendix III.

[2] See headnote and footnote 1, table 918.

[3] Net profit (or income) is defined differently by legal form of organization, basically as follows: (a) Proprietorships: Total taxable receipts less total deductions, including cost of sales and operations; investment and other income are excluded; (b) Partnerships: Total taxable receipts less total deductions, including cost of sales and operations; investment and other income, except capital gains, are included; (c) Corporations: Total taxable receipts less total deductions, including cost of sales and operations; investment and other income, such as capital gains and income from foreign corporations considered received for tax purposes only, are included; net profit is before income tax. [4] Total receipts rather than business receipts are shown for finance industries.

[5] Includes sanitary services.

No. 928. Gross Investment in the Domestic Economy, by Sector and by Type: 1950 to 1973

[Gross investment is defined to be all current outlays that augment income- and output-producing capacity (capital) for future periods plus outlays to offset capital consumption. For this table, gross investment consists of outlays for tangible durable goods (structures and equipment), and inventory accumulation of all sectors, tangible human investment, and intangible investments designed to enhance the efficiency of the tangible factors. Consult source for information on methodology and sources used to derive these estimates]

No. 933. Nonfarm Business Inventories in Current and Constant Dollars: 1950 to 1977

[In billions of dollars. As of end of year. To ascertain net physical change in nonfarm inventories, book values of beginning and ending inventories of each year are expressed in terms of constant base year prices by means of selected Bureau of Labor Statistics producer (wholesale) price indexes appropriate to each industry. Net increment in deflated book value figures is then converted to a current price basis by index ratios or current prices to base year prices. See text, p. 396, for discussion of Standard Industrial Classification]

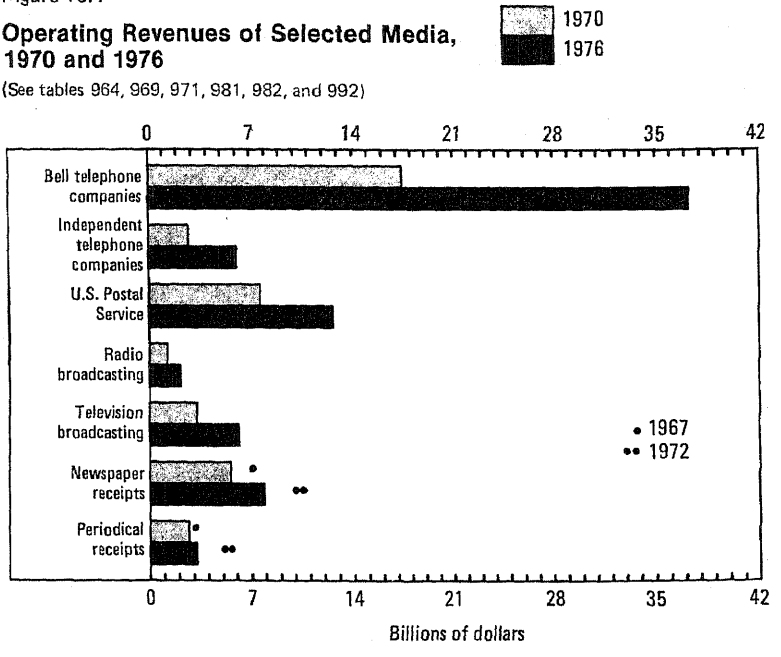
Section 19
Communications

This section presents statistics on usage, finances, and operations of the various communications media: Postal service, telephone, telegraph, radio, television, newspapers and periodicals, and books. Data on the U.S. Postal Service are included in the Annual Report of the Postmaster General. Statistics on revenues, volume of mail, and distribution of expenditures are presented in the U.S. Postal Service's annual report, Revenue and Cost Analysis. Principal sources of wire, radio, and television data are the U.S. Federal Communications Commission's Annual Report, its annual Statistics of Communications Common Carriers, and its annual releases of financial data reported by radio and television stations and networks. Statistics on number and circulation of newspapers and periodicals and on sales of books and pamphlets are issued by the Bureau of the Census in reports of the census of manufactures. Annual data on number and circulation of newspapers appear in International Yearbook, issued by Editor and Publisher Co., Inc., New York. Monthly data on new books and new editions are presented by R. R. Bowker Company, New York, in Publishers Weekly.

Postal Service.—The Postal Service provides mail processing and delivery services within the U.S. The Postal Reorganization Act of 1970 created the Postal Service, effective July 1971, as an independent establishment of the Federal Executive Branch; it also placed restrictions on the private delivery of mail.

"Revenue and cost analysis" is the term used by the Postal Service to describe its system of attributing revenues and costs to classes of mail and service. This system draws primarily upon probability sampling techniques to develop estimates of revenues, volumes, and weights, as well as costs by class of mail and special service. The costs attributed to classes of mail and special services are primarily incremental costs which vary in response to changes in volume; they account for roughly 65 percent of the total costs of the Postal Service. The balance represents "institutional costs" which includes funds for research and development, portions of personnel and of office supplies, etc.



Wire and other communication media.—The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) was established in 1934 to regulate wire and radio communications in the public interest; it also licenses radio and television stations. Only the largest carriers and controlling companies file annual or monthly financial reports. Regulatory jurisdiction of the FCC applies to domestic and overseas telegraph carriers and to the Communications Satellite Corporation, but not to a large number of telephone carriers which are engaged in intrastate or foreign service even if they rent the interstate facilities of another unaffiliated carrier. The gross operating revenues of the telephone carriers reporting annually to the FCC, however, are estimated to cover over 90 percent of the revenues of all U.S. telephone companies. Financial and other reports filed by the broadcasting industry cover substantially all commercial and educational radios and television units operating in the United States and its outlying areas. Total broadcasting revenues are defined as sales of time, talent, programs, and services of all networks and stations less commissions to agencies. Statistics covering the number of operating licenses issued are compiled from FCC records. Those covering the safety and special radio services represent the largest and most diverse group of licensees regulated by the FCC. These services primarily provide two-way radio communication for emergency and business purposes in the aviation, marine, land transportation, and other industries; police, fire, and other public safety programs; and amateur and personal operations.

NA Not available. [1] After allowance for reimbursements, embossed envelope purchases, indemnity claims, and miscellaneous revenue and expenditure offsets. Through 1950, includes some payments and receipts applicable to services in prior years; beginning 1955, expenditures are shown in year in which obligation was incurred, and revenues in year which gave rise to the earnings, whether collected or accrued. In 1954, the Postal Service began receiving reimbursement for penalty and franked mail, and discontinued payment of subsidies to airlines. Revenues for 1960 include $37.4 million reimbursement from the Treasury General Fund for statutory public services. These and other changes affect comparability of figures. See also footnote 5, table 964.

[2] Includes capital expenditures for plant and equipment and cost of materials and supplies, but no provision for depreciation. Also includes costs of certain services rendered to other agencies without reimbursement but excludes costs of certain services rendered to the Postal Service by other agencies. Beginning 1955, represents obligations incurred; beginning 1965, represents accrued expense including depreciation on fixed assets, reimbursable work for others, and expenses paid by certain other agencies without reimbursement by the Postal Service.

[3] Operating revenue only; based on Bureau of the Census estimated total population as of Jan. 1, including Armed Forces abroad. [4] Includes other classes of mail not shown separately; see table 967. [5] For definition, see footnotes 9 and 12, table 965. [6] Service not inaugurated. [7] Includes postal notes issued under act of Congress. [8] Transition quarter, July-Sept. [9] Net income. [10] Year ending Sept. 30.

D Withheld to avoid disclosing figures for individual companies. NA Not available. S Does not meet publication standards. Z Less than $500,000. [1] Includes paid, free bulk, etc. "Issue" defined as the sum of all editions published on a given day. Figures are totals of average circulation per issue. [2] Includes foreign language newspapers. [3] Includes types or amounts not specified by kind. [4] No Sunday editions. [5] Establishments with less than 10 employees were not required to file reports specifying source of receipts. Thus a substantial portion of "Not specified" is included in "Weekly and other." [6] Includes those issued on Sunday only. [7] Not shown because not reported by many small newspapers. [8] Partially estimated.

Energy

This section presents statistics on fuel resources, energy production and consumption, electric energy, hydropower, nuclear power, and the electric and gas utility industries. The principal sources are the U.S. Department of Energy's Energy Information Administration (EIA), the Edison Electric Institute, New York, and the American Gas Association, Arlington, Va. The Department of Energy was created in September 1977 and assumed and centralized the responsibilities of all or part of several agencies including the Federal Power Commission (FPC), the U.S. Bureau of Mines, the Federal Energy Administration, and the U.S. Energy Research and Development Administration.

The EIA, in its Annual Report to Congress, provides statistics and trend data on energy supply, demand, and prices. Information is included on petroleum and natural gas, coal, electricity, nuclear power, and solar and geothermal energy. Among its annual reports (previously issued by the FPC) are Statistics of Privately Owned Electric Utilities in the United States; Statistics of Publicly Owned Electric Utilities in the United States; Steam-Electric Plant Construction Cost and Annual Production Expenses; Hydroelectric Plant Construction Cost and Annual Production Expenses; Statistics for Interstate Natural Gas Pipeline Companies; Sales by Producers of Natural Gas to Natural Gas Pipeline Companies; All-Electric Homes; and Typical Electric Bills. These various publications contain national and State data on production of electricity, capacity of generating plants, fuels used in energy production, energy sales and consumption, hydroelectric power, construction costs and production expenses of power plants, and depreciation practices. The EIA also issues the periodic Energy Data Reports series and the Monthly Energy Review.

In addition to the above, United States Energy Through the Year 2000 and Energy Perspectives 2, prepared by the U.S. Bureau of Mines, present indicators of current and projected energy consumption; the Bureau of Mines' Minerals Yearbook and Mineral Industry Surveys contain data on coal, oil, and natural gas production and utilization; and Energy Facts, prepared for the Subcommittee on Energy of the House Committee on Science and Astronautics by the Library of Congress, has a comprehensive selection of U.S. and foreign energy statistics obtained from primary sources.

The Edison Electric Institute's monthly bulletin and annual Statistical Year Book of the Electric Utility Industry for the Year contain data on the distribution of electric energy by public utilities; information on the electric power supply, expansion of electric generating facilities, and the manufacture of heavy electric power equipment is presented in the annual Year End Summary of the Electric Power Situation in the United States. The American Gas Association, in its monthly and quarterly bulletins and its yearbook, Gas Facts, presents data on gas utilities, including sales, revenues, customers, prices, and other financial and operating statistics.

Other sources include the Rural Electrification Administration's Annual Statistical Report—Rural Electric Borrowers and the National Science Foundation, which publishes data annually on research and development funding in energy.

No. 1000. Total Horsepower of All Prime Movers: 1940 to 1977

[In millions. As of January, except as noted. Prior to 1960, excludes Alaska and Hawaii, except as noted. Prime movers are mechanical engines and turbines, and work animals, which originally convert fuels or force (as wind or falling water) into work and power. Electric motors, which obtain their power from prime movers, are excluded to avoid duplication. See also Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1970, series S 1–14]

[1] Includes hydropower, nuclear power, and geothermal energy, not shown separately. [2] Based on estimated resident population as of July 1. [3] Dry gas only. Marketed production minus shrinkage caused by liquids extraction (34 cubic feet per gallon produced). [4] Includes bituminous coal, lignite, anthracite coal, and net imports of coke. [5] Includes petroleum products and, beginning 1950, natural gas liquids.

Z Less than .5 million. [1] Change from prior year shown; for 1960, change from 1955.
[2] Plants of 100 kilowatts and over, including stationary powerplants of railroads. [3] For public use.
[4] Includes small percentage from wood and waste and geothermal sources.
[5] Each prime mover type in combination plants counted separately.

No. 1029. Gas Utility Industry—Summary: 1950 to 1977

[Excludes Hawaii through 1955 and Alaska through 1960. Covers natural, manufactured, mixed, and liquid petroleum gas. Based on questionnaire mailed to all privately owned gas utilities and municipally owned gas departments in the United States, except those with annual revenues less than $250,000, which, in the aggregate, account for only a negligible portion of the industry. Section 21

Science

This section presents statistics on scientific and technological resources, with emphasis on patterns of research and development funding and on scientific and technical manpower and education. Also included are statistics on space program outlays and accomplishments. Principal sources of these data are the National Science Foundation and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The National Science Foundation (NSF) gathers data chiefly through recurring surveys. Some current NSF publications containing data on funds for research and development and on scientific and engineering personnel include the occasional bulletin series, Reviews of Data on Science Resources and Science Resources Studies Highlights; and annual, biennial, and periodic reports such as Federal Funds for Research, Development, and Other Scientific Activities; Research and Development in Industry; National Patterns of R & D Resources; Manpower Resources for Scientific Activities at Universities and Colleges; Expenditures for Scientific Activities at Universities and Colleges; An Analysis of Federal R & D Funding by Function; Scientists, Engineers, and Physicians From Abroad; Federal Scientific, Technical, and Health Personnel; Graduate Science Education: Student Support and Postdoctorals; Federal Support to Universities, Colleges, and Selected Nonprofit Institutions; Characteristics of Doctoral Scientists and Engineers in the U.S.; Characteristics of Experienced Scientists and Engineers; Scientific and Technical Personnel in Private Industry; and policy reports relating to national allocation of manpower and funds to science and technology. Statistical surveys in these areas pose particularly difficult problems of concept and definition and the data should, therefore, be regarded as broad estimates rather than precise quantitative statements. Detailed discussions of the scope and limitations of the data appear in the source publications.

The Budget of the United States Government, published by the U.S. Office of Management and Budget, contains summary financial data on Federal research and development programs. In addition, Aerospace Facts and Figures, published by Aerospace Industries Association of America, Inc., presents data on sales and orders of space vehicle systems and employment in NASA programs.

Research and development outlays.—The National Science Foundation defines research as a "systematic and intensive study directed toward a fuller knowledge of the subject studied" and development as "the systematic use of scientific knowledge directed toward the production of useful materials, devices, systems, methods, or processes." National data on outlays of funds are composed of four sectors: (1) Government, made up primarily of Federal executive agencies; (2) industry, consisting of manufacturing and nonmanufacturing firms and the federally funded research and development centers they administer; (3) colleges and universities, composed of colleges, universities and their affiliated institutions, agricultural experiment stations and associated schools of agriculture, and federally funded research and development centers administered by educational institutions; and (4) other nonprofit institutions, consisting of such organizations as private philanthropic foundations, nonprofit research institutes, voluntary health agencies, and federally funded research and development centers administered by nonprofit organizations. These centers are exclusively or substantially financed by the Federal government and, in most instances, were originally established to meet a particular research and development need of the Government. They are administered on a contractual basis, by companies, educational institutions, or other nonprofit organizations. The research and development funds reported consist of current operating costs, including those for planning and administration, except as otherwise noted. They exclude funds for routine testing, mapping and surveying, collection of general-purpose data, dissemination of scientific information, and training of scientific manpower.

Scientists, engineers, and technicians.—Scientists and engineers are defined as persons engaged in scientific and engineering work at a level requiring a knowledge of sciences equivalent at least to that acquired through completion of a 4-year college course. They are generally classified according to the fields of their employment rather than the discipline in which they received their major training. Technicians are defined as persons engaged in technical work at a level requiring knowledge acquired through a technical institute, junior college, or other type of training less extensive than 4-year college training. Craftsmen and skilled workers are excluded.

No. 1038. Research and Development—Defense, Space, and Other Outlays: 1955 to 1978

[Includes basic research, applied research, and development. Defense-related outlays comprise all research and development spending by Dept. of Defense including space activities, and a portion of Department of Energy funds. Space related outlays are those of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration; they exclude space activities of other Federal agencies, estimated at less than 5 percent of all space research and development spending. Minus sign (−) denotes decrease]

No. 1051. Unemployment Rates for Scientists and Engineers: 1974 and 1976

[Percent]

FIELD	1974	1976 [1]	FIELD	1974	1976 [1]
Total, all fields	1.7	2.6-3.1	Life scientists	2.0	2.4-3.2

Mathematical scientists	2.0	3.8-4.2	Social scientists	2.3	5.7-6.2

[1] The range of unemployment rates reflects different assumptions about the 1976 level of unemployment for members of the 1976 labor force who were not in the labor force in 1970. The higher unemployment rate for 1976 is consistent with the unemployment rate reported for 1974.

Transportation—Land

This section presents statistics on operating revenues, passenger and freight traffic volume, and employment in various revenue-producing modes of the transportation industry, including commercial motor vehicles, trains, and pipelines. In addition, data are presented on commuting travel; highway mileage, construction, and cost; motor vehicle travel, accidents, sales, and registration; automobile operating costs; and characteristics of railroads.

The principal compiler of data on public roads and on operation of motor vehicles is the U.S. Department of Transportation's (DOT) Federal Highway Administration (FHWA). These data appear in FHWA's annual Highway Statistics. The U.S. National Highway Traffic Safety Administration issues data on traffic accident deaths and death rates in two annual reports: the Fact Book and the Fatal Accident Reporting System Annual Report. DOT's Federal Railroad Administration presents data on accidents involving railroads in its annual Accident Bulletin.

Another major source of data on interstate land transport is the U.S. Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC). Among its publications are the quarterly Transport Economics and the Annual Report, which contain data on domestic transport subject to ICC regulations, and the annual Transport Statistics in the United States volumes.

Various censuses and surveys conducted by the U.S. Bureau of the Census also provide data. Results of the censuses of transportation are presented in Commodity Transportation Survey, National Travel Survey, and Truck Inventory and Use Survey. The Annual Survey of Manufactures and reports of the Census of Manufactures and the Census of Business contain statistics on the motor-vehicle and equipment industry and on retail, wholesale, and services aspects of this industry. Data on persons commuting to work are contained in the 1970 Census of Population subject report, Journey to Work.

Data are also presented in many nongovernment publications. Among them are: The weekly and annual Cars of Revenue Freight Loaded and the annual Yearbook of Railroad Facts, both published by the Association of American Railroads, Washington, D.C.; Bus Facts, issued annually by the American Bus Association, Washington, D.C.; and the Transit Fact Book, containing electric railway and motorbus statistics, published annually by the American Public Transit Association, Washington, D.C. Useful annual handbooks in the field of motor-vehicle transport are Motor Vehicle Facts and Figures, issued by the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association of the United States, Inc., Detroit, Mich.; and Accident Facts, issued by the National Safety Council, Chicago, Ill.

Federal-aid highway systems.—Federal law provides that Federal funds be matched in varying proportions with State funds for the costs of planning, engineering, right-of-way acquisition, and construction of highways. Other costs, such as maintenance and policing, are borne entirely by the States and local agencies.

Effective July 1, 1976, a uniform road classification system was implemented which shortened the mileage of the highway system and redefined the three main systems of Federal-aid routes. The Federal-aid primary system is comprised of a network of main roads important to interstate, statewide, and regional travel. The system consists of main rural roads and their extensions into or through urban areas. The Federal-aid secondary system consists of rural roads of a more local nature, such as those which connect county seats and the larger population centers not served by the primary system.

The Federal-aid urban system is located in urban places of 5,000 or more persons and consists of major urban roads and streets, except those on the primary system.

Regulatory bodies.—The ICC, created by the U.S. Congress to regulate transportation in interstate commerce, has jurisdiction over railroads, trucking companies, bus lines, freight forwarders, water carriers, coal slurry pipelines, transportation brokers, and express agencies. The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission is responsible for setting rates and charges for transportation and sale of natural gas and for establishing rates or charges for transportation of oil by pipelines.

Motor carriers.—For 1960–1973, class I for-hire motor carriers were classified by the ICC as those with $1,000,000 or more of gross annual operating revenue. Beginning 1974, the gross revenue minimum for class I carriers was raised to $3,000,000.

Railroads.—The total railroad mileage of the United States comprises companies reporting to the ICC, grouped as follows: (1) Regular line-haul (intercity) railroads (and their nonoperating subsidiaries); (2) switching and terminal railroads; (3) private railroads prior to 1964 (identified by the Commission as "circular" because they reported on brief circulars); and (4) unofficial railroads, so designated when their reports are received too late for tabulation. For the most part, the last 3 groups are not included in the statistics.

Operating railroads are classified on the basis of operating revenues. Prior to 1956, the classification was: Class I, those having more than $1,000,000 gross annual operating revenue; class II, from $100,000 to $1,000,000; and class III, less than $100,000. From 1956 to 1964, class I railroads were those with $3,000,000 or more; from 1965 to 1975, $5,000,000 or more; beginning 1976, $10,000,000 or more.

Statistical reliability.—For a discussion of statistical collection and estimation, sampling procedures, and measures of statistical reliability applicable to Census Bureau data, see Appendix III.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1970. See Appendix I.

[1] Installed nationwide, starting with 1965 models, to reduce emissions of hydrocarbons.

[2] Exhaust controls introduced nationwide on 1968 models to accelerate the reduction of hydrocarbon emissions and emissions of carbon monoxide.

[3] Begun on 1971 models to eliminate losses from gasoline tanks and carburetors.

[4] Available on some 1971 and 1972 models and all 1973 and later models to lower emissions of oxides of nitrogen.

[5] Catalyst or equivalent control systems introduced on cars in 1975 to meet tougher emission levels for hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide.

Section 23

Transportation—Air and Water

This section presents statistics on civil air transportation, both passenger and cargo, and on water transportation, including inland waterways, oceanborne commerce, the merchant marine, cargo and vessel tonnages, and shipbuilding. The principal sources of these data are the annual FAA Statistical Handbook of Aviation, issued by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) and the annual Waterborne Commerce of the United States issued by the Corps of Engineers of the Department of the Army; the monthly and annual issues of U.S. Waterborne Exports and General Imports, and U.S. Airborne Exports and General Imports, the annual Vessel Entrances and Clearances, and the monthly Highlights of U.S. Export and Import Trade, issued by the Bureau of the Census.

Air transportation data are also presented annually by the Air Transport Association of America, Washington, D.C. in Air Transport Facts and Figures. Additional sources of data on water transportation include A Statistical Analysis of the World's Merchant Fleets, issued periodically by the U.S. Maritime Administration; The Bulletin, issued monthly by the American Bureau of Shipping, New York; and the Annual Summary of Merchant Ships Launched in the World and the Register Book, published by Lloyd's Register of Shipping, London, England.

Civil aviation.—Federal promotion and regulation of civil aviation are carried out by the FAA and the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB). The CAB issues certificates permitting persons to engage in air transportation as a business, fixes air mail rates which they may charge, and may establish either maximum, minimum, or specific rates for transportation of passengers and goods. The responsibility for investigation of aviation accidents resides with the National Transportation Safety Board.

The principal activities of the FAA include: Controlling the use of navigable airspace; prescribing regulations dealing with the competency of airmen, airworthiness of aircraft, and air traffic control; operation of air route traffic control centers, airport traffic control towers, and flight service stations; the design, construction, maintenance, and inspection of navigation, traffic control, and communications equipment for the airways; development of general aviation; and promotion of air safety.

These agencies publish monthly and quarterly financial and traffic statistical data on the use of airway facilities; data related to the location of airmen, aircraft, and airports; the activity volume in the field of non-air carrier (general aviation) flying; and aircraft production and registration.

Air carriers and service.—The term certificated route air carrier refers to air carriers holding certificates of public convenience and necessity, issued by the CAB, authorizing the performance of scheduled service over specified routes and a limited amount of nonscheduled service. This general carrier grouping includes the so-called passenger/cargo carriers and the all-cargo carriers, and comprises all of the airlines certificated by the board, except the supplemental air carriers (see table 1136). Certificated route air carriers are often referred to as "scheduled airlines," although they may also perform nonscheduled service. Nonscheduled service comprises revenue flights that are not operated in regular scheduled service, such as charter flights, and all nonrevenue flights incident to such flights. Scheduled service is transport service operated over an air carrier's certificated routes, based on published flight schedules, including extra sections.

Vessel shipments, entrances, and clearances.—Shipments by dry cargo vessels comprise shipments on all types of watercraft, except tanker vessels; shipments by tanker vessels comprise all types of cargo, liquid and dry, carried by tanker vessels.

A vessel is reported as entered only at the first port which it enters in the United States whether or not cargo is unloaded at that port. A vessel is reported as cleared only at the last port at which clearance is made to a foreign port, whether or not it takes on cargo. Army and Navy vessels entering or clearing without commercial cargo are not included in the figures.

Units of measurement.—Cargo tonnage and shipping weight both represent the gross weight of the cargo including the weight of containers, wrappings, crates, etc. However, shipping weight excludes lift and cargo vans and similar substantial outer containers. Other tonnage figures generally refer to stowing capacity of vessels, 100 cubic feet being called 1 ton. Gross tonnage comprises the space within the frames and the ceiling of the hull, together with those closed-in spaces above deck available for cargo, stores, passengers, or crew, with certain minor exceptions. Net or registered tonnage is the gross tonnage less the spaces occupied by the propelling machinery, fuel, crew quarters, master's cabin, and navigation spaces. Substantially, it represents space available for cargo and passengers. The net tonnage capacity of a ship may bear little relation to weight of cargo. Deadweight tonnage is the weight in long tons required to depress a vessel from light water line (that is, with only the machinery and equipment on board) to load line. It is, therefore, the weight of the cargo, fuel, etc., which a vessel is designed to carry with safety.

[2] For types of personnel, see table 1135. Beginning 1973, two small all-cargo carriers included in domestic rather than international. Therefore, data will not agree with table 1135. [3] Not compiled for Intra-Alaska. Weighted average. Prior to 1970, refers to passenger/cargo carriers only; thereafter, includes all-cargo carriers.
As of Dec. 31, based on fourth quarter.
[5] Represents aircraft of the certificated route air carriers; excludes those used for crew training and general utility purposes, or held for disposal. Beginning 1973, includes aircraft operated by the scheduled all-cargo carriers. Includes helicopters, not shown separately.
[6] Obtained by dividing passenger seat-miles by revenue-miles flown in passenger service.
[7] Includes air cargo. [8] Included in "Jet fuel." [9] Excludes freight flown by certificated all-cargo operators and irregular carriers. [10] Beginning 1960, includes military contract operations. [11] Preliminary.
[12] Includes mid-air collisions nonfatal to air carrier occupants (excluded in computation of fatal accidents).
[13] Includes crew members.
[14] Excludes passenger deaths occurring in dynamite accidents, as follows: Nov. 1, 1955, 39; Jan. 6, 1960, 29.

No. 1142. U. S. Receipts and Payments for International Transportation: 1960 to 1977

[In millions of dollars. Data are international transportation transactions recorded for balance of payment purposes (see table 1497). Receipts include freight on exports carried by U.S.-operated carriers and foreign carrier expenditures in U.S. ports. Payments include freight on imports carried by foreign carriers and U.S. carrier port expenditures abroad. Freight on exports carried by foreign carriers is excluded since such payments are directly or indirectly for foreign account. Similarly, freight on U.S. imports carried by U.S. carriers is a domestic rather than an international transaction. Minus sign (−) denotes excess of payments over receipts. See Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1970, series U 3 and U 10, for totals]

Section 24

Agriculture

This section presents statistics on farms and farm population; land use and conservation; farm income, expenditures, and debt; farmer cooperatives; farm output and marketings; foreign trade in agricultural products; specific crops; and livestock, poultry, and their products.

The principal sources of these data are the reports issued by the U.S. Bureau of the Census and the Economics, Statistics, and Cooperatives Service (ESCS) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The Bureau of the Census has taken a census of agriculture every 10 years from 1840 to 1920, and every 5 years from 1924 to 1974 (for years ending in 4 and 9). The 1974 Census of Agriculture is the most recent census for which reports are presently available; preliminary reports of the 1978 census are scheduled to become available in late 1979. Censuses of irrigation organizations and drainage augment the census of agriculture every 10 years (until 1978, for years ending in 9). The ESCS issues several annual reports including, Agricultural Statistics, Crop Production, Crop Values, Balance Sheet of the Farming Sector, Changes in Farm Production and Efficiency, and Farm Income Statistics. Situation reports issued periodically by the ESCS presents current data on a variety of crops. Sources of current data on agricultural exports and imports include Foreign Agricultural Trade of the United States, published by the ESCS, and the reports of the Bureau of the Census, particularly Report FT 135, U.S. General Imports—Schedule A—Commodity by Country, and Report FT 410, U.S. Exports—Schedule B—Commodity by Country. In addition, the ESCS provides agricultural employment estimates and wage rates in the monthly Farm Labor and the annual The Hired Farm Working Force. Also reported are days employed, earnings from farm and nonfarm work, personal characteristics of hired farm workers, and other pertinent information.

Annual agricultural statistics have been issued by the Department of Agriculture for over 100 years. The 44 field offices of the ESCS collect data on crops, livestock and livestock products, agricultural prices, farm employment, and other related subjects from over 1.1 million voluntary reporters, mostly farmers, who report for their own and nearby farms on some 150 crops and 50 livestock items, and scores of other items pertaining to agricultural production and farm family living. State estimates and other information are sent to the Crop Reporting Board of the ESCS, which issues reports containing State and national data.

Farms and farmland.—Over a period of time, the Bureau of the Census has used varying definitions of a farm. For the 1974 Census of Agriculture, a farm was newly defined to include all land on which agricultural operations were conducted under the day-to-day control of an individual management and from which $1,000 or more of agricultural products were, or potentially could be, sold during the census year. Control may have been exercised through ownership or management, or through a lease, rental, or cropping arrangement. The 1974 volume I census reports provide a more detailed explanation of the revised definition along with measures of the effect of the change in definition for each State and county. The effect of the change in farm definition must be taken into consideration when comparing coverage estimates for all farms in the 1974 census with those in previous censuses since a higher proportion of small farms is missed. In the 1959, 1964, and 1969 censuses, places of less than 10 acres were counted as farms if estimated sales of agricultural products for the year amounted to at least $250, and places of 10 or more acres if such sales amounted to at least $50. In the 1950 and 1954 censuses, places of 3 or more acres were counted as farms if the annual value of agricultural products, exclusive of home-garden products, amounted to $150 or more; places of less than 3 acres were counted as farms only if the annual sales amounted to $150 or more. For definitions used in earlier censuses, see U.S. Census of Agriculture: 1964, vol. II, Introduction.

In general, data for 1974 and earlier censuses are comparable only for farms with total value of sales of $2,500 or more. However, even for those farms, the difference in the timing of the censuses and a change in data collection procedures from personal interview to mail enumeration, beginning with the 1969 census, affect comparability.

Currently included as farms are such diverse agricultural enterprises as nurseries, greenhouses, sod farms, mushroom operations, cranberry bogs, feedlots, fish farms, and hatcheries; excluded are business enterprises exclusively engaged in forest production and in production of fish, oysters, fowl, etc. from the ocean, game preserves, parks, and the like, when not grown in captivity. In the case of landowners who had one or more tenants or renters, the land operated by each was counted as a separate farm.

Farmland refers to all land under the control of a farm operator and considered as part of his farm, including land not actually under cultivation or not used for pasture or grazing. Rent-free land was included as part of the farm only if the operator had sole use of it. Land used for pasture or grazing on a per head basis that was neither owned nor leased by the farm operator is not included except for grazing lands controlled by grazing associations leased on a per acre basis.

Preliminary estimates based on the coverage evaluation survey for the 1974 census indicate about 96 percent of the farms with a value of products sold of $2,500 or more were included in the census. Approximately 74 percent of the farms with value of sales less than $2,500 were included. The preliminary estimates for total farms indicate about 90 percent of all farms and 97 percent of the value of farm products sold were included in the census. The 1969 census was estimated to have included 97 percent of the farms with a value of products sold of $2,500 or more and 97 percent of the value of products sold from this group of farms.

Farm population.—Farm population consists of all persons living on farms in rural areas. Farm population data shown in this section, however, are based on the definition of a farm used for the 1969 Census of Agriculture (see p. 683).

Irrigation.—Irrigated land is defined by the Bureau of the Census as the acreage in farms to which water is artificially applied during the census year. Beginning with 1920, irrigated land has included cropland, pasture, and any other farm land irrigated. In addition to collecting information on irrigation from individual farms in the census of agriculture, the Bureau of the Census collects data on the operation of irrigation water supply organizations at 10-year intervals. In 1974, irrigation information was collected from farms.

Farm income.—Cash income comprises cash receipts from farm marketings and Federal payments made directly to farmers for farm related activities. Farm marketings represent agricultural products sold by farmers multiplied by prices received per unit of production at the local market. Gross farm income includes cash income, value of farm products consumed in farm homes, rental value of farm homes, and other farm related income.

Information on prices received for farm products is obtained by the Economics, Statistics, and Cooperatives Crop Reporting Board from over 4,200 voluntary reporters, including farmers, local merchants, and handlers of agricultural products. Season average prices received by farmers are calculated by weighting midmonth prices by monthly sales during the crop marketing season, beginning with the first month in which a particular crop harvest begins.

Crops.—Estimates of crop acreage and production by the ESCS are based on current sample survey data obtained from individual reporters and objective yield counts which are supplemented by State assessors' enumerations of agricultural information, reports of carlot shipments, warehouse receipts, personal field observations by field statisticians, and reports from other sources. Cotton acreage and production are based on sample survey data and on ginning information gathered by the Bureau of the Census. Following receipt of the U.S. census of agriculture information, the estimates made since the previous census are reviewed on the basis of historical and current data available from governmental or commercial sources. If necessary, revisions are made in the estimates based on this review.

Livestock.—Each census of agriculture from 1840 through 1900 was taken as of June 1. The various censuses since then have been taken as of January, April, or the fall, as specified in the published results. For the 1969 and 1974 censuses, inventories were as of December 31 and purchases, production, and sales data were for the calendar year. Comparison of livestock inventories from census to census is seriously affected by changes in date of enumeration. Volume II of U.S. Census of Agriculture: 1964 gives a complete history of the enumeration of livestock and analyzes comparability from census to census.

Annual inventory numbers of livestock and estimates of livestock, dairy, and poultry production prepared by the Department of Agriculture are based on information from farmers and ranchers obtained by probability survey sampling methods.

Statistical Reliability.—For a discussion of statistical collection and estimation, sampling procedures, and measures of statistical reliability pertaining to Census Bureau and Department of Agriculture data, see Appendix III.

No. 1166. Farms—Number and Acreage: 1930 to 1978

[Estimated. Prior to 1959, excludes Alaska and Hawaii. For definition of farms and farmland, see text, pp. 683 and 684. Data for census years (indicated by italics) have been adjusted for underenumeration and for changes in definition of a farm; data for other years are based on trend and on indications of change in acreage and livestock surveys. Minus sign (–) denotes decrease. See also Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1970, series K 4–7]

No. 1173. Farmer Cooperatives—Summary: 1950 to 1976

[For years ending June 30, with limited exceptions. 1950 excludes Alaska and Hawaii. Memberships and businesses are estimated. Comprises independent local associations, federations, large-scale centralized associations, and sales agencies. Data are for marketing season during which farm products are moved into channels of trade. Marketing seasons overlap. See also Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1970, series K 195-203]

No. 1182. Farms—Number, by Type, by States: 1974

[Covers farms with sales of $2,500 or more. A farm was coded in a particular group if its sales for that product group amounted to 50 percent or more of the total value of farm products sold. The Standard Industrial Classication (SIC) for each product group is shown in parentheses. For composition of regions, see fig. 1, inside front cover]

– Represents zero. [1] Sources of values for Government-financed programs are different from those for total exports; therefore, not fully comparable in regard to valuation, shipping period, etc. Entries for "Outside Government programs" are the residuals of the other two series. [2] Exports outside specified Government-financed programs include, in addition to unassisted commercial transactions, shipments of some commodities with governmental assistance in the form of (a) barter for overseas procurement for other U.S. agencies, (b) short-term credits extended by the Commodity Credit Corporation and the Export-Import Bank, (c) sales of Government-owned commodities below domestic market prices, and (d) export payments in cash or in kind through 1974.

[1] Values are based on season average prices; see footnote 2.
[2] Season average price received by farmers. State prices weighted by sales to obtain U.S. price. For certain years, prices for wheat, rice, corn for grain, grain sorghums, oats, soybeans, and cotton include an allowance for unredeemed loans and purchase agreement deliveries.
[3] Based on reported price of grain sorghums.
[4] State production figures, which conform with U.S. Bureau of the Census annual ginning enumeration with allowance for cross-State ginnings, rounded to thousands and added for U.S. totals.
[5] Bales of 500 pounds, gross weight. Beginning 1970, bales of 480 lb., net weight.
[6] Average price to April 1, 1978. [7] Prices are for hay sold baled.

[1] Sugar quotas governed through 1974 the supply of sugar from all sources, foreign and domestic, available to the conterminous United States. The formulas for allocating the quotas among the supplying areas were established by Congress through 1974; the size of the quotas is determined by the Secretary of Agriculture. For 1975-1977, a nonrestrictive quota of 7 million tons raw value was established by Presidential Proclamation 4334.
[2] Beginning 1973, includes Texas.
[3] Through 1965, includes Virgin Islands. Beginning 1970, Puerto Rico included in U.S. total.

Section 25

Forests and Forest Products

This section presents basic statistics on the area and ownership of commercial forest land, and on the growing stock and volume of timber on it; forestry statistics covering the National Forests and Forest Service cooperative programs; product statistics for lumber, pulpwood, woodpulp, paper and paperboard, turpentine, rosin, and veneer logs; and similar data.

The principal sources of these data are The Outlook for Timber in the United States, issued in 1973 by the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture, and The Demand and Price Situation for Forest Products, National Forest System, and Wildfire Statistics, issued annually by the Forest Service; and reports of the census of manufactures (taken every five years) and the monthly and annual Current Industrial Reports, issued by the Bureau of the Census. Additional information is published in the Annual Report of the National Forest Reservation Commission; the monthly and annual Naval Stores of the Department of Agriculture's Economics, Statistics, and Cooperatives Service; the monthly Survey of Current Business of the Bureau of Economic Analysis; the monthly Fingertip Facts and Figures of the National Forest Products Association, Washington, D.C.; and the annual Wood Pulp Statistics and The Statistics of Paper and Paperboard of the American Paper Institute, New York, N.Y.

The Bureau of the Census also collects statistics on foreign trade of forest products. The Bureau of Labor Statistics publishes monthly and annual statistics of wholesale lumber prices. Information on the domestic movement of forest products is collected by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Association of American Railroads, Washington, D.C.

The completeness and reliability of statistics on forests and forest products vary considerably. The data for forest land area and stand volumes are much more reliable for areas which have been recently surveyed than for those for which only estimates are available. Estimates of fire damage or causes of fires for Federal lands are considered much better than those for private lands. In general, much more data are available for lumber and other manufactured products such as veneer and plywood, pulp and paper, naval stores, etc., than for the primary forest products such as poles and piling, fuelwood, and fence posts.

Fisheries

This section presents statistics relating to commercial fishing and the fish processing industry. The principal sources of these data are Fishery Statistics of the United States and Fisheries of the United States, both issued annually by the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS), National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA).

The NMFS publishes monthly data on commercial landings of fish and shellfish, freezings, and holdings of fishery products, fish meal and oil production, and foreign trade in fishery products. Quarterly data are published on U.S. output of fish sticks, fish portions, and breaded shrimp. Annual reports for fisheries include data on quantity and value of commercial landings, of fish and shellfish (by species, region, State, and type of fishing gear), disposition of landings, number of fishermen, and number and kinds of fishing vessels and fishing gear. Reports for the fish-processing industry include annual data on output of canned, packaged, and industrial products and, for wholesaling and fish processing establishments, annual and seasonal employment, and number of firms, by product and State. Annual data are published on foreign trade in fishery products and per capita consumption of edible fishery products.

The first comprehensive survey of U.S. fisheries and fishery industries, made for the year 1880, did not include the Mississippi River and its tributaries. A complete survey was conducted in 1908 by the Bureau of the Census and in 1931 by the Bureau of Fisheries. A complete survey including manufacturing and wholesaling operations was made for 1950. Beginning in 1954, complete data have been collected annually. For 1963 and 1967, the Bureau of the Census, in cooperation with the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, conducted a Census of Commercial Fisheries.

The Fishery Conservation and Management Act of 1976 established a Fisheries Conservation Zone (FCZ) which gave the Federal Government exclusive authority over domestic and foreign fisheries within 200 nautical miles of U.S. shores and over certain living marine resources beyond the FCZ. Within the FCZ, the total allowable level of foreign fishing, if any, is that portion of the "optimum yield" not harvested by U.S. vessels. Adjustments in the "optimum yield" level may occur periodically. For details, see Fisheries of the United States, 1977, cited above.

The value of catch as presented in various tables is in "ex-vessel" terms. It represents the price received by fishermen for fish, shellfish, etc. landed at the dock.

Section 27

Mining and Mineral Products

This section presents data relating to mineral industries and their products, general summary measures of production and employment, and more detailed data on production, prices, imports and exports, consumption, and distribution for specific industries and products. Data on mining and mineral products may also be found in sections 29 and 33 of this Abstract.

"Mining" comprises the extraction of minerals occurring naturally (coal, ores, crude petroleum, natural gas) and quarrying, well operation, milling, and other preparation customarily done at the mine site or as a part of mining activity. (Mineral preparation plants are usually operated together with mines or quarries.) Exploration for minerals is included as is the development of mineral properties.

The principal governmental sources of these data are the three-volume Minerals Yearbook, published by the Bureau of Mines, Department of the Interior, and various monthly and annual publications of the Energy Information Administration, Department of Energy. In addition, the Bureau of the Census conducts a census of mineral industries every 5 years. Non-government sources include the Annual Statistical Report of the American Iron and Steel Institute, Washington, D.C.; Metals Week and the monthly Engineering and Mining Journal, issued by the McGraw-Hill Publishing Co., New York; The Iron Age, issued weekly by the Chilton Co., Philadelphia; and the Joint Association Survey of the U.S. Oil and Gas Industry, conducted by the American Petroleum Institute, Independent Petroleum Association of America, and Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

Mineral statistics, with principal emphasis on commodity detail, have been collected by the Geological Survey or by the Bureau of Mines since 1880. Current data in Bureau of Mines publications include quantity and value of nonfuel minerals produced, sold or used by producers, or shipped; quantity of minerals stocked; crude materials treated and prepared minerals recovered; and consumption of mineral raw materials. The U.S. Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration also collects and publishes data on man-hours, employment, and accidents and injuries in the mineral industries. In October 1977, fuel data collection activities of the Bureau of Mines were transferred to the Energy Information Administration.

Censuses of mineral industries have been conducted by the Bureau of the Census at various intervals since 1840. Beginning with the 1967 census, legislation provides for a census to be conducted every fifth year for years ending in "2" and "7." The censuses provide, for the various types of mineral establishments, information on operating costs, capital expenditures, labor, equipment, and energy requirements in relation to their value of shipments and other receipts. Commodity statistics on many manufactured mineral products are also collected by the Bureau at monthly, quarterly, or annual intervals and issued in its Current Industrial Reports series. Included in this series, beginning in 1973, is the Annual Survey of Oil and Gas.

In general, figures shown in the individual commodity tables include data for outlying areas, and may therefore not agree with summary table 1308. Except for crude petroleum, the export and import figures include foreign trade passing through the customs districts of Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico, but exclude shipments between conterminous United States and outlying areas.

[1] Includes single-unit establishments without paid employees.

[2] Gross earnings paid to all employees on payroll.

[3] Computed by subtracting cost of supplies, minerals received for preparation, purchased fuel and electric energy, contract work, and purchased machinery from the value of shipments and capital expenditures.

[4] Excludes proprietors and firm members of unincorporated concerns.

[5] Represents employees up through the working foreman level engaged in manual work. Includes development and exploration workers.

No. 1326. Crude Petroleum and Natural Gas—Sales Volume and Lease Revenues, 1967 to 1976, and Drilling Expenditures and Employment, 1973 to 1976

[Figures on a gross operator basis, under which individual companies responsible for management and operation of oil and gas field leases reported on all properties operated for their own account and account of others. Lease revenues represent revenues generated from sales of either crude petroleum or natural gas, comparable to sales volume reported and including production payment, royalty, and nonoperating working interest shares]

[1] Comprises gas sold or consumed by producers, including loss due to natural gas liquids recovery, losses in transmission, amounts added to storage, and increases in gas in pipelines. Beginning 1965, data on pressure base of 14.73 pounds per square inch absolute; prior years, 14.65. [2] Estimated, end of year. Source: American Gas Association, Arlington, Va. (Copyright.) [3] Beginning 1970, includes imports of liquefied natural gas.

[4] Includes other use, not shown separately.

Section 28

Construction and Housing

This section presents data on the construction industry and on various indicators of its activity and costs; on housing units and their characteristics, occupants, and financing; and on low-rent public housing.

The principal source of these data is the U.S. Bureau of the Census, which issues a variety of publications. Current construction statistics compiled by the Bureau appear in its monthly Construction Reports series with various quarterly or annual supplements; Housing Starts and Housing Completions present data by type of unit and by 4 major census regions; New One-Family Homes Sold and For Sale provides statistics annually on physical and financial characteristics for all new one-family homes by the 4 major census regions; Value of New Construction Put in Place includes monthly composite construction cost indexes, and a special supplement which contains historical data, 1947 to 1974, as well as several tables showing data for 1915–1946; Price Index of New One-Family Houses Sold presents quarterly figures and annual regional data; and Housing Authorized by Building Permits and Public Contracts covers approximately 14,000 permit-issuing jurisdictions in the United States. Statistics on expenditures by owners of residential properties are issued quarterly and annually in Residential Alterations and Repairs.

Other Census Bureau publications include the Current Housing Reports series, which comprises the quarterly Housing Vacancies, the quarterly Market Absorption of Apartments, the Annual Housing Survey, and various reports of the censuses of housing and of construction industries. Construction Review, published monthly by the Bureau of Domestic Business Development, U.S. Department of Commerce, contains many of the census series and other construction statistics series from the Federal Government and private agencies.

Other sources include the monthly Dodge Construction Potentials of F. W. Dodge Division, McGraw-Hill Information Systems Company, New York, N.Y., which presents State data on construction contracts; the Bureau of Economic Analysis, which presents data on residential capital; and the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), and the Veterans Administration, which publish financial data. Data on home mortgages are provided by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. The Department of Housing and Urban Development provides data on the gross flow of long-term mortgage loans in its study, The Supply of Mortgage Credit, 1970–1974. Data on mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) and on VA-guaranteed loans are also presented in this section. In addition, the Statistical Yearbook, published by HUD, also contains housing data.

Data bases.—Censuses of the construction industry were first conducted by the Bureau of the Census for 1929, 1935, and 1939; beginning in 1967, a census has been taken every five years (for years ending in "2" and "7"). The latest reports are for 1972.

The 1972 Census of Construction Industries, in accordance with the 1972 Standard Industrial Classification Manual (see text, page 396), defines a construction establishment as a relatively permanent place of business where the usual business activities related to construction are conducted.

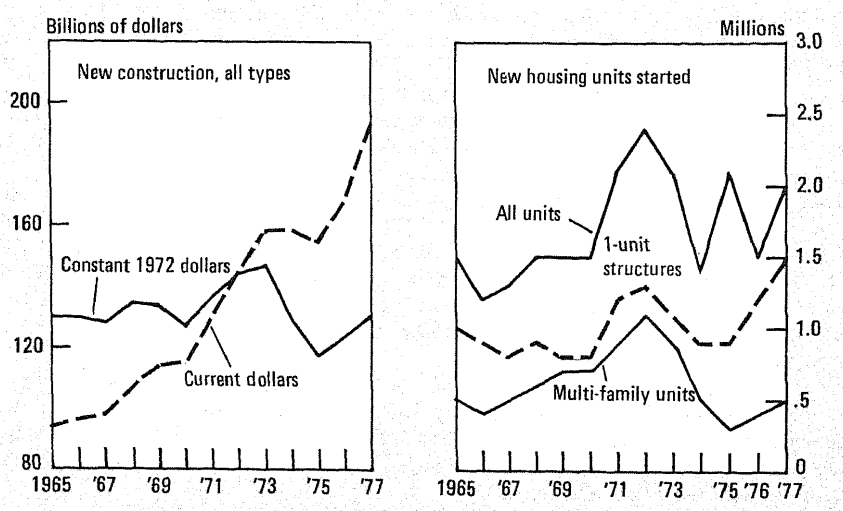
From 1850 through 1930, the Bureau of the Census collected some housing data as part of its censuses of population and agriculture. Beginning in 1940, separate censuses of housing have been taken at 10-year intervals. For the 1970 census, data on year-round housing units were collected and issued on occupancy and structural characteristics, plumbing facilities, value, and rent.

Evaluation studies of the 1950, 1960, and 1970 censuses estimated the underenumeration of occupied housing units at 2.9 percent, 2.4 percent, and 1.7 percent, respectively. The net undercount in the 1970 census is estimated at approximately 1.5 million housing units. The estimates for the various censuses are not strictly comparable due to differences in timing, procedures, and other factors. The census figures have not been adjusted to reflect the estimated undercounts.

The Annual Housing Survey (Current Housing Reports, Series H-150 and H-170), which began in 1973, provides a current and ongoing series of data on selected housing and demographic characteristics. It is based on a national sample and on separate samples for 60 SMSA's selected to represent a cross section of the housing stock in these areas. Annual Housing Survey estimates are subject to both sampling and nonsampling errors; caution should, therefore, be used in making comparisons with 1970 census data.

Data on residential mortgages were collected continuously from 1890 to 1970, except 1930, as part of the decennial census by the Bureau of the Census. Since 1973, mortgage status data, which are limited to single family homes on less than ten acres with no business on the property, have been presented in the Annual Housing Survey.

Housing units.—In general, a housing unit is a group of rooms or a single room occupied or intended for occupancy as separate living quarters, that is, the occupants do not live and eat with any other persons in the structure, and there is either (1) direct access from the outside or through a common hall, or (2) complete kitchen facilities for the exclusive use of the occupants. Transient accommodations, barracks for workers, and institutional-type quarters are not counted as housing units.



Statistical Reliability.—For a discussion of statistical collection and estimation, sampling procedures, and measures of statistical reliability applicable to Census Bureau data, see Appendix III.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1970. See Appendix I.

[4] Based on average contract unit bid prices for composite mile (involving specific average amounts of excavation, paving, reinforcing steel, structural steel, and structural concrete). [5] Average for 30 cities of 4 types of buildings: Wood-frame, brick-wood frame, brick-steel frame, and reinforced concrete. Covers materials and labor costs in structural portion of buildings but excludes those for plumbing, heating, lighting, sprinklers, and elevators. Reflects employee-benefit costs, and allows for contractors' overhead and profit. [6] Average of 20 cities for types shown. Weights based on surveys of building costs. Wage rates used for both common and skilled labor. Reflects payment of sales taxes and social security payroll taxes. [7] Building construction index computed on basis of hypothetical unit of construction requiring 6 bbl. of portland cement, 1,088 M bd. ft. of 2" x 4" lumber, 2,500 lb. of structural steel, and 68.38 hours of skilled labor. General construction index based on same materials components combined with 200 hours of common labor.

[8] Eastern cities. Based on firm's cost experience with respect to labor rates, materials prices, competitive conditions, efficiency of plant and management, and productivity. Reflects payment of sales taxes and employee-benefit costs. [9] Based on data covering public utility construction costs for 95 items in 6 geographic regions. Covers skilled and common labor; does not reflect tax payments nor employee-benefit costs. [10] As derived by U.S. Bureau of the Census. Covers steam production plants only; excludes hydraulic plants.

[1] Statistics on the number of occupied units are essentially comparable although identified by various terms—the term "family" applies to figures for 1910 and 1930; "occupied dwelling unit," 1940 and 1950; and "occupied housing unit," 1960, 1970, 1975, and 1976. For 1920, includes the small number of quasi-families; for 1930, represents private families only.

[2] For 1920, change from 1910. [3] Total resident population; see tables 1 and 27.

[4] From 1950 to 1970, population in occupied housing units was determined by dividing population in housing units by number of occupied housing units. Population data exclude persons in institutions and other group quarters (see table 72).

[5] Not comparable with data for earlier censuses because of a basic change in definition of farm residence. For definitions used in 1960 and 1970, see text, p. 684.

[6] Includes a small proportion of urban-farm families in addition to rural-farm.

Section 29

Manufactures

This section presents summary data for manufacturing as a whole and more detailed information for major industry groups and selected specific products. The types of measures shown at the different levels include data for establishments; employment and wages; raw materials, fuels, and electricity consumed; plant and equipment expenditures; value and quantity of production and shipments; value added by manufacture; inventories; and various indicators of financial status.

The principal sources of these data are Bureau of the Census reports of the census of manufactures conducted every five years; the Annual Survey of Manufactures; and the Current Industrial Reports series, which presents monthly, quarterly, or annual data on production, shipments, and stocks for particular commodities. Indexes of industrial production are presented monthly in the Federal Reserve Board's Federal Reserve Bulletin. Reports on current activities of industries, or current movements of individual commodities, are also compiled by such government agencies as the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the Economics, Statistics, and Cooperatives Service of the Department of Agriculture, and the Bureau of Domestic Business Development; and by private research or trade associations such as The Conference Board, Inc., New York; and the American Iron and Steel Institute and the National Canners Association, both in Washington, D.C.

Data on financial aspects of manufacturing industries are collected from time to time by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), the Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA), and the Federal Trade Commission (FTC). Industry aggregates in the form of balance sheets, profit and loss statements, analyses of sales and expenses, lists of subsidiaries, and types and amounts of security issues are published for leading manufacturing corporations registered with the SEC. The BEA issues data on capital in manufacturing industries and capacity utilization rates in manufacturing. The FTC has made several comprehensive studies of individual industries.

Censuses and annual surveys.—The first census of manufactures covered the year 1809. Between 1809 and 1963, a census was conducted at periodic intervals. Since 1967 it has been taken every 5 years (for years ending in "2" and "7"). Census data, either direct reports or estimates from administrative records, are obtained for every manufacturing plant with one employee or more.

The Annual Survey of Manufactures, conducted for the first time in 1949, collects data for the years between censuses for the more general measures of manufacturing activity covered in detail by the censuses. The annual survey data are estimates derived from a scientifically selected sample of companies. The most recent annual survey is based on a sample of about 70,000 of an approximate total of 312,000 establishments. It comprises all large plants, which account for approximately two-thirds of total U.S. manufacturing employment, and a representative selection of the more numerous small plants. Government-owned and -operated establishments are excluded.

The basic statistical measures of manufacturing activity, such as employment, payrolls, value added, etc., are defined in essentially the same way for both the annual surveys and the census of manufactures. However, the bases for computing average employment vary for different years. For example, beginning with 1949, average employment was calculated from the figures reported for the pay periods ending nearest the fifteenth of March, May, August, and November, whereas for 1947 such averages were based on 12 monthly employment figures. In 1967 and 1972, the average employment calculation was revised to the pay periods which include the 12th of March, May, August, and November to provide data more comparable with other statistical series.

Establishments and classification.—The censuses of manufactures for 1947 through 1972 covered operating manufacturing establishments as defined in the Standard Industrial Classification Manual, issued by the U.S. Office of Management and Budget (see text, page 396). The comparability of manufactures data over time is affected by changes in the official definitions of industries as presented in the Manual. It is important to note therefore that the 1972 edition of the Manual was used for the 1972 census while the 1967 Manual was used for the 1967 census. For the censuses from 1947 to 1963, reports were required from all establishments employing one or more persons at any time during the census year. For the 1967 and 1972 censuses, reports were required only from establishments with 10 or more employees and establishments operated by multi-establishment companies. Data for single unit companies with less than 10 employees were estimated on the basis of Government administrative records and industry averages. Each of the establishments tabulated was classified in one of the more than 450 manufacturing industries as defined by the Standard Industrial Classification system in 1972, as compared to 400 industries in the 1967 census. This system defines an industry as a number of establishments producing a single product or a closely related group of products. In the main, an establishment is classified in a particular industry if its production of this product or product group exceeds in value its production of any other product group. While some establishments produce only the products of the industry in which they are classified, few within an industry specialize to that extent. The statistics on employment, payrolls, value added, inventories, and expenditures, therefore, reflect both the primary and secondary activities of the establishments in that industry. For this reason care should be exercised in relating such statistics to the total shipments figures of products primary to the industry.

The censuses for 1947 through 1972 were conducted on an establishment basis. The term "establishment" signifies a single physical plant site or factory. It is not necessarily identical with the business unit or company, which may consist of one or more establishments. A company operating establishments at more than one location is required to submit a separate report for each location. An establishment engaged in distinctly different lines of activity and maintaining separate payroll and inventory records is also required to submit separate reports.

Statistical reliability.—For a discussion of statistical collection and estimation, sampling procedures and measures of statistical reliability applicable to Census Bureau data, see Appendix III.

[3] Excludes administrative offices and auxiliary units.
[4] Includes data for employees of manufacturing establishments engaged in distribution and construction work.
[5] Data for most industries in 1954 and for all industries since 1954 are based on pay periods ending nearest 15th of March, May, August, and November. For 1947, and industries of a seasonal type in 1954, data represent average of 12 monthly figures.
[6] Unadjusted for 1947; thereafter, adjusted. Unadjusted value added is obtained by subtracting cost of materials, supplies, containers, fuel, purchased electric energy, and contract work from value of shipments for products manufactured plus receipts for services rendered. Adjusted value added also takes into account (a) value added by merchandising operations (that is, difference between the sales value and cost of merchandise sold without further manufacture, processing, or assembly), plus (b) net change in finished goods and work-in-process inventories between beginning and end of year. [7] Includes extensive and unmeasurable duplication from shipments between establishments in the same industry classification.
[8] Beginning 1954, includes plants under construction and not yet in operation.

No. 1411. Capital in Manufacturing Establishments: 1950 to 1977

[In billions of dollars. Minus sign (−) denotes loss. 1950 excludes Alaska and Hawaii. Data refer to privately owned manufacturing establishments and are based on the capital expenditures data from the census of manufactures, the Annual Survey of Manufactures, and the inventory investment component of GNP. For details, see source. See Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1970, series P 107–122, for single-year figures prior to minor revisions issued in 1976:

No. 1415. U.S. Share of World Exports of Manufactures: 1960 to 1977

[World exports=exports from 15 major trading countries: U.S., Austria, Belgium-Luxembourg, Canada, Denmark, France, Fed. Rep. of Germany, Italy, Japan, Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland, and U.K. Percents are calculated from the values of exports of the six commodity groups from each of the 15 countries. Incorporated in the calculations are the changing relationships between each supplier's currency and the currencies of its trading partners. For this purpose, export-weighted exchange rate indices are calculated for each supplier, using official rates of exchange in 67 principal markets]

[1] Includes central administrative offices and auxiliary units.
[2] Includes employment and payroll at administrative offices and auxiliary units.
[3] "Production workers" represents the average of the employment for the payroll periods ended nearest the 12th of March, May, August, and November. "All employees" represents the average of "production workers" plus all other employees for the payroll period ended nearest the 12th of March.

[1] Standard Industrial Classification code; see text, p. 804.

[2] "All employees" represents the average of "production workers" plus all other employees for the payroll period ended nearest the 15th of March. [3] See footnote 6, table 1401.

[4] Includes expenditures for plants in operation and plants under construction but not yet in operation.

[5] Includes extensive duplication arising from shipments between establishments in the same industry classification. Comprises for all manufacturing establishments classified in an industry value of (a) products primary to the industry, (b) secondary products which are primary to other industries, (c) miscellaneous receipts such as those for contract and commission work on materials owned by others, scrap, salable refuse, repair, etc., and (d) resales, i.e., products resold in the same condition as bought.

[6] Includes industries not shown separately.

[7] Value of production. The formula for computing value added by manufacture was modified to exclude any change in finished products inventories between beginning and end of year.

[8] Due to changes in industry classification, 1967 data not comparable with later data.

[9] For 1967, includes ordnance from privately owned and/or operated establishments classified in "Ordnance and accessories." Excludes government-owned and-operated equipment.

[10] Manufacturing concerns often reported separately for central offices or auxiliaries which serve the manufacturing establishments of a company, rather than the general public. Separate reports were obtained from such units if at a different location or if they serviced more than one establishment.

No. 1424. Percent of Shipments Accounted for by Large Manufacturing Companies, Selected Industries: 1963 to 1972

[Prior to 1967, excludes Alaska and Hawaii. First 32 industries (excluding those classified as "Miscellaneous" or "Not elsewhere classified") as determined by value added by manufacture in 1972 of $2 billion or more. Industry codes and descriptions are based on the 1972 Standard Industrial Classification Manual (SIC), see text, p. 804. Determination of company affiliation of establishment is based on census reports and publicly available records. "Largest" companies are determined by each company's value added by manufacture in the specified industry. Industries in the "not elsewhere classified" category are omitted, regardless of their value added]

[3] Excludes alcohol produced for industrial use. [4] A tax gallon for spirits of 100 proof or over is equivalent to the proof gallon; for spirits of less than 100 proof to the wine gallon. (See footnotes 5 and 7). [5] A proof gallon is the alcoholic equivalent of a U.S. gallon at 60° F, containing 50 percent of ethyl alcohol by volume. [6] Includes ethyl alcohol.
[7] A wine gallon is the U.S. gallon equivalent to the volume of 231 cubic inches.
[8] Production represents total amount removed from fermenters, including distilling material, and, beginning 1970, includes increase after fermentation (by amelioration, sweetening, and addition of wine spirits). In 1972, 407 million gallons of distilling materials were produced; 1973, 258 million gal.; 1974, 389 million gal.; 1975, 359 mil. gal; 1976, 343 million gal. and 1977, 347 million gal. [9] Includes special natural wines. [10] Excludes distilling materials. [11] Includes champagne, other effervescent wines, and artificially carbonated wines.

Section 30

Domestic Trade and Services

This section presents statistics relating to retail and wholesale trades and selected service industries. Data shown for the trades, classified by kind of business, and for the various categories of services (e.g. personal, business, repair, hotel) cover sales or receipts, establishments, employees, payrolls, and other items. Also included are data for franchised businesses, public warehousing facilities, and advertising expenditures.

The principal sources of these data are census reports and annual and monthly survey reports of the Bureau of the Census. Data on national income originating in trade and services appear in the monthly Survey of Current Business, issued by the Bureau of Economic Analysis. Financial data for firms engaged in retail, wholesale, or service activities appear in the annual Statistics of Income, published by the Internal Revenue Service.

Censuses and current surveys.—Censuses of business have been taken at various intervals since 1929. Beginning with the 1967 census, legislation provides for a census to be conducted every 5 years (for years ending in "2" and "7").

Current sample surveys conducted by the Bureau of the Census cover various aspects of the retail and wholesale trades and selected service industries. National estimates of weekly sales in retail stores are shown, by kind of business, in the Bureau's Weekly Retail Sales Report. Its Monthly Retail Trade Report contains monthly estimates of sales and end-of-month accounts-receivable balances of all retail stores, and of retail organizations operating 11 or more stores, for the United States, by kind of business. In addition, monthly retail sales data for census regions and divisions, 19 large States, and 28 large standard metropolitan statistical areas are included, as well as data on the number of department stores and the monthly sales of these stores in 243 selected areas; these data are subsequently republished in Monthly Department Store Sales in Selected Areas. Annual figures on sales, sales-stock ratios, merchandise purchases, and year-end inventories and accounts-receivable balances, by kind of business, appear in the Annual Retail Trade Report.

Statistics from the Bureau's monthly wholesale trade survey include national estimates of merchant wholesalers' sales, inventories, and stock-sales ratios by kind of business, as well as sales and inventory trends by kind of business and by geographic divisions. Monthly sales estimates are also shown by geographic divisions for the summary groups—durable and nondurable goods wholesalers and all wholesalers combined. These data, based on reports submitted by a sample of firms, appear in the Monthly Wholesale Trade Report. The monthly Selected Services Receipts Report provides monthly estimates of receipts for six major kind-of-business groups and seven kind-of-business categories for the United States as a whole; these estimates appear also in the Survey of Current Business, cited above.

Estimates obtained from annual and monthly surveys are based on sample data and are not expected to agree exactly with results that would be obtained from a complete census of all establishments. Data include estimates for establishments not reporting.

Establishments and coverage.—The establishments covered in the censuses of business are classified into 3 groups as defined in the Standard Industrial Classification Manual (see text, page 396). Retail trade refers to places of business primarily engaged in selling merchandise for personal or household consumption; Wholesale trade, to establishments primarily engaged in selling goods to dealers and distributors for resale or to purchasers who buy for business and farm uses; and Selected services, to establishments engaged primarily in the sale of services as contrasted with the sale of merchandise. Figures for establishments refer to those in business at the end of the year.

The censuses exclude the activities of doctors, dentists, and others performing a professional or scientific service. In 1967 and 1972, however, dental laboratories, law firms, architects, and engineers were covered (see table 314 for legal services, 1972). Also excluded are educational institutions; religious or charitable institutions; hospitals and infirmaries; public utilities; and Government-operated enterprises, except wholesale and retail liquor operations. Most of these last groups will be covered in the 1977 census reports.

Data from the 1958 census exclude retail and service nonemployer establishments which had receipts of less than $2,500 and $1,000, respectively. In the 1963, 1967, and 1972 censuses, nonemployer establishments which did not operate the entire year were included if, during the period they operated, their receipts were at a rate which would have reached the annual totals specified had they operated the entire year. Wholesale trade establishments with no paid employment are excluded.

For the current sample survey programs, retail trade coverage is the same as for the census; wholesale trade coverage is limited to merchant wholesalers; and selected services coverage is less inclusive than the census.

Advertising.—The statistics on advertising expenditures are compiled primarily by private organizations. McCann-Erickson, Inc., which compiles certain of the data shown, defines national advertising as the advertising done for companies whose products are distributed nationally, and for which national media rates are paid; and local advertising as the advertising done for companies which market their products locally and which may pay special "local" media rates. Monthly figures are published regularly in Advertising Age and in the Survey of Current Business. Total corporate expenditures for advertising, by industry, appear in Statistics of Income, cited above.

Statistical reliability.—For a discussion of statistical collection and estimation, sampling procedures, and measures of statistical reliability applicable to Census Bureau data, see Appendix III.

Section 31

Foreign Commerce and Aid

This section presents data on the flow of goods, services, and capital between the United States and other countries; changes in official gold reserves of the United States; international investments; foreign assistance programs; and import duties.

The Bureau of Economic Analysis publishes current figures on U.S. international transactions and international investment position in its monthly Survey of Current Business. Figures for earlier periods are presented in Balance of Payments—Statistical Supplement, 1963 revised edition, in the periodic Foreign Grants and Credits by the United States Government, and in the June issues of the Survey of Current Business. Statistics for the foreign aid programs are presented by the Agency for International Development in its annual Operations Report and its annual U.S. Overseas Loans and Grants and Assistance from International Organizations; and by the Department of Agriculture in its Foreign Agricultural Trade of the United States.

The principal source of merchandise import and export data is the Bureau of the Census. Current data are presented monthly in Report FT 135, U.S. General Imports, Schedule A Commodity by Country; Report FT 410, U.S. Exports, Schedule B Commodity by Country; and Report FT 990, Highlights of U.S. Export and Import Trade. For a complete list of the Bureau's monthly and annual reports in this field, consult the Bureau of the Census Catalog and the Guide to Foreign Trade Statistics. In addition, the Industry and Trade Administration and the Bureau of Economic Analysis present summary and selected commodity and country data for U.S. foreign trade in the Overseas Business Reports and the Survey of Current Business, respectively. The Treasury Department's Annual Report of the Secretary contains information on import duties.

International accounts.—The international transactions tables (Nos. 1496 and 1497) show, for given time periods, the transfer of goods, services, grants, and financial assets and liabilities between the United States and the rest of the world.

The international investment position table (No. 1501) presents, for specific dates, the value of U.S. investments abroad and of foreign investments in the United States. The movement of foreign and U.S. capital as presented in the balance of payments is not the only factor affecting the total value of foreign investments. Among the other factors are: Changes in the valuation of assets or liabilities, including securities; defaults; expropriations; write-offs; and reinvested earnings of subsidiaries operating abroad and of foreign subsidiaries operating in the United States.

Foreign aid.—Foreign assistance is divided into three major categories—grants (military supplies and services, and other grants), credits, and other assistance (through net accumulation of foreign currency claims from the sale of agricultural commodities). The U.S. Government's capital investments in the international financial institutions constitute an additional measure taken by the Government to promote foreign economic recovery and development.

Grants are transfers for which no payment is expected (other than a limited percentage of the foreign currency "counterpart" funds generated by the grant), or which at most involve an obligation on the part of the receiver to extend aid to the United States or other countries to achieve a common objective. Credits are loan disbursements or transfers under other agreements which give rise to specific obligations to repay, over a period of years, usually with interest. All known returns to the U.S. Government stemming from grants and credits (reverse grants, returns of grants, and payments of principal) are taken into account in net grants and net credits, but no allowance is made for interest or commissions. Other assistance represents the transfer of U.S. farm products in exchange for foreign currencies (plus, since enactment of Public Law 87–128, currency claims from principal and interest collected on credits extended under the farm products program), less the Government's disbursements of the currencies as grants, credits, or for purchases. The net acquisition of currencies represents net transfers of resources to foreign countries under the agricultural programs, in addition to those classified as grants or credits.

Figures as published in the Foreign Grants and Credits series are not identical with figures shown for Government unilateral transfers and capital in the balance of payments, mainly because of differences in treatment of particular items by the two sets of accounts. Such items include: Contributions to the multilateral construction program of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization; Government investments in certain productive enterprises abroad; Government receipts on funded claims; and net changes in foreign currency holdings resulting from transactions other than those under the farm products program, such as by collection of principal and interest and by purchase for dollars.

The basic instrument for extending military aid to friendly nations has been the Mutual Defense Assistance Program authorized by the Congress in 1949. Prior to 1952, economic and technical aid was authorized in the Foreign Assistance Act of 1948, the 1950 Act for International Development, and other legislation which set up programs for specific countries. In 1952, these economic, technical, and military aid programs were combined under the Mutual Security Act, which in turn was followed by the Foreign Assistance Act passed in 1961. Appropriations to provide military assistance to certain countries in Southeast Asia were made in the Department of Defense Appropriation Act (rather than the Foreign Assistance Appropriation Act) beginning in 1966 and in other legislation concerning programs for specific countries (such as Israel). Figures on activity under the Foreign Assistance Act as reported in the Foreign Grants and Credits series differ from data published by the Agency for International Development or its immediate predecessors due largely to differences in reporting, timing, and treatment of particular items.

Exports.—The Bureau of the Census compiles export data primarily from Shipper's Export Declarations required to be filed with customs officials for shipments leaving the United States. They include U.S. exports under mutual security programs and exclude shipments to U.S. Armed Forces for their own use.

The value reported in the export statistics is generally equivalent to a free alongside ship (f.a.s.) value at the U.S. port of export, based on the transaction price, including inland freight, insurance, and other charges incurred in placing the merchandise alongside the carrier at the U.S. port of exportation. This value, as defined, should exclude transportation and other costs beyond the U.S. port of exportation. The country of destination is defined as the country of ultimate destination or country where the merchandise is to be consumed, further processed, or manufactured, as known to the shipper at the time of exportation. When ultimate destination is not known, the shipment is statistically credited to the last country to which the shipper knows the merchandise will be shipped in the same form as exported.

For certain low-valued shipments, the export statistics include estimates based upon selected samples of such shipments. In general, shipments valued $100–$499 were estimated for July 1953 through September 1969. For Canada, the upper value limit of the sampled shipments was increased from $499 to $1,999, effective January 1963. Effective October 1969, data are estimated for shipments valued $251–$1,999 to Canada and $251–$499 to other countries. The statistics also include estimates for shipments under $100 prior to October 1969 and for those under $251 effective October 1969, not classified by commodity. The over-$251 sampled shipments represent about 3 percent of the total value of exports, and the under-$251 shipments about 1.0 percent.

Imports.—The Bureau of the Census compiles import data from various customs forms required to be filed with customs officials. Effective 1974, import values published by the Bureau of the Census are presented on three bases: The transaction values f.a.s. (free alongside ship) at the foreign port of export, the c.i.f. (cost, insurance, and freight), and the previously reported customs import value (the value as appraised by the U.S, Customs Service in accordance with the legal requirements of Sections 402 and 402a of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended). This latter valuation is primarily used for collection of import duties and frequently does not reflect the actual transaction value. The country of origin is defined as the country where the merchandise was grown, mined, or manufactured. If the country of origin is unknown, the country of shipment is reported.

Imports are classified either as "General Imports" or "Imports for Consumption." General imports are a combination of entries for immediate consumption and entries into customs bonded warehouses, and thus generally reflect total arrivals of merchandise. Imports for consumption are a combination of entries for immediate consumption and withdrawals from warehouses for consumption, and thus generally reflect the total of the commodities entered into U.S. consumption channels.

The import statistics include estimates, not classified by commodity, for certain low-valued shipments. From July 1953 through June 1965, data for informal entries (generally items valued under $251) and various types of formal entries valued under $100, in general, were estimated, while data for formal and informal entries valued under $251 have been estimated since July 1965. The estimates are included in country and continent figures and in total import figures. The estimated low-valued shipments generally amount to about 1 percent of the import total.

Area coverage.—Except as noted, the geographic area covered by the export and import trade statistics is the United States customs area, which includes the 50 States, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico.

Statistical reliability.—For a discussion of statistical collection and estimation, sampling procedures, and measures of statistical reliability applicable to Census Bureau data, see Appendix III.

Historical statistics.—Tabular headnotes provide cross-references, where applicable, to Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1970. See Appendix I.

Other uses	4,201	90	1,833	1,456	203	143	138	140	198

– Represents zero. Z Less than $500,000. [1] July 1, 1945, through Dec. 31, 1977. All lend-lease and conversions of prior grants to credits are from V–J Day (Sept. 2, 1945). [2] For details, see table 1506.
[3] Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (P.L. 87–195), as amended. Also includes predecessor and related programs.
[4] Includes military assistance under Dept. of Defense Appropriation Act, 1966 (P.L. 89–394) and later acts.
[5] Includes funds made available under Public Law 93–199 and subsequent legislation to release Israel from its contractual liability to pay for defense articles and services purchased under other legislation. [6] Net new grants are not adjusted for settlements for postwar relief and other grants under agreements, and net new credits exclude prior grants converted into credits, which were as follows: July 1945–December 1955, $2,198 million; 1956–66, $491 million; 1972, $994 million. Repayments on these settlements are included in net new credits.
[7] Developed countries include Australia, Canada, Japan, New Zealand, Republic of South Africa, all countries listed under "Western Europe" in table 1506, except Portugal, Spain, Yugoslavia, and Malta, and all countries listed under "Eastern Europe" in table 1506. Developing countries include all other countries listed in table 1506.
[8] Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act. [9] Outstanding credits on Dec. 31, 1977, totaled $41,610 million representing net credits extended since organization of Export-Import Bank, Feb. 12, 1934, less chargeoffs, and net adjustments due to exchange rates ($1,537 million), and excluding World War I debts. The amount repayable in dollars at U.S. Government option was $39,018 million; the remainder was repayable in foreign currencies, commodities, or services, at the option of the borrowers.
[10] Commodity Credit Corporation Charter Act.
[11] Equivalent value of currencies still available to be used, including some funds advanced from foreign governments and after loss by exchange rate fluctuations ($1,962 million), was $555 million on Dec. 31, 1977.
[12] Includes foreign currencies acquired from triangular trade operations and principal and interest collections on credits, originally extended under P.L. 83–480, which—since enactment of P.L. 87–128—are available for the same purposes as P.L. 83–480 currencies.

No. 1507. U.S. Foreign Economic and Military Aid Programs: 1946 to 1977

[In millions of dollars. For years ending June 30 except, beginning 1977, ending Sept. 30. Economic aid shown here represents total U.S. economic aid—not just aid under Foreign Assistance Act. Major components in recent years include AID, Food for Peace, Peace Corps, and paid-in subscriptions to international financial institutions, such as IBRD, and IDB. Cumulative totals for 1946-1977 are true totals net of deobligation; annual figures, however, are gross unadjusted program figures. Military aid includes Military Assistance Program (MAP) grants, foreign military credit sales, service-funded programs, and excess defense articles]

No. 1509. U.S. Foreign Aid—Commitments for Economic Assistance, by Regions and Countries: 1948–1977 and 1962–1977

[In millions of dollars, except percent. For periods ending Sept. 30. Falls under economic portion of the Foreign Assistance Act. Data cover commitments for economic and technical assistance by AID and predecessor agencies. The 1948–1977 totals are on a net basis, representing total new obligations entered into during the entire period, adjusted for any deobligations. Data for 1962–1977, are on a gross basis, i.e., representing total new obligations entered into, not adjusted for deobligations of prior years' funds. See text, pp. 859 and 860]

Special category [9]	5	(X)	(X)	–	–	–	(X)	(X)	(X)	(X)	(X)	(X)	(X)	(X)	(X)	(X)

– Represents zero. X Not applicable. Z Less than $500,000.

[1] For 1960 and 1965, reflects declassification of Special Category commodities as authorized January 5, 1968; area and country totals reflect relaxation of security restrictions as authorized July 17, 1969.

[2] 1960–1975, customs value basis; thereafter, f.a.s. value basis.

[3] Includes estimates for low-valued shipments from countries which could not be identified because of illegible reporting on import entries.

[4] Includes unidentified countries, not shown separately.

[5] Developed countries include Canada, Western Europe, Japan, Australia, New Zealand, and Republic of South Africa; developing countries include rest of the world excluding Communist areas in Europe and Asia. Assignment of countries generally follows that made by United Nations. (See table 1549.)

[6] As of January 1, 1973, United Kingdom, Denmark, and Ireland became members of EEC. For consistency, data for all years are shown on same basis.

[7] Finland included in other Western Europe for 1960, and in OECD thereafter.

[8] Excludes special category exports, if any, for 1960; thereafter includes special category exports, if any.

[9] Prior to 1973, security regulations required that information on exports of Special Category commodities be excluded from the totals for certain countries.

No. 1516. Exports and Imports of Merchandise, by Continents, Areas, and Countries: 1960 to 1977—Continued

[In millions of dollars, except percent. Beginning 1965, includes uranium, thorium, and related products; beginning 1970, includes silver ore and bullion. See Historical Statistics, Colonial Times to 1970, series U 317-352, for selected countries]

Outlying Areas Under the Jurisdiction of the United States

This section presents summary economic and social statistics for the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the principal possessions of the United States (Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa), the Canal Zone, and, wherever possible, the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands.

Primary sources are the decennial censuses of population, housing, and agriculture, and the censuses of business and manufactures (taken every five years) conducted by the Bureau of the Census; the annual Vital Statistics of the United States, issued by the National Center for Health Statistics; and the annual Statistics of Public Elementary and Secondary Day Schools of the National Center for Education Statistics.

Jurisdiction.—The United States gained jurisdiction over these areas as follows: The islands of Puerto Rico and Guam, surrendered by Spain to the United States in October 1898, were ceded to the United States by the Treaty of Paris, ratified in 1899. Puerto Rico became a commonwealth on July 25, 1952, thereby achieving a high degree of local autonomy under its own constitution. the Virgin Islands, comprising 50 islands and cays, were purchased by the United States from Denmark in 1917. American Samoa, a group of 7 islands, was acquired by the United States in accordance with a convention among the United States, Great Britain, and Germany, ratified in February 1900. The use, occupation, and control of the Canal Zone were granted to the United States under the terms of a treaty with the Republic of Panama, ratified in 1904. The Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands comprises 2,141 atolls and islands, about 96 of which are inhabited. This territory, formerly under Japanese mandate, was placed under the United Nations trusteeship system by an agreement approved by the Security Council and the United States in 1947.

For a brief summary of U.S. territorial development, see tables 3 and 339.

Censuses.—Because characteristics of the outlying areas differ, the presentation of census data for them is not uniform. The 1960 Census of Population covered all of the places listed above except the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands (the census of which was conducted in April 1958 by the Office of the High Commissioner), whereas the 1960 Census of Housing also excluded the Canal Zone and American Samoa. The 1970 Census of Population and Housing covered all six areas. The 1959 and 1969 censuses of agriculture covered Puerto Rico, American Samoa, Guam, and the Virgin Islands; the 1964 census covered the same areas except American Samoa. Beginning in 1967, Congress authorized the economic censuses, covering business, manufactures, and, for Guam and the Virgin Islands, mineral industries, to be taken at 5-year intervals, for years ending in 2 and 7. Prior economic censuses were conducted in Puerto Rico for 1954, 1958, and 1963, and in Guam and the Virgin Islands for 1958 and 1963. In 1972, the census of construction industries was added for the first time for these three areas.

Information in other sections.—In addition to the specialized statistics presented in this section, other data are included as integral parts of many tables showing distribution by States in various sections of the Abstract. See "Outlying areas of United States" in the index.

For definition and explanation of terms used, see section 1, Population; section 5, Education; section 24, Agriculture; section 28, Construction and Housing; section 29, Manufactures; and section 30, Domestic Trade and Services.

Statistical reliability.—For a discussion of statistical collection and estimation, sampling procedures, and measures of statistical reliability applicable to Census Bureau data, see Appendix III.

Section 33

Comparative International Statistics

This section presents statistics for the world as a whole and for many countries on a comparative basis with the United States. Selected data are shown for area and population, births and deaths, social and industrial indicators, finances, agriculture, transportation and communication, and military affairs.

The principal sources for the data presented in this section are the United Nations Statistical Yearbook and the U.S. Bureau of the Census publication World Population. Statistics of the individual nations may be found primarily in official national publications, generally in the form of yearbooks, issued by most of the nations at various intervals in their own national languages, expressed in their own or customary units of measure. For handier reference, especially for international comparisons, the Statistical Office of the United Nations compiles and issues a number of international summary publications, generally in English and French. Among these are the Statistical Yearbook; the Demographic Yearbook; the Yearbook of International Trade Statistics; the Yearbook of National Accounts Statistics: Vol. II, International Tables; Population and Vital Statistics Reports (quarterly); the Monthly Bulletin of Statistics; and World Energy Supplies.

The Bureau of the Census, in Country Demographic Profiles, series ISP-30, presents data on individual countries for both a recent census year and the current period; and in World Population: 1977, estimates of basic demographic measures for countries and regions of the world. The International Population Statistics Reports, series P-90 and P-91, issued by the Bureau of the Census, also present population figures for many foreign countries. Other sources for foreign agricultural, labor, and education statistics are publications of specialized agencies of the United Nations, such as the Production Yearbook issued by the Food and Agriculture Organization, the Yearbook of Labour Statistics issued by the International Labour Office, and the Statistical Yearbook issued by the Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization.

Statistical coverage, country names, and classifications.—Problems of space and availability of data limit the number of countries and the extent of statistical coverage shown. The list of countries included is based almost entirely on a U.S. Department of State list of sovereign nations, dependencies, and areas of special sovereignty published annually by the U.S. Department of State in Status of the World's Nations. Country names are shown here as specified in that publication. In the few cases where a lack of comparability exists between State Department and United Nations' terminology, the State Department's preferences are used.

The countries and regions in tables 1546, 1549, and 1550 are classified as either "more developed" or "less developed", according to the United Nations regional classification system. The system is based on the assumption that, within regions, levels of such factors as industrial development, literacy rate, gross reproduction rate, per capita income, etc., are somewhat constant. According to the scheme, countries in Northern America, Europe, Japan, Australia, New Zealand, and the U.S.S.R. are "more developed"; all others are "less developed" (Cyprus, Israel, and Turkey are included in Southern Europe).

Economic associations.—The Organisation for European Economic Co-operation (OEEC), a regional grouping of Western European countries established in 1948 for the purpose of harmonizing national economic policies and conditions, was succeeded on September 30, 1961, by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD). The member nations of the OECD are Austria, Greece, Iceland, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, the "Common Market" countries (see below)—and also Finland, Canada, the United States, Japan, Australia, and New Zealand, plus Yugoslavia in special status category.

The European Economic Community (EEC), or "Common Market," consists of Belgium, France, Germany (Federal Republic), Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, and, beginning 1973, Denmark, Ireland, and the United Kingdom. The EEC was formed in 1958 as the European Economic Community for the purpose of promoting European economic integration. It is based on agreement among the member nations to stimulate their economic growth, primarily through the gradual elimination of trade barriers among themselves, the establishment of a common external tariff, the coordination of monetary, fiscal, and agricultural policies, and the removal of restrictions on movement of services, labor, capital, and business enterprises within the community. The European Free Trade Association (EFTA), established in 1959, consists of Austria, Finland, Iceland, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland, and, prior to 1973, included Denmark and the United Kingdom. It represents an agreement among the member nations to promote free trade and economic cooperation in Europe through gradual elimination of tariffs and quotas among themselves but without establishment of a common external tariff. Other regional economic groupings are the Central American Common Market (Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, and Nicaragua) and the Latin American Free Trade Association (Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Mexico, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay, and Venezuela).

Quality and comparability of the data.—The quality and comparability of the data presented here are affected by a number of factors:

(1) The year for which data are presented may not be the same for all subjects for a particular country, or for a given subject for different countries, though the data shown are the most recent available. All such variations have been noted. The data shown are for calendar years except as otherwise specified.

(2) The bases, methods of estimating, methods of data collection, extent of coverage, precision of definition, scope of territory, and margins of error may vary for different items within a particular country, and for like items for different countries. Footnotes and headnotes to the tables give a few of the major time-period and coverage qualifications attached to the figures; considerably more detail is presented in the source publications. Many of the measures shown are, at best, merely rough indicators of magnitude.

(3) Figures shown in this section for the United States may not always agree with figures shown in the preceding sections. Disagreements may be attributable to the use of differing original sources, a difference in the definition of geographic limits (the 50 States, conterminous United States only, or the United States including certain outlying areas and possessions), or to possible adjustments made in the United States figures by the United Nations or other sources in order to make them more comparable with figures from other countries.

Conversion factors.—To facilitate comparison in terms of familiar units, some items shown in metric units in the source have been converted to U.S. equivalents by means of the abbreviated conversion factors shown below. Additional conversion factors appear on p. x.

No. 1551. Population Under Age 15, Growth, Birth, Death, and Infant Mortality Rates, and Life Expectancy, for the 75 Most Populous Countries

[Growth rate: Annual increase (or decrease) to the population resulting from a surplus or deficit of births over deaths and a surplus or deficit of migrants into or out of the country, expressed as a percentage of the base population. Crude birth rate: Number of births during 1 year per 1,000 persons (based on midyear population). Crude death rate: Number of deaths during 1 year per 1,000 persons (based on midyear population). Infant mortality rate: Number of deaths of children under 1 year of age per 1,000 live births in a calendar year. Life expectancy at birth: Number of years to be lived by persons born in a certain year if mortality rates for each age group remain constant in the future. Minus sign (−) denotes decrease]

No. 1555. Housing and Health, by Country

[Housing: Data generally intended to refer to conventional (permanent) dwellings only. For some countries, however, data include nonpermanent structures, improvised shelters, and mobile trailers, or, as noted, refer to housing units and to household accommodation (the space occupied by a private household) rather than to dwellings. Health: Hospital data refer to hospitals and other medical establishments with beds but exclude old people's homes and establishments for custodial or preventive care only; personnel data refer to persons fully qualified from medical or dental schools and working within the country. See text, p. 896, for general comments concerning the data. For additional qualifications of data for individual countries, see source]

No. 1559. Average Annual Rates of Change of Gross Domestic Product, by Kind of Economic Activity

[In percent. Based on gross domestic product at constant prices. Methods used to obtain estimates of gross domestic product at constant prices and the years to which these prices relate vary widely among countries. In general, "Agriculture" includes forestry, hunting, and fishing; "Industrial activity" covers mining, manufacturing, electricity, gas, and water; and "Other" comprises financing, insurance, real estate, and business services; community, social, and personal services; and public administration and defense. Unless otherwise stated, data are calculated on the former System of National Accounts (see Yearbook of National Accounts Statistics, 1969). Minus sign (−) denotes decrease]

NA Not available. [1] Refers to calendar year in which all or most of the harvest took place, generally 1976. All commodities index relates to food, fibers, tobacco, industrial oilseeds, and rubber; food index relates to crops and livestock products for human consumption. Deductions made for feed and seed used in production process. 1961=100. [2] Components of these indexes vary considerably among countries; for details, see source. [3] Refers, in general, to salaried employees and wage earners in manufacturing. Includes workers on holiday or vacation; excludes employers, self-employed, and workers on strike, on temporary military leave, or temporarily laid off. [4] In many instances, represents index only for principal city (or cities) of particular country. [5] General wholesale price index numbers usually weighted by gross value of sales on wholesale markets. [6] Year beginning July 1. [7] Building materials. [8] Year ending June 30. [9] Includes mining and quarrying. [10] Data for Luxembourg included in Belgium. [11] Data for 1 month. [12] For 1975. [13] 1972=100. [14] Source: U.S. Bureau of the Census. Data from Republic of China publications. [15] 1971=100. [16] 1965=100. [17] For 1974. [18] July 1970–June 1971=100. [19] For 1973. [20] Including electricity, gas, and water. [21] July 1969–June 1970=100. [22] Area of San Salvador. [23] Industrial products. [24] For 1972. [25] Averages of less than 12 months. [26] 1975=100. [27] State industry. [28] Producers' prices of industrial products. [29] Includes working proprietors. [30] Year beginning March 21. [31] Data refer to West Malaysia only. [32] 1974=100. [33] Raw materials, including semi-manufactured goods. [34] Groceries. [35] Year beginning April 1. [36] Socialized sector. [37] Includes sea fishing. [38] Annual figures are monthly averages. [39] For 1971. [40] Wage earners only. [41] Producers' goods. [42] Excluding publishing. [43] Basic materials. [44] Establishments with 10 or more workers.

– Represents zero. NA Not available. Z Less than 50,000 metric tons. [1] Comprises all persons engaged in or actively seeking productive work in some branch of the economy during a specified period of time. Generally, data are for a specific date in the 1960's and 1970's. [2] Comprises average number of employees, working proprietors, and unpaid family workers engaged in production of manufactured goods, including assembly of component parts and, except in the case of consumer goods, repair services. Except as noted, excludes gas manufacture and electricity. [3] Total production of crude steel, both ingots and steel for castings. Excludes wrought (puddled) iron. [4] Data represent apparent consumption (i.e., production plus imports minus exports) and do not take into account changes in stocks. [5] Refers generally to iron content of marketable ores mined, including manganiferous iron ores but excluding pyrites. Some data are rough estimates obtained by applying a fixed percentage to figures for crude ore production. [6] Covers, as far as possible, all hydraulic cements used for construction (portland, metallurgic, aluminous, natural, etc.). [7] Covers pure and mixed yarn, including yarn spun from cotton waste, and excludes tire cord yarn, except as noted. [8] Covers both sea and inland fisheries, in terms of live weight. Includes shellfish; excludes whales, dolphins, etc. [9] Excludes Armed Forces abroad. [10] Excludes steel for castings made in foundries operated by companies not producing ingots. [11] Excludes manganiferous iron ores containing 5 percent or more of manganese. [12] For 1975. [13] Data from U.S. Bureau of Mines. [14] Pure cotton yarn only. [15] Year ending June 30. [16] All establishments except single-establishment enterprises with fewer than 4 employees. [17] Includes tire cord yarn. [18] For one period of the year indicated. [19] Establishments with 20 or more employees. [20] For 1972. [21] Luxembourg included with Belgium. [22] For 1974. [23] Establishments with 5 or more engaged. [24] Production in the State of São Paulo only. [25] FAO estimate. [26] All enterprises in socialist sector except publishing. [27] Excludes armed services. [28] Shipments from mines. [29] Establishments with 50 or more engaged. [30] Ingots only. [31] For 1973. [32] For 1969. [33] Source: U.S. Bureau of the Census. Data from Republic of China publications. [34] Establishments with 10 or more engaged. [35] Establishments with 6 or more employees. [36] Mixed yarn only. [37] Establishments with 7 or more engaged. [38] Private establishments with 10 or more engaged and all public establishments. [39] Establishments with 5 or more employees. [40] Total mining and manufacturing. [41] All enterprises. [42] Includes thread. [43] Establishments with 30 or more engaged. [44] Includes homeworkers. [45] Excludes catches by chartered foreign vessels. [46] Includes Armed Forces abroad. [47] Excludes yarn made from waste. [48] Year ending March 31. [49] Establishments with 10 or more engaged using power, or with 20 or more engaged not using power. [50] Factory production only. [51] Establishments with 20 or more workers. [52] Year ending March 20. [53] Year beginning March 21. [54] Establishments with 10 or more employees. [55] Establishments with 3 or more engaged. [56] Establishments with at least 1 employee. [57] Enterprises with 20 or more engaged. [58] All private establishments. [59] Includes iron content of iron sand and pyrites. [60] West Malaysia only. [61] Crude steel for casting only. [62] Person-years. [63] All kind-of-activity units in mining and manufacturing. [64] Establishments with 2 or more engaged. [65] For 1967. [66] Includes iron content of iron pyrites. [67] Establishments in selected industries. [68] State enterprises under direction of central government. [69] For one period in year ending June 30, 1972. [70] Includes concast steel billets. [71] Includes data for Botswana, Lesotho, Namibia, and Swaziland. [72] All establishments, but certain industries not covered. [73] Establishments subject to labor laws. [74] Data from UN Economic Commission for Europe. [75] For 1971. [76] All units with 5 or more employees. [77] For England and Wales only. [78] Data for former Republic of South Vietnam only. [79] All enterprises in the socialist sector, except licensed handicrafts.

– Represents zero. NA Not available. Z Less than 50,000 metric tons. [1] Based on apparent consumption of coal, lignite, petroleum products, natural gas, and hydro and nuclear electricity. [2] Comprises production by utilities generating primarily for public use, and production by industrial establishments generating primarily for own use. Relates to production at generating centers, including station use and transmission losses. [3] Includes shale oil, but excludes natural gasoline. [4] Excludes lignite and brown coal, except as noted. [5] Net production, i.e., excluding station use. [6] Year ending June 30. [7] Includes gas condensates. [8] Excludes production by industrial establishments for own use. [9] Includes slurries. [10] Data from U.S. Bureau of Mines. [11] Includes lignite and brown coal. [12] Source: U.S. Bureau of the Census. Data from Republic of China publications. [13] Includes peat. [14] Includes low grade coal at its hard-coal equivalent. [15] Year beginning April. [16] Year beginning March 21. [17] Includes estimated production in the occupied Sinai Peninsula (1970, 4.9 million metric tons). [18] Includes brown coal. [19] Includes share of production and consumption in the Neutral Zone. [20] West Malaysia only. [21] Includes Bangladesh. [22] Includes data for Botswana, Lesotho, Namibia, and Swaziland. [23] Includes Canary Islands and Ceuta. [24] Year ending Sept. 30. [25] Abu Dhabi only. [26] Data for former Republic of South Vietnam only. [27] For 1975. [28] Data for former Democratic Republic of Vietnam only.

NA Not available. [1] Covers merchandise, including silver (except current coin); excludes gold and issued paper currency. Imports generally valued c.i.f. (cost, insurance, and freight); exports, f.o.b. (free on board). Generally includes government trade (including foreign aid, war reparations, and military goods), trade of foreign concessionaires, and postal trade. See source for "general trade" or "special trade" distinctions. Roughly half the countries shown fall into each category, thus affecting comparability. [2] As of June 30. Represents gross registered tons (see text, p. 668). Excludes vessels without mechanical means of propulsion; includes sailing vessels with auxiliary power. [3] Represents weight of all goods (including their packing) in external trade loaded to and unloaded from sea-going vessels of all flags at ports of country specified. For most countries, excludes bunkers, ships' stores, ballast, and transshipment (goods transshipped from an importing vessel to an exporting vessel). [4] Relates to domestic and international traffic on all railway lines within each country shown, excluding railways entirely within an urban unit and plantation, industrial mining, funicular, and cable railways. In general, passenger-kilometers include all passengers except military, government, and railway personnel when carried without revenue; ton-kilometers relate to freight net ton-kilometers and include all goods whether carried by fast or ordinary trains except service traffic, mail, baggage, and nonrevenue governmental stores. [5] Covers both domestic and international scheduled services operated by companies registered in each country. Includes supplementary services occasioned by overflow traffic on regularly scheduled trips and preparatory flights for new scheduled services. [6] Represents officially estimated number of vehicles in use. Includes passenger cars and commercial vehicles. For most countries shown, excludes 2- and 3-wheeled cycles and motorcycles, trams, trolley buses, ambulances, hearses, military vehicles, police and special purpose or government security vehicles, trailers, and farm tractors. [7] Excludes trade among each of the following countries: People's Republic of China, Mongolia, and Dem. People's Rep. of Korea. [8] Includes trade between the Federal Republic of Germany and German Democratic Republic. [9] Includes the Great Lakes. [10] Excludes traffic with U.S. Virgin Islands. [11] Includes Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River international traffic. [12] Class 1 railways only. [13] For 1975. [14] For 1974. [15] For 1973. [16] Excludes transit traffic and packing. [17] Imports f.o.b. [18] Year ending June 30. [19] Includes Luxembourg. [20] For 1972. [21] For 1971. [22] Source: U.S. Bureau of the Census. Data from Republic of China publications. [23] Includes vehicles no longer in circulation. [24] Year beginning Apr. 1. [25] Excludes crude petroleum imported without stated value. [26] Includes military traffic. [27] Year beginning Mar. 21. [28] Excludes petroleum. [29] Includes coastwise traffic. [30] Includes petroleum from Neutral Zone. [31] West Malaysia only. [32] Includes inter-trade between Malaysian states. [33] Million manifest tons. [34] Year ending Mar. 31. [35] Year beginning July 1. [36] For 1970. [37] Commercial vehicles only. [38] Includes Namibia. [39] Year ending Sept. 30. [40] Excludes Northern Ireland.

No. 1574. Military Expenditures, in Current and Constant (1975) Dollars: 1967 to 1976

[In millions of dollars, except as indicated. See also tables 588. Data for expenditures and for GNP were based on local currencies which were deflated to constant 1975 local currency values before conversion to U.S. dollar equivalents. In general the rates used for conversion are the 1975 average par/market exchange rates as supplied by IBRD (International Bank for Reconstruction and Development). Data by country exclude countries with 1976 military expenditures less than 375 million dollars]

No. 1581. Net Flow of Financial Resources to Developing Countries, by Origin and Type of Resource: 1965 to 1976

[In billions of U.S. dollars. Net flow covers loans, grants, and grant-like flows minus amortization on loans. Developing countries cover countries designated by U.N. as developing (see table 1549), Greece, Malta, Portugal, Spain, and Yugoslavia. Official development assistance covers all flows to developing countries and multilateral institutions provided by official agencies, including State and local governments, or by their executive agencies, which are administered with the promotion of economic development and welfare of developing countries as their main objective and whose financial terms are intended to be concessional in character with grant element of at least 25 percent. Other official flows cover export credits and portfolio investment from the official sector]

Historical Series—Index to Tables in Which Historical Statistics Series Appear

[The most recent historical supplement to the Statistical Abstract is the bicentennial edition, Historical Statistics of the United States, Colonial Times to 1970 (see inside back cover). Listed below are statistical time series (identified by number) appearing in this edition, for which tables in the Statistical Abstract present comparable figures. Historical series are listed only where related or comparable data are available for one or more years later than 1970. In a few instances, it may be necessary to combine figures shown in the Abstract to obtain totals comparable to the series shown in Historical Statistics]

APPENDIX II

Metropolitan Area Concepts and Components

Statistics for metropolitan areas shown in the Statistical Abstract represent areas designated by the U.S. Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards (OFSPS) as standard metropolitan statistical areas (SMSA's). Definitions of the SMSA's in terms of their geographic components are presented in Office of Management and Budget (OMB), Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas, 1975, Revised Edition. (OFSPS) issues amendments to update this publication when changes in SMSA definitions are made. See also U.S. National Bureau of Standards, Metropolitan Statistical Areas, Federal Information Processing Standards Publication (FIPS Pub. 8-4, June 30, 1974).

The complete list of areas, their components, and population totals, which follows tables A, B, and C below (see p. 938) is based on the SMSA definitions in effect on Dec. 31, 1977. On that date, there were 281 SMSA's (including 4 in Puerto Rico).

The general concept of a metropolitan area is one of an integrated economic and social unit with a large population nucleus. Standard definitions of metropolitan statistical areas were first issued by the then Bureau of the Budget (predecessor of OMB) in 1949, under the designation "Standard Metropolitan Areas"; the present designation was adopted in 1959. In October 1977 the Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards was transferred to the U.S. Department of Commerce.

The criteria for the establishment and definition of SMSA's have undergone several modifications since 1949. The current criteria were adopted in March 1976; they provide that each SMSA must include at least:

(a) One city with 50,000 or more inhabitants, or

(b) A city with at least 25,000 inhabitants, which, together with contiguous places (incorporated or unincorporated) having population densities of at least 1,000 persons per square mile, has a combined population of 50,000 and constitutes for general economic and social purposes a single community, provided that the county or counties in which the city and contiguous places are located has a total population of at least 75,000. (In New England, the cities and towns qualifying for inclusion in an SMSA must have a total population of at least 75,000.)

In addition to the central city or cities, the criteria provide that the SMSA include the county in which the central city is located, and adjacent counties that are determined to be metropolitan in character and economically and socially integrated with the county of the central city, according to specific rules. (In New England, as noted below, the units comprising the area are cities and towns rather than counties.) The largest city in each SMSA is designated a "central city"; in addition, there may be up to two additional central cities if certain criteria are met. With two exceptions (Nassau-Suffolk, N.Y. and Northeast Pennsylvania), the title of each SMSA includes the names of its central city or cities. An SMSA may include other cities of 50,000 or more besides its central cities, and may include territory in more than one State.

Recent previous editions (1967–1975) of the Statistical Abstract have included a section entitled "Metropolitan Area Statistics," which presented numerous items of statistical information for SMSA's. That section was omitted beginning with the 1976 edition. In its place, a much more comprehensive State and Metropolitan Area Data Book will be issued on a biennial basis; the first issue is scheduled for release in 1979.

New England SMSA's and NECMA's. Because SMSA's in New England are defined in terms of cities and towns, rather than counties, some statistical data that are available only for counties cannot be compiled for individual New England SMSA's. Therefore, for New England areas data are shown for both New England County Metropolitan Areas (NECMA's) and SMSA's wherever possible. The NECMA's provide a county version of the New England areas defined following criteria adopted by OMB in March 1976 which are identical to those used to define SMSA's in the other States. NECMA's do not replace New England SMSA's as the standard areas.

Standard Consolidated Statistical Areas.—Standard consolidated statistical areas (SCSA's), defined under criteria adopted by OMB in August 1975, include two or more contiguous SMSA's which meet certain criteria of size, urban character, integration, and contiguity of urbanized areas.

Effect of changes in SMSA definitions.—Changes in the definitions of SMSA's since 1949 have included the recognition of new areas as, for example, cities reached 50,000 population, and large counties (or towns in New England) were added to existing SMSA's. Also, several formerly separate SMSA's have been merged, and occasionally territory has been transferred from one SMSA to another or (in rare instances) from an SMSA to nonmetropolitan territory. Comparisons of SMSA figures over time may be affected in cases where the SMSA definitions were changed. To maintain comparability, data for an earlier period have been revised in this volume, where possible, to reflect the SMSA boundaries of the more recent period. However, this could not always be done. For data based on a sample survey, in particular, it is usually not possible to reflect changes in SMSA definitions that occurred after the survey was made.

In the three tables that follow, data are given for SMSA's as defined for specified dates, thereby indicating the extent of change in population and land area resulting from revisions in definitions.

TABLE A. NUMBER, POPULATION, AND LAND AREA OF SMSA'S AS DEFINED AT SPECIFIED DATES: 1940 TO 1976

[The differences in population shown here for each year in the successive columns of the table result entirely from net expansion of metropolitan territory through changes in the SMSA definitions. The differences in population shown for each SMSA definition (on the successive lines of the table) result entirely from population changes within that territory, unaffected by changes in SMSA definitions. The changes in 1970 land area result entirely from net expansion of SMSA territory. All data include Alaska and Hawaii and exclude Puerto Rico. Subtraction of any line of the table from the line below will show the net effect of change in population and land area undergone by the SMSA's as the result of changes in definitions between the specified dates. Such changes typically occurred throughout the period, not on any single date, and may have included subtractions from, as well as additions to, SMSA territory. Census population data do not include corrections made since publication; therefore, data will not strictly agree with those shown in other tables of this Abstract. The area data for the 1950 and 1960 census definitions of SMSA's differ from the data published in those censuses because they are based on a remeasurement of land areas made during the 1960's, and also reflect changes in inland water area occurring up to 1970]

[1] Corresponds to total 1940 population for 1950 SMSA's published in 1950 census (69,279,675), with addition of Honolulu SMSA, and corrected by subtracting population (3,194) of Colonial Heights town erroneously included in Richmond SMSA.

[2] Corresponds to total SMSA population for 1950 published in 1950 census (84,500,680), plus Honolulu SMSA.

[3] Corresponds to total 1940 population for 1960 SMSA's published in 1960 census (72,834,468), corrected by adding population (13,277) erroneously omitted from Stamford SMSA (remainder of Stamford town), and subtracting population (3,194) of Colonial Heights town erroneously included in Richmond SMSA.

[4] Corresponds to total SMSA population for 1960 published in 1960 census (112,885,178), corrected by subtracting population (39) erroneously included in Franklin County, Ohio (Columbus SMSA).

[5] SMSA's as defined for the 1963 economic censuses. [6] SMSA's as defined for the 1967 economic censuses.

[7] Corresponds to total 1960 population for 1970 SMSA's published in 1970 census (119,594,754), corrected by subtracting 1,256 population from Lawrence-Haverhill SMSA; this represented an addition to the 1960 population of Andover town made subsequent to the original census tabulations, and therefore not reflected in State or national totals. [8] Corresponds to total SMSA population for 1970 published in 1970 census.

[9] Corresponds to total SMSA land area published in 1970 census (387,616 square miles), corrected by subtracting 15 square miles erroneously included in Roanoke SMSA and 3 square miles included due to erroneous addition of area data. [10] SMSA's as defined for the 1972 economic censuses.

[11] Includes estimated 1939 population (4,429) of Anchorage Census Division, as defined in 1970.

[12] Includes estimated 1950 population (32,060) of Anchorage Census Division, as defined in 1970.

[13] Includes 1960 population (82,833) of Anchorage Census Division, as defined in 1970.

APPENDIX III

Statistical Methodology and Reliability

Introduction.—The data presented in this Statistical Abstract came from many sources. The sources include not only Federal statistical bureaus and other organizations that collect and issue statistics as their principal activity, but also governmental administrative and regulatory agencies, private research bodies, trade associations, insurance companies, health associations, and private organizations such as the American Red Cross and philanthropic foundations. Consequently, the data vary considerably as to reference periods, definitions of terms, and, for ongoing series, the number and frequency of time periods for which data are available.

The data also vary as to how they were obtained. Some are based on complete enumeration (every person or item is counted); some on records kept for administrative or regulatory purposes (school enrollment, hospital records, securities registration, financial accounts, etc.); some on sample survey results (see below); and some on estimation procedures which range from highly sophisticated techniques to crude "informed guesses." In virtually all data collection operations, various types of errors will be present in the data. The types and sources of errors are discussed later.

Prior to carrying out a census or sample survey, the group of people or items of interest, referred to as the universe or population, must be clearly defined. For example, if data are collected for the universe of farms in the United States, it is necessary to define a "farm" before data are collected.

A large portion of the data appearing in the tables was obtained from sample surveys. A sample survey is a data collection operation in which data are obtained for only a part (i.e., a sample) of the entire population being surveyed. In many other cases the data came from a complete census—a data collection operation in which an attempt is made to enumerate each member of the universe. For most censuses and sample surveys, the data were obtained from completed questionnaires. However, in some cases, data were obtained from other sources as noted above.

In cases in which a sample survey is used to obtain data about a universe, the sample selected for the survey is usually a probability sample. It is a sample obtained from a universe by using a chance device in such a way that every possible sample of universe members has a known probability (or chance) of selection as the survey sample. When probability sampling is used, the probability of selection of each population unit can be determined. The probability of selection of a unit from the universe is a number, between zero and one, which represents the likelihood that the unit will be chosen for the sample.

For large-scale sample surveys, the probability sample of units is often selected as a multistage sample. The first stage of a multistage sample is the selection of a probability sample of large groups of population members, referred to as primary sampling units (PSU's). For example, in a national multistage household sample, PSU's are often counties or groups of counties. The second stage of a multistage sample is the selection, within each PSU selected at the first stage, of smaller groups of population units, referred to as secondary sampling units. In subsequent stages of selection, smaller and smaller nested groups are chosen until the ultimate sample of population units is obtained. To qualify a multistage sample as a probability sample, all stages of sampling must be carried out using probability sampling methods.

Prior to selection at each stage of a multistage (or a single-stage) sample, a list of the sampling units for that stage, referred to as a sampling frame, must be obtained. For example, for the first stage of selection of a national household sample, a list of the counties and county groups that form the PSU's must be obtained. For the final stage of selection, lists of households, and sometimes persons within households, have to be compiled in the field. If a single-stage sample of the Nation's hospitals is to be selected, a list of hospitals must be obtained to use as the sampling frame. Unfortunately, it is virtually impossible to obtain a complete, up-to-date frame for a hospital survey. This is a problem incurred for most surveys of institutions and for many other types of surveys as well.

Whenever the quantities in a table refer to an entire universe, but are constructed from data collected in a sample survey, the table quantities are referred to as sample estimates. In constructing a sample estimate, an attempt is made to come as close as is feasible to the corresponding universe quantity that would be obtained from a complete census of the universe. The errors that can be present in a sample estimate of a universe quantity are classified as either sampling errors or nonsampling errors.

The sampling error is that part of the difference between the estimate and the corresponding population quantity that arises because only a portion (i.e., a sample) of the universe was used to estimate the universe quantity. The measure of sampling error that is often used is the standard error (S.E.) of the estimate. Valid estimates of the standard errors of survey estimates can usually be calculated from the data collected in a probability sample survey. Under most circumstances, the estimated standard error of an estimate can be used as follows in measuring the sampling error: The chances are about two out of three (68 percent) that a sample estimate will be within one standard error of the corresponding universe quantity that would be obtained from a complete census, using the same data collection procedures. Also, the chances are about 19 out of 20 (95 percent) that a sample estimate will be within two standard errors of the corresponding population value.

As a measure of sampling error, some statisticians prefer to use the relative standard error, or coefficient of variation, of an estimate, rather than the standard error. The coefficient of variation (CV) of an estimate is the standard error of the estimate expressed as a percent of the estimate. That is, the CV of an estimate is the standard error of the estimate divided by the expected value of the estimate (i.e., divided by the average value of the estimate taken over repeated samples). It can be used as a measure of sampling error in a way similar to the use of the standard error. For example, if the estimated CV of an estimate is 2.3 percent, the chances are about 19 out of 20 that the estimate will not differ from the population quantity by more than 4.6 percent of the estimate (i.e. two times 2.3 percent).

Any error in a sample estimate that arises from sources other than sampling is classified as a nonsampling error. Nonsampling errors arise from such sources as varying interpretation of questions by interviewers, unwillingness or inability of respondents to give correct answers, nonresponse, improper coverage, and processing errors in coding, editing, and tabulating data.

Nonsampling errors are of two kinds—random and nonrandom. Random errors arise because of the varying interpretation of questions by respondents, interviewers, coders, or other processors. To the extent that people do not ask questions, record answers, code responses, or process data in other ways in a uniform manner, random errors result. The impact of random errors is usually an overstatement of the precision of the survey estimates. Since special experiments are necessary to measure the magnitude of these random errors, their magnitudes are generally unknown.

Nonrandom errors in survey estimates result from nonresponse, from incorrect responses, from undercoverage of certain population groups, and other such sources. Estimates of the magnitude of nonrandom errors also require special experiments or access to independent data and, consequently, are seldom available.

To compensate for suspected nonrandom errors, adjustments of the sample estimates are often made. For example, adjustments are frequently made for nonresponse, both total and partial. Total nonresponse refers to a case in which no usable survey responses were obtained from a sample person. Partial or item nonresponse refers to a case in which only a portion of the survey items was not obtained.

Adjustments made for either type of nonresponse are often referred to as imputations. Imputation for total nonresponse is usually made essentially by substituting for the questionnaire responses of the nonrespondents the "average" questionnaire responses of the respondents. These imputations are usually made separately within various groups of sample members, formed by attempting to place respondents and nonrespondents together that have "similar" survey characteristics. Imputation for item nonresponse is usually made by substituting for a missing item the response to that item of a respondent having characteristics that are "similar" to those of the nonrespondent.

For an estimate calculated from a sample survey, the total error in the estimate is composed of the sampling error, which can usually be estimated from the sample, and the nonsampling error, which usually cannot be estimated from the sample. The total error present in a population quantity obtained from a complete census is composed of only nonsampling errors. Ideally, estimates of the total error associated with data given in the Statistical Abstract tables should be given. However, due to the unavailability of estimates of nonsampling errors, only estimates of the levels of sampling errors, in terms of estimated standard errors or coefficients of variation, are available.

Principal data bases.—Beginning on page 948 are brief descriptions of 39 of the sample surveys and censuses that provide a substantial portion of the data contained in this Abstract.

SUBJECT, SOURCE, TITLE, TABLES	UNIVERSE, FREQUENCY, TYPES OF DATA	TYPE OF DATA COLLECTION OPERATION
SECTION 1. POPULATION
Bureau of the Census Census of Population See tables citing Census of Population in section 1 and also in sections 2, 5, 7, 13, 14, 16, 22, 28, and 32.	Complete count of U.S. population conducted every 10 years since 1790; every 5 years beginning 1985. Data obtained on number and characteristics of inhabitants.	In 1970, complete census for some items—age, sex, race, marital status, and relationship to household head. Other items collected from a 5% and a 15% probability sample of the population.
Current Population Survey (CPS) See tables citing Current Population Reports primarily in section 1, but also in sections 2, 4, 5, 11, 13, 14, 16, 24, and 32. Many Bureau of Labor Statistics' (BLS) tables in section 13 are CPS based.	Monthly survey of civilian noninstitutional population, 14 years old or over, to obtain data on employment, unemployment, and a number of other characteristics.	Multistage probability sample of about 55,000 households in 376 PSU's. A continual sample rotation system is used. Households are in sample 4 months, out for 8 months, and in for 4 more. Month-to-month overlap is 75%; year-to-year overlap is 50%.
SECTION 2. VITAL STATISTICS
National Center for Health Statistics Vital Registration System See tables 78–86, 91, and 102–112.	Annual data on births and deaths in the United States.	Mortality data based on complete file of death records, except 1972, based on 50% sample. Natality statistics for most years, 1951–1971, based on 50% sample of birth records received by NCHS. Beginning 1972, data from some States received through Cooperative Health Statistics System and complete file used; data from other States based on 50% sample.
(See section 1 above for information pertaining to tables 87–90, 92, 115, and 116.)
SECTION 4. HEALTH AND NUTRITION
National Center for Health Statistics Health Interview Survey (HIS) See tables 157, 179, 181–184, 186, 187, 195, and, in section 5, table 250.	Continuous data collection covering the civilian noninstitutional population to obtain information on personal and demographic characteristics, illnesses, injuries, impairments, chronic conditions, and other health topics.	Multistage probability sample of 41,000 households (in 376 PSU's) selected in groups of about four geographically adjacent households.
Master Facility Inventory (MFI) See tables 164, 173, and 175.	Annual survey of hospitals with 6 or more beds and biennial surveys of nursing and related care homes with 3 or more beds and other custodial or remedial care facilities to update file. Information obtained on names, locations, and types of facilities, and number of beds and residents or patients.	Complete census of eligible institutions. Comprehensive file periodically updated to include names and addresses of newly established inpatient facilities from State licensing agencies.
National Nursing Home Survey (NNHS) See tables 173 and 174.	Survey of 23,105 nursing homes, classified in 1973 Master Facility Inventory or open for business in 1976, conducted in the summer and winter of 1977. Data collected on expenditures, staff, and residents of nursing homes, and discharges from nursing homes.	Probability sample of 1,698 nursing homes. In each home, probability samples of about 5 residents, 4 discharges, and 10 employees chosen.

DATA COLLECTION AND IMPUTATION PROCEDURES	INFORMATION ON ERRORS IN THE DATA		SOURCES OF ADDITIONAL MATERIAL
	Estimates of sampling error	Other (nonsampling) errors
In 1970, extensive use of mail questionnaires in urban areas; personal interviews in most rural areas. Extensive telephone and personal followup for nonrespondents. Imputations made for missing characteristics.	The CV's for national and State estimates are generally very small. For example, the estimated CV for the estimated number of persons in poverty is less than 1% at the State and national level.	Based on the 1970 census evaluation, an estimate of the net undercount is 2.5%.	Bureau of the Census, Estimates of Coverage of the Population by Sex, Race, and Age: Demographic Analysis, PHC(E)-4; and Census of Population: 1970, PC(1)-C, Appendix C.
For first and fifth months that a household is in sample, personal interviews; other months, data collected by phone.	Estimated CV for labor force, total employment, and nonagricultural employment, .3 percent; for total unemployment and agricultural employment, 1.5 to 3.0 percent.	Unemployment underestimated by about .5 percent. Other statistics less biased. Four to 6 percent of sample households unavailable for interviews.	Bureau of the Census and Bureau of Labor Statistics, Concepts and Methods Used in Labor Force Statistics from Current Population Survey (Census series P-23, No. 62; BLS report No. 463) and Bureau of the Census, The Current Population Survey (Tech. Paper 40).
Reports based on records from registration offices of all States, District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, Guam, and certain cities.	For births, CV's are small due to large portion of total file in sample (except for very small estimated totals).	In 1964–1968, underregistration of births estimated to be .7%. Data on deaths believed to be as complete.	U.S. National Center for Health Statistics, Vital Statistics of the United States, 1976, vol. 1 and vol. II, part A and part B, forthcoming.
Personal household interviews. Extensive followup of nonrespondents. Data adjusted for nonresponse by imputation procedure based on "average" characteristics of persons in interviewed households in same geographic area.	Estimated CV's: For physician visits by males, 1.5%; for workdays lost by males, 3.5%; for persons injured at home, 4.7%	Response rate was 96% in 1976.	U.S. National Center for Health Statistics, Vital Statistics of the United States, series 10-No. 119, DHEW No. (PHS) 78-1547, Nov. 1977.
Mail questionnaires to facilities. Missing questionnaire items imputed by using either previously reported information or by using current data from similar responding facilities.	Not applicable.	The response rate in the 1976 survey of hospitals was about 92%. In 1976, coverage was 95% complete for nursing care and related homes and other custodial or remedial care facilities.	U.S. National Center for Health Statistics, "Design and Methodology of the 1967 Master Facility Inventory Survey", Vital and Health Statistics, PHS Pub. No. 1000, Series 1-No. 9, Jan. 1971.
Data on facilities through personal interviews with administrators; patient data through medical records; personal interviews with nurses and expenditure data by questionnaires to accountants; staff data by self-administered questionnaires. Data adjusted for nonparticipation of a home and for item nonresponse.	The provisional 1977 CV for estimated number of beds in proprietary homes was 4.7%; for residents in homes with less than 50 beds, 10%. In 1976, CV for days of care to residents in homes in Northeast was 4.7%.	Response rates were 94% for facilities, 99% for residents, 85% for expenditures, 81% for staff, and 97% for discharges.	U.S. National Center for Health Statistics, "A Comparison of Nursing Home Residents and Discharges from the 1977 NNHS: United States," Advance Data from Vital and Health Statistics, No. 29, May 17, 1978; "An Overview of Nursing Home Characteristics: 1977 NNHS—Provisional Data," Advance Data from Vital and Health Statistics, forthcoming.

SECTION 4. HEALTH AND NUTRITION—CON.
Health Care Financing Administration
Survey of Independent Health Insurance Plans See tables 147 and 148 and, in section 17, tables 909 and 910.	Annual survey of health insurance plans not underwritten by insurance companies or Blue Cross–Blue Shield (465 for 1972 census) to obtain operating characteristics, coverages, and financial data.	Complete census every 4 to 5 years; certainty sample of 32 large plans and random sample of remaining plans in other years.
SECTION 5. EDUCATION
National Center For Education Statistics (NCES)
Revenue and Expenditures for Public Elementary and Secondary Schools See tables 211, 212, 253–255, and, in section 32, table 1532.	Annual survey of U.S. public elementary and secondary schools, including U.S. outlying areas, to obtain data on school revenues and expenditures.	Complete census.
Statistics of Public Elementary and Secondary Schools See tables in section 5 which present data from NCES pertaining to State public school systems.	Annual survey of U.S. public elementary and secondary schools, including U.S. outlying areas, to obtain data on pupils, staff, estimated expenditures, and teachers salaries.	Complete census.
Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS) See tables 261–264, 267, 271, 273, 274, and 276.	Annual survey of all public and private two- and four-year colleges listed in the Education Directory: Colleges and Universities to obtain data on enrollment by sex, attendance status, grade level, financial status, and student charges.	Complete census.
Earned Degrees Conferred See tables 257 and 277–279.	Annual survey of institutions listed in the Education Directory, 1973–1974, Higher Education, granting bachelor's, master's, and doctorate degrees (1,857 in 1975–76) in the U.S. and outlying areas to obtain information on the number and level of degrees conferred per university, by field of degree and sex of student.	Complete census.
(See section 1 above for information pertaining to the Bureau of the Census; and section 2 above for National Center for Health Statistics data.)
SECTION 6. LAW ENFORCEMENT, FEDERAL COURTS, AND PRISONS
Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA)
National Crime Survey See tables 291–294.	Monthly survey of individuals, households, and commercial establishments in the U.S. to obtain data on criminal victimization of those units for compilation of annual estimates.	National probability sample survey of about 72,000 households in 376 PSU's selected from a list of addresses from the 1970 census, supplemented by new construction permits. Also, an establishment sample of about 15,000 establishments selected from 34 PSU's increased in 1976 to about 50,000 establishments from 58 PSU's.
(See section 2 above for details pertaining to tables 295, 296, and 298; section 10 for details on tables 309 and 311; and section 30 for table 314.)

DATA COLLECTION AND IMPUTATION PROCEDURES	INFORMATION ON ERRORS IN THE DATA		SOURCES OF ADDITIONAL MATERIAL
	Estimates of sampling error	Other (nonsampling) errors
Mail questionnaire with telephone followup.	Not applicable.	Item nonresponse rate was about 25% for enrollment data and 30% for financial data in 1972 census. In 1972, 383 plans out of 465 provided usable responses.	U.S. Health Care Financing Administration, HCFA Health Notes, "Independent Health Insurance Plans," published annually.
Mail survey with followup for nonresponse through direct contact or other records.	Not applicable.	Some distortion in expenditures by function due to variations in State accounting systems.	U.S. National Center for Education Statistics, Revenues and Expenditures for Public Elementary and Secondary Education, 1975–76.
Mail survey. Imputations for missing data included in national totals; imputations are derived based on data reported over previous 5 years.	Not applicable.	Arise from differences in interpretation of questions, definitions, and instructions.	U.S. National Center for Education Statistics, Statistics of Public Elementary and Secondary Day Schools, published annually.
Survey package mailed in spring; followup procedures for nonrespondents. Missing data imputed by using data for an earlier year, adjusted for trends observed in earlier HEGIS surveys, or data of similar institutions.	Not applicable.	For 1976, 100% response rate for enrollment data; 94% response rate for financial statistics of institutions. Imputed expenditures amounted to about 3% of total expenditures in 1976.	U.S.National Center for Education Statistics, Financial Statistics of Institutions of Higher Education: Fiscal Year 1976, State Data.
Conducted by mail, with mail and phone followup. Missing data imputed by using previous year's reports.	Not applicable.	Due to nature of institutional record keeping, number of specialized undergraduate degrees understated; not all types of degrees identified on survey form.	U.S. National Center for Education Statistics, Earned Degrees Conferred, 1975–76, Summary Data.
Personal interviews conducted every 6 months for 3 years for each household in sample; for indefinite period for establishments in sample. 12,000 households and 2,500 establishments (8,300 in 1976) enumerated monthly.	CV in 1976: 4% for estimate of personal robbery counts; 1.6% for household burglary count.	For establishments, nonresponse rate about 1%. For household survey, 4% of eligible households were not interviewed and 2% of persons within responding households did not participate.	U.S. Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, Criminal Victimization in the United States, A Comparison of 1975 and 1976 Findings, Report No. SD-NCS-N-8, Nov. 1977.

SECTION 8. PUBLIC LANDS, PARKS, RECREATION, AND TRAVEL
Bureau of the Census Census of Transportation National Travel Survey See tables 410 and 411.	Survey of all persons in the U.S. conducted every 5 years to obtain information on number and characteristics of long-distance trips and all other trips in a designated 24-hour period.	Probability sample of about 24,000 households in which residents were asked about trips they had taken.
SECTION 10. STATE AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT FINANCES AND EMPLOYMENT
Bureau of the Census Census of Governments See tables in section 10 citing Census of Governments; in section 11, tables 537 and 538; and in section 16, table 830.	Survey of all governmental units in the U.S. conducted every 5 years to obtain data on government revenue, expenditures, debt, employment and employee-retirement systems, property values, public school systems, and number, size, and structure of governments.	Complete census. List of units derived through classification of government units recently authorized in each State and identification, counting, and classification of existing local governments and public school systems.
Annual Survey of State and Local Government. See tables citing Public Employment and Governmental Finances.	Sample survey conducted annually to obtain data on revenue, expenditure, debt, and employment of State and local governments. Universe is all governmental units in the U.S. (about 80,000).	Sample of about 16,000 units includes all State governments, county governments with 50,000+ population, municipalities with 25,000+ population, and other governments meeting certain financial criteria; probability sample for remaining units.
SECTION 11. SOCIAL INSURANCE AND WELFARE SERVICES
Social Security Administration Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) See tables 549, 562–564, 566, 567, and 569.	Survey conducted periodically of all families receiving financial assistance under the AFDC program.	Probability sample survey of .5% of each State's caseload. Sample size was 33,809 families in 1973 and 31,063 families in 1975.
Benefit Data See tables 532–534 and 571.	All persons receiving monthly benefits under Title II of Social Security Act. Data on types of benefits paid, State monthly benefits, benefits withheld and terminated, and value of benefits awarded.	Data based on administrative records.
Supplemental Security Income Program (SSI) See tables 522, 562–565, 568, and 570.	All eligible aged, blind, or disabled persons receiving SSI benefit payments under SSI program. Data include number of persons receiving federally administered SSI, amounts paid, and State administered supplementation.	Data based on administrative records.

DATA COLLECTION AND IMPUTATION PROCEDURES	INFORMATION ON ERRORS IN THE DATA		SOURCES OF ADDITIONAL MATERIAL
	Estimates of sampling error	Other (nonsampling) errors
Quarterly personal interviews in census year, supplemented by telephone followups.	S.E. for estimate of total household trips (79,926,000) in the first quarter of 1977 is approximately 3,106,000.	Areas of possible nonsampling errors include memory loss on the part of the respondents in reporting trips and in the methods used to estimate trip mileage. Problems in the representation of new construction and mobile homes, and in undercoverage of persons in households also create nonsampling errors. The nonresponse rate was about 10%.	Bureau of the Census, Census of Transportation: 1977, National Travel Survey, Report No. TC77-N-1.
Field compilation of financial data from official records and reports for States and large local governments; mail canvas of other units, with mail and telephone followups.	Not applicable.	Some response errors may arise due to respondents interpretation of definitions and instructions.	Bureau of the Census, Census of Governments, 1977, various reports.
Field compilation of financial data from official records and reports for States and large local governments; mail canvas of other units with mail and telephone followups of nonrespondents. Data for nonresponses imputed from previous year.	CV for estimates of major employment and financial items are generally less than 2% for most States and less than 1% for the majority of States.	Nonresponse rate about 15% for number of units (about 5% for value items). Other possible errors may result from undetected inaccuracies in classification, response, and processing.	Bureau of the Census, Public Employment in 1976, GE 76, No. 1, and Governmental Finances in 1975–76, GF 76, No. 5.
Data obtained through administrative records.	S.E. for estimated recipient rates, .5% or less for States.	Processing errors, which are believed to be small.	Social Security Administration, Findings of the 1975 Study, September 1977.
Records used consist of actions pursuant to applications for benefits, updated by subsequent post-entitlement actions.	Not applicable.	See above.	Social Security Administration, Annual Statistical Supplement to the Social Security Bulletin.
Data adjusted to reflect returned checks and overpayment refunds. For federally administered, actual adjusted amounts used; for State administered, payments deflated for average rate across all States.	Not applicable.	See above.	See above.

SECTION 13. LABOR FORCE, EMPLOYMENT, AND EARNINGS
Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) Current Employment Statistics Program (CES) See tables 660, 673–676, 682, 683, 686, and 687.	Monthly survey covering about 4 million nonagricultural establishments to obtain data on employment, hours, and earnings, by industry.	Probability sample survey of about 160,000 establishments.
(See section 1 above for information pertaining to the Current Population Survey.)
SECTION 14. INCOME, EXPENDITURES, AND WEALTH (See section 1 above for information pertaining to the Current Population Survey.)
SECTION 15. PRICES
Bureau of Labor Statistics Consumer Price Index (CPI) See tables 141, 781, 782, 792–796, and 802.	Monthly survey of price changes of all types of consumer goods and services purchased by urban wage earners and clerical workers (prior to revisions introduced in 1978).	Sample of various consumer items in 56 urban areas.
Producer Price Index See tables 781, 782, and 785–788; in section 25, table 1268; in section 28, table 1358; and, in section 29, table 1445.	Monthly survey of producing companies to determine price change of all commodities produced or imported for sale in commercial transactions in primary markets in the U.S. Data on agriculture, forestry, fishing, manufacturing, mining, gas, electricity, and public utilities.	Nonprobability sample of 2,800 commodities and about 10,000 respondents.

	Estimates of sampling error	Other (nonsampling) errors
Cooperating State agencies mail questionnaires to sample establishments to develop State and local estimates; information forwarded to BLS where national estimates prepared.	Estimated CV for average weekly hours paid, .1%; for average hourly earnings, .2%.	Incorrect responses believed to be somewhat offsetting. Estimates of employment adjusted annually to reflect complete universe. Average adjustment of .2%.	U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, Employment and Earnings, Explanatory Data, tables I–O.
Prices of 400 items obtained from about 1,800 food outlets, 30,000 tenants, and 16,000 other reporters in 56 areas. Prices of most goods and services obtained monthly in the 5 largest areas and every 3 months in others.	Estimates of standard errors for monthly, quarterly, and annual percent changes respectively are: All items (.04, .05, .10); food at home (.10, .11, .22); food away from home (.08, .14, .31); housing (.06, .10, .18); apparel and upkeep (.15, .27, .25); transportation (.07, .12, .20); medical care (.14, .19, .27); personal care (.16, .26, .64); reading and recreation (.09, .16, .33); and other goods and services (.11, .12, .18).	Errors result from inaccurate reporting, difficulties in defining concepts and their operational implementation, lack of systematic method for incorporating new outlets in the sample, and introduction of product quality changes and new products.	See text, pp. 481–482.
Data collected by mail. If transaction prices not supplied, list prices used. Some prices obtained from trade publications, organized exchanges, and government agencies. To calculate index, price changes multiplied by their relative weights based on total net selling value of all commodities in 1972.	Not applicable.	Transaction prices at time of shipment not always available, so list and order prices sometimes used. Only about half of the total value of the mining and manufacturing sectors covered by current program. Double counting bias present because gross shipment values are used as weights.	U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, Handbook of Methods, Bulletin 1910 (1976).

SECTION 22. TRANSPORTATION—LAND
Bureau of the Census 1972 Truck Inventory and Use Survey See table 1106.	Survey of truck owners conducted every five years to obtain data on truck resources, excluding government owned vehicles.	Probability sample of 114,000 trucks (private and commercial) from 20 million registrations on file in motor vehicle departments in the States and District of Columbia.
(See section 1 above for information pertaining to tables 1107 and 1108 and section 2 for information pertaining to table 1088.)
SECTION 23. TRANSPORTATION—AIR AND WATER
Bureau of the Census Foreign Trade—Export Statistics See Bureau of the Census citations for export statistics in source notes in sections 23 and 31 and also tables 1217, 1314, and 1541.	The export declarations collected by Customs are processed each month to obtain data on the movement of U.S. merchandise exports to foreign countries. Data obtained include value, quantity, and shipping weight of exports by commodity, by country of destination, by Customs district of exportation, and by mode of transportation.	Shipper's Export Declarations are required to be filed for the exportation of merchandise valued over $250. Customs officials collect and transmit the documents on a flow basis for data compilation. Probability sampling is used in the compilation process for low-value shipments (which account for 3% of total value), i.e., shipments to Canada valued $251–$1,999 and to other countries valued $251–$999.
Foreign Trade—Import Statistics See Bureau of the Census citations for import statistics in source notes in sections 23 and 31 and also tables 1314 and 1541.	The import entry documents collected by Customs are processed each month to obtain data on the movement of merchandise imported into the United States. Data obtained include value, quantity, and shipping weight by commodity, by country of origin, by Customs district of entry, and by mode of transportation.	Import entry documents are required to be filed for the importation of goods into the United States. Customs officials collect and transmit statistical copies of the documents on a flow basis for data compilation. A 1% sample of entries is processed for shipments valued $250 or less, which account for less than .5% of the total import value.
SECTION 24. AGRICULTURE
Bureau of the Census 1974 Census of Agriculture See tables citing Census of Agriculture in section 24 and, in section 32, table 1542.	Census of all farm operators in the U.S. every five years, to obtain data on farm acreage, crops and livestock, equipment, farm sales, income, expenses, and other items, by State and county.	Complete census of most farms; sample of other farms. Self enumeration by mail using lists of persons and organizations in agriculture maintained by Internal Revenue Service, Social Security, and Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).
U.S. Department of Agriculture, Economics, Statistics, and Cooperatives Service (ESCS) Basic Area Frame Sample See tables citing ESCS in source notes in section 24 and tables 1281, 1282, and 1433 which pertain to this or the following two surveys.	Two annual surveys of all U.S. farm operators in the U.S. June survey collects data on planted acreage and livestock inventories; December survey collects data on livestock inventories and fall-seeded crop acreage.	Stratified probability sample of about 16,000 land area units of about 1 sq. mile (range from .1 sq. mile in cities to several sq. miles in open grazing areas). Sample includes 60,000 parcels of agricultural land. About 20% of the sample replaced annually.

	Estimates of sampling error	Other (nonsampling) errors
Questionnaire mailed to owner of each truck. Two mail followups for nonrespondents.	Estimated CV's for major characteristics at State level, 1% to 2%; much larger CV's for detailed characteristics.	Response rate of 90%. Sample verification of coding and punching allowed maximum of 3% error in average quality.	U.S. Bureau of the Census, Census of Transportation: 1972, vol. II, Truck Inventory and Use Survey.
Statistical copies of Shipper's Export Declarations received on a daily basis from Customs ports throughout the country are subjected to a monthly processing cycle. They are fully processed to the extent they reflect items valued $1,000 and over, and in the case of exports to Canada, $2,000 and over. Estimates for shipments valued at $250 or less are made, based on established percentages of individual country totals.	Estimated CV's for total value of exports about .1% and, for major commodity groupings, about 1%. CV's less than 1% for total value over $10 million, less than 2% for totals between $3 million and $10 million, and less than possible errors due to rounding for values less than $3 million.	Clerical and complex computer checks intercept most processing errors and minimize otherwise significant reporting errors; other nonsampling errors are caused by undercounting of exports to Canada due to the nonreceipt of some Shipper's Export Declarations.	U.S. Bureau of the Census, U.S. Exports, Schedule E, Commodity by Country, FT 410.
Statistical copies of import entry documents, received on a daily basis from Customs ports of entry throughout the country, are subjected to a monthly processing cycle. They are fully processed to the extent they reflect items valued $251 and over.	Estimated CV for world area and country totals less than .1% for totals over $20 million; less than .5% for totals between $1 million and $20 million and less than possible errors due to rounding for values less than $1 million.	Verification of statistical data reporting by Customs officials prior to transmittal and a subsequent program of clerical and computer checks hold nonsampling errors arising from reporting and/or processing errors to a minimum.	U.S. Bureau of the Census, U.S. General Imports, Schedule A, Commodity by Country, FT 135.
Questionnaire to all farms with $2,500+ sales; shorter questionnaire to other (only a sample from ASCS list if not also on other lists). Nonrespondent followup by letters and phone calls. Published data adjusted for nonresponse, but not for underenumeration.	Standard errors by county and State for farm acreage, value of land and buildings, various crop and livestock values given in Appendix A tables of each 1974 State volume. The estimated CV for U.S. land in farms and value of crops sold is .04%.	Undercoverage of farms (chiefly small farms) was about 11% nationally; amount of land missed 7%; and value of farm products sold underestimated by 3%. Estimates of undercoverage in each State in 1969 and 1974 given in State volumes. Adjustment for farm nonresponse as a percent of the U.S. total represented 12.3% for number of farms, 5.9% for land in farms, and 4.1% for value of products sold.	U.S. Bureau of the Census, Census of Agriculture, 1974, State and county volumes and vol. IV, part 3, Coverage Evaluation.
Data collection by personal enumeration. Imputation based on enumerator observation or data reported by respondents having similar agricultural characteristics.	CV's range from 1% to 2% for national estimates of major crop acreage and livestock inventories and from 3% to 8% for corresponding State estimates.	Minimized through rigid quality controls on the collection process and careful review of all reported data.	U.S. Department of Agriculture, SRS, Scope and Methods of the Statistical Reporting Service, Miscellaneous Publication No. 1308, July 1975.

SECTION 24. AGRICULTURE, —CON.
Multiple Frame Surveys	Surveys of all U.S. farm operators to obtain data on major livestock inventories, selected crop acreages and production, and farm labor characteristics; and to obtain farm economic data for price indexing.	Primary frame from general or special purpose lists, supplemented by a probability sample of land areas.
Objective Yield Surveys	Surveys for data on corn, cotton, potatoes, soybeans, and wheat to forecast and estimate yields.	Random location of plots in probability sample of fields. Fields selected in June or December from Basic Area Frame Sample (see above).
(See section 1 above for information pertaining to the Current Population Survey, and section 23 for information pertaining to table 1217.)
SECTION 28. CONSTRUCTION AND HOUSING
Bureau of the Census
Census of Construction Industries See tables 1361–1363 and, in section 32, table 1537.	Census every five years. In 1972 it covered all establishments primarily engaged in contract construction, in construction for sale on their own account (operative builders), or in subdividing real property into lots (438,000 firms with paid employees, 483,000 without paid employees).	Probability sample of 145,000 firms, which comprised all medium and large size employers in the universe and a probability sample of small employers. Also all 483,000 firms without paid employees are included in the sample coverage.
Monthly Survey of New Construction See tables 1366–1368, 1370, 1371, 1392, and 1393.	Survey conducted monthly of newly constructed housing units (excluding mobile homes, and nonhousekeeping residential buildings such as motels, hotels, courts, and cabins). Data collected on the start, completion, and sale of housing. (Annual figures are aggregates of monthly estimates.)	Probability sample of housing units obtained from building permits selected from 14,000 permit-issuing places. (Estimates for those places adjusted to account for buildings not requiring permits.) For nonpermit places, multistage probability sample of new housing units selected in 137 PSU's. In those areas, "knowledgable" persons provide list of housing starts verified by phone or visit; areas also canvassed.
Value of New Construction Put in Place See tables 1353 and 1354.	Survey conducted monthly on total value of all construction put in place in the current month, both public and private projects. Construction values include costs of materials and labor, contractors' profits, overhead costs, cost of architectural and engineering work, and miscellaneous project costs. (Annual figures are aggregates of monthly estimates.)	Varies by type of activity: Total cost of private one-family houses started each month is distributed into value in place using fixed patterns of monthly construction progress; using a multistage probability sample, data for private multifamily housing are obtained by mail from owners of multiunit projects. Data for residential additions and alterations are obtained in a quarterly survey measuring expenditures; monthly estimates are interpolated from quarterly data. Estimates of private nonhousekeeping, nonresidential buildings and State and local government construction are obtained by mail from owners (or agents) for a probability sample of projects; estimates of farm nonresidential construction expenditures are based on U.S. Department of Agriculture annual estimates of construction; public utility estimates are obtained from reports submitted to Federal regulatory agencies and from private utility companies; estimates for all other private construction (nonbuilding) are obtained by phasing F. W. Dodge contract award data; government estimates of Federal construction are based on monthly data supplied by Federal agencies.

	Estimates of sampling error	Other (nonsampling) errors
Mail or personal interviews used for initial data collection. Mail nonrespondent followup by phone, mail, and personal interviews.	Estimated CV for number of hired farm workers is about 3%. See above for CV's of other national and State estimates.	Nonresponse rates vary from 5% to 15%.	See above.
Enumerators and analysts count and measure plant characteristics in sample fields.	CV's for national estimates of production are about 2% to 3%.	See above.	See above.
Survey data for employers collected by questionnaire. IRS business tax forms used for establishments without paid employees. Followup on problems with questionnaire responses. Within industry, by State cross-classifications, missing data imputed based on relationships of known responses to administrative data.	Estimated CV of about 1% at national level for estimated totals of all construction and about .5% for construction subindustries.	Response rate 85% to 90% for most items. Computer scan used to indentify incomplete questionnaires for review.	U.S. Bureau of the Census, Census of Construction Industries, 1972, vol. 1, Industry and Special Statistics.
Data obtained by telephone inquiry and field visit.	Estimated CV of 3% to 4% for estimates of national totals; as high as 20% for estimated totals of more detailed characteristics, such as residential multi-unit structures.	Response rate over 90% for most items. Nonsampling errors attributed to definitional problems, differences in interpretation of questions, incorrect reporting, inability to obtain information about all cases in the sample, and processing errors.	U.S. Bureau of the Census, Construction Reports, Series C20, Housing Starts, C22; Housing Completions, C25; Housing Sales; and C27, Price Index of New One-Family Houses Sold.
See "Type of Data Collection Operation". Imputation accounts for approximately 20% of estimated value of construction each month.	CV estimates for private nonresidential building construction range from 1% for estimated number of office buildings to 6% for religious institutions. CV approximately 1% for total new private nonresidential buildings.	For directly measured data series based on samples, some nonsampling errors may arise from processing errors, imputations, and misunderstanding of questions. Indirect data series are dependent on the validity of the underlying assumptions and procedures.	U.S. Bureau of the Census, Construction Reports, Series C30, Value of New Construction Put in Place.

SECTION 28. CONSTRUCTION AND HOUSING—CON.
Census of Housing See tables 986, 1373-1377, 1379, 1382, and 1394.	Census of all occupied and vacant housing, excluding group quarters, conducted every 10 years as part of the decennial census (see section 1 above) to determine adequacy and quality of U.S. housing.	For 1970, a complete count of 12 housing items. Other items collected from 5% and 15% probability samples selected for two sets of detailed questions on housing (these two sets having some common items). Mailing lists compiled from several sources and checked by the Post Office were supplemented with listings of possible housing units observed by enumerators.
Annual Housing Survey See tables citing Annual Housing Survey in source notes in section 28 and, in section 19, table 986.	Conducted nationally in the fall of each year to obtain data on the approximately 80 million occupied or vacant housing units in the U.S. (group quarters are excluded). Data include characteristics of occupied housing units, housing inventory changes, vacant units, new housing and mobile home units, recently relocated households, and housing and neighborhood quality indicators.	The national sample is a multistage probability sample with about 75,500 units eligible for interview. Sample units, selected within 461 PSU's, are surveyed over a 3-month period.
Housing Vacancy Survey See tables 1388 and 1389.	Survey to obtain data on vacancy rates, characteristics of vacant units, tenure of occupied units from 1 sample; and characteristics of occupied units from a second.	Consists of 2 samples: First one from CPS (see section 1 above); second sample, the Quarterly Household Survey (QHS), is a probability sample of 6,000 households in 103 PSU's.
(See section 1 above for information pertaining to the Census of Population.)
SECTION 29. MANUFACTURES
Bureau of the Census Census of Manufactures See tables citing Census of Manufactures in source notes in section 29 and also tables 598, 947, 992, 993, 999, 1091, 1271, and 1538.	Conducted every five years to obtain information on labor materials, capital input and output characteristics, plant location, and legal form of organization for all plants in the U.S. with one or more employees.	Complete enumeration of survey frame, which contained about 312,000 firms, obtained from IRS and Social Security Administration records. In 1972, about 120,000 firms were small single-unit firms; about 104,000 firms with no employees were excluded.
Annual Survey of Manufactures See tables citing Annual Survey of Manufactures in source notes in section 29.	Conducted annually to provide basic measures of manufacturing activity for intercensal years for all manufacturing establishments having one or more paid employees.	Sampling frame is 312,000 firms in the 1972 Census of Manufactures (see above), supplemented by Social Security Administration lists of new manufacturers, from which a probability sample of 70,000 establishments is selected. All companies having at least one establishment with 250+ employees included in the sample along with a sample of other companies. All establishments within selected companies are included.

(See section 24 above for information pertaining to table 1433 and section 15 for information pertaining to table 1445.)

	Estimates of sampling error	Other (nonsampling) errors
In 1970, a self-enumeration census using a mail-out/mail-back procedure used in most areas (previously, enumerators visited households). Followup for nonrespondents and identification of vacant units done by phone and personal visit.	Estimated CV's of the estimates at the national level are very small. Most of the CV's are less than .6%. As an example, the estimated CV for the estimated number of housing units with warm air furnaces is less than .03%.	In 1970, undercount of housing units estimated at 1.4%; 1950 undercount, 2.3%, and 1960 undercount, 2%. Estimates of various censuses not strictly comparable due to differences in timing, procedures, etc.	U.S. Bureau of the Census, U.S. Census of Population and Housing: Procedural History, 1960 and 1970.
Survey conducted by personal interview with subsequent followup by telephone or personal visit.	For the national sample, illustrations of the S.E. of the estimates are provided in the appendix of each report. As an example, the estimated CV is about .3% for the estimate of the number of owner occupied housing units.	Errors result from incorrect or incomplete responses, errors in coding and recording, and processing errors. For the 1976 national sample, about 700,000 units were not included in the sample coverage. A multistage estimation procedure corrected coverage deficiencies for the total, but subtotal biases still remain. A reinterview study also indicates some inconsistencies in the data.	U.S. Bureau of the Census, Current Housing Reports, Series H-150 and H-170, Annual Housing Survey.
First contact with a household is personal interview; subsequent interviews often conducted by phone.	As an example, S.E. for estimated annual average vacancy rate for rental units with six units or more is .2%. Other S.E.'s shown in census publication.	Due to interviews and respondent errors. Response rate for QHS is 95%. (See section 1 above for CPS.)	U.S. Bureau of the Census, Current Housing Reports, Series H-111, Housing Vacancies.
Data on single-unit firms estimated from administrative records; data on others from questionnaires. Five mail followups and phone calls to large companies held imputation from administrative records to a minimum. Approximately 4.1% of total value of shipments were unreported and required imputation.	Not applicable.	Based on evaluation studies, estimates of nonsampling errors are about 1.3% for estimated total payroll; 2% for total employment; and 1% for value of shipments.	U.S. Bureau of the Census, Census of Manufactures, 1972, vol. 1, Subject and Special Statistics.
Survey conducted by mail with phone and mail followups of nonrespondents.	Estimated S.E. for number of employees and for value added totals given in annual publications. For State totals, estimated CV's are 2% or less, but vary considerably for detailed characteristics.	Response rate about 85%. Nonsampling errors include response, collection, reporting, and transcription errors, many of which are corrected through computer and clerical checks.	U.S. Bureau of the Census, Annual Survey of Manufactures, and Technical Paper 24.

SECTION 30. DOMESTIC TRADE AND SERVICES
Bureau of the Census Census of Wholesale Trade, Census of Retail Trade, Census of Selected Service Industries See tables citing the above censuses or the Census of Business in source notes in section 30.	Conducted every five years to obtain data on number of establishments, number of employees, total payroll size, and total sales. In 1972, universe was all employer establishments primarily engaged in wholesale trade, and employer and nonemployer establishments primarily engaged in retail trade or selected service industries.	All wholesale firms with paid employees surveyed; all retail and selected service industries with 4+ paid employees surveyed plus a sample of smaller firms. Firms with no employees not required to file a census return.
Annual Retail Trade Survey See tables 1462, 1463, and 1466.	Annual survey to obtain estimates of retail sales and inventories in the U.S. for all employers and nonemployer retail establishments operating at the end of the calendar year.	Probability sample from firms in the sample of the Current Business Survey (CBS); see below. Sample consists of all firms in the CBS sample with 11+ establishments according to the most recent update of census files, and a probability sample of other organizations.
Current Business Surveys See tables 1461, 1464, 1465, 1474, 1477, 1478, and 1482.	Provides monthly estimates of services receipts in the U.S. by kind of industry, merchandise exchanges between wholesalers and other businesses, retail sales by kind of business and geographic area, and accounts-receivable balances of retail stores. Universe consists of all retail and selected service establishments and employer establishments primarily engaged in wholesale trade.	Probability sample of establishments from a list frame and an area frame. List frame is the Bureau's Standard Statistical Establishment List (SSEL) updated quarterly for recent "births" from the Social Security Administration list of establishments having an employer identification number. The largest firms are included monthly; a sample of others is included every three months on a rotating basis. The area frame covers business not subjected to sampling on the list frame. The area sample consists of selected land segments in which all inscope businesses are canvassed and those businesses determined not to be subjected to sampling on the list frame are tabulated.

	Estimates of sampling error	Other (nonsampling) errors
Mail and telephone followups for nonrespondents. Data for nonrespondents and "nonselected" firms in retail trade and selected services from administrative records of IRS and the Social Security Administration. Imputation from related responses or administrative records from IRS or SSA.	Not applicable.	Response rate 84.4% for single establishment firms; 92% for multi-establishment firms. Item response ranged from 60% to 90% with higher rates for less detailed questions.	U.S. Bureau of the Census, Appendix A of Census of Retail Trade, vol. 1: Census of Selected Services, vol. 1; Census of Wholesale Trade, vol. 1; and Economic Censuses, Procedural History, January 1976.
Survey questionnaire mailed early in year and followed by mail and phone followups. Imputation based on previous reports of the firm in current monthly surveys or latest business census, supplemented by administrative records.	CV for national estimates of total sales and inventories is about 3.5%. For more detailed estimates by kind of business, or geographic areas, estimated CV's range from 0 to 7%, occasionally as high as 10.5%.	Nonresponse rate, 5% or less. Incomplete response ranges from 5% for inventories to 9% for sales.	U.S. Bureau of the Census, Retail Trade, 1975, BR-75-13; and Census of Retail Trade, 1972, vol. 1, Chapter 2.
Imputation made for each nonresponse item and each item failing edit checks.	CV's about .6% for estimated total retail sales, 1.4% for wholesale sales, 1.2% for wholesale inventories, and 3.5% for selected service receipts. Sampling errors shown in monthly publications.	Nonresponse rate, 5% or refusals, about 10% monthly. Incomplete response for wholesale inventories and retail accounts receivable range between 20% and 25% monthly. Response error from area sample cases about .1%. Special studies indicate a tendency to underreport current month sales and exclude sales tax in sales reports.	U.S. Bureau of the Census, Monthly Retail Trade Reports, Monthly Wholesale Trade Reports, and Monthly Selected Services Receipts Reports.

APPENDIX IV

Guide to Sources of Statistics

Alphabetically arranged by subject, this guide contains references to the important primary sources of statistical information for the United States. Secondary sources have been included if the information contained in them is presented in a particularly convenient form or if primary sources are not readily available. Nonrecurrent publications presenting compilations or estimates for years later than 1968 or types of data not available in regular series are also included.

Much valuable information may also be found in State reports (see pp. 1008–1011) and in reports for particular commodities, industries, or similar segments of our economic and social structure, many of which are not included here.

Publications listed under each subject are divided into two main groups: "U.S. Government" and "Other." The location of the publisher of each report is given except for Federal agencies located in Washington, D.C. Most Federal publications may be purchased from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, tel. (202) 783-3238, or from Government Printing Office bookstores in certain major cities. In some cases, Federal publications may be obtained from the issuing agency.

Major reports, such as the Census of Population, which consist of many volumes, are listed by their general, all-inclusive titles.

Abortions—see Vital Statistics.

Bureau of the Census Publications

In most cases, separate reports of the most recent censuses are available for each State, subject, industry, etc. Complete information on publications of all the censuses and current surveys conducted by the Bureau of the Census appears in the Bureau of the Census Catalog, which is published quarterly and cumulated to the annual issue, with monthly supplements. A list of data files (computer tapes and punchcards) and unpublished materials is also included, beginning with the 1964 issues. A sample copy of the Catalog is available from the Bureau of the Census on request. The annual subscription price is $19.00 for 4 quarterly issues and 12 monthly supplements ($4.75 additional for foreign mailing).

Guide to State Statistical Abstracts

This bibliography includes the most recent statistical abstracts for States and Puerto Rico published since 1969 plus those that will be issued in late 1978 or early 1979. For some States, a near equivalent has been listed in substitution for, or in addition to, a statistical abstract. All sources contain statistical tables on a variety of subjects for the State as a whole, its component parts, or both. The page counts given for publications cited as "In process" are approximate.
