Appendix A.
General Explanation

CENSUS COVERAGE AND METHODOLOGY

Structure and method of enumeration. Firms in the 1992 Census of Service Industries were divided into the nonmail universe and mail universe. The coverage and the method of obtaining census information from each follow:

1. The nonmail universe consisted of firms which were not required to file a regular census return and included:

   a. All taxable nonemployers, i.e., all firms subject to Federal income tax with no paid employees during 1992. Receipts information for these firms was obtained from administrative records of other Federal agencies. Although consisting of many firms, nonemployers accounted for less than 10 percent of total receipts of all establishments covered in the census.

      The census included only those service nonemployer firms which reported a receipts volume of $1,000 or more during 1992. Establishments exempt from Federal income tax with no paid employees were excluded as in previous censuses.

      Data for nonemployers are not included in this report but are provided in a subsequent Nonemployer Statistics report (SC92-N-1).

   b. Selected small employers, i.e., single-establishment firms with payroll below a specified cutoff. (The term ''employers'' refers to firms with one or more paid employees at any time during 1992 as shown in the active administrative records of other Federal agencies.) Although the payroll cutoff varied by kind of business, small employers generally included firms with less than 10 employees and represented about 10 percent of total receipts of establishments covered in the census.

      Data on receipts, payroll, and employment for employer firms below the payroll cutoff were derived or estimated from administrative records of other Federal agencies, except for a sample of small employer firms in classifications for which specialized data requirements precluded reliance solely on administrative records sources. This sample was included in the mail universe.

2. The mail universe consisted of firms for which information was obtained by means of a mail canvass and included:

   a. Large employers, i.e., all multiestablishment firms, and all employer firms above the payroll size cutoff referred to in section 1b. Within this category, a report of company organization was conducted periodically to identify establishment locations of firms which operated at more than one location and to obtain information on payroll and mid-March employment at each location. The 1991 Report of Company Organization was used as a coverage check in the census. In the 1992 census, all multiestablishment firms were asked to notify the Census Bureau of any establishments for which a form was not received. Report forms were subsequently provided to the firms for these establishments.

   b. A sample of small employer firms in classifications for which specialized data precluded reliance solely on administrative records sources. These firms were sent the census mailing packages containing the appropriate 1992 questionnaire.

Method of classifying kinds of business. The service industries classifications for all establishments were based on the Standard Industrial Classification Manual: 1987[1] (SIC). However, the method of assigning these classifications, and the level of detail at which establishments were classified, differed between the nonmail and mail universes as follows:

1. The nonmail universe

   a. Nonemployers were classified on the basis of information obtained from administrative records of other Federal agencies.

   b. Selected small employers were classified on the basis of the most current census kind-of-business classification available from one of the Census Bureau's current sample surveys or the 1987 census. Otherwise, the classification was obtained from administrative records of other Federal agencies.

      If the census or administrative record classifications proved inadequate (none corresponded to a 1992 census classification in the detail required for employers), the firm was sent a brief inquiry requesting information necessary to assign a 1992 census kind-of-business code.

2. Establishments in the mail universe were classified on the basis of their self-designation, answers to questions on receipts by type of service provided, and other special inquiries.

Method of assigning tax status. For kind-of-business classifications[2] where there were substantial numbers of taxable and tax-exempt establishments, establishments were classified based on the Federal income tax filing requirement for the establishment or organization. This classification was based primarily on the response to an inquiry on the census questionnaire. Establishments that indicated that all or part of their income was exempt from Federal income tax under provisions of section 501 of the IRS code were classified as tax-exempt; establishments indicating no such exemption were classified as taxable. All government-operated hospitals were classified as tax-exempt. For establishments in the nonmail universe, the tax status classification was based upon the type of tax return filed by the firm or organization.

For selected kind-of-business classifications[3] comprised primarily of tax-exempt establishments, all establishments in those classifications were defined as tax-exempt. All establishments in the remaining kind-of-business classifications (comprised primarily of taxable establishments) were defined as taxable.

COMPARABILITY OF THE 1987 AND 1992 CENSUSES

The 1987 and 1992 censuses were conducted under similar conditions and procedures except for the following:

Geographic areas. The boundaries of a number of areas for which data are shown in the 1992 census are not the same as in the 1987 census because of annexations; other boundary changes; and redefinitions of metropolitan statistical areas (MSA's), primary metropolitan statistical areas (PMSA's), and consolidated metropolitan statistical areas (CMSA's).[4] In addition, data for consolidated cities are included in the 1992 census.

Data for special economic urban areas (SEUA's) with 10,000 inhabitants or more in Michigan, Minnesota, New York, and Wisconsin qualified for publication in the 1992 census. This included townships in Michigan and Minnesota and towns in New York and Wisconsin. However, Minnesota did not have any townships that met the population criteria.

Employment. In 1987, employment data withheld to avoid disclosing data for individual companies were represented with the symbol ''(D).'' In 1992, withheld employment data are represented with symbols that denote employment size ranges. These symbols are defined in the introductory text.

Sources of receipts/ revenue. In 1987, data on sources of receipts/ revenue for selected industries were published with other industry-specific data in the Miscellaneous Subjects report (SC87-S-4) of the Subject Series. In 1992, sources of receipts/ revenue data are presented separately in the Sources of Receipts or Revenue report (SC92-S-4) of the Subject Series.

Receipts size of nonemployer establishments. In 1987, data on receipts size of nonemployer establishments were published in the Miscellaneous Subjects report (SC87-S-4) of the Subject Series. In 1992, receipts size data of nonemployer establishments are presented in the Nonemployer Statistics report (SC92-N-1).

TREATMENT OF NONRESPONSE

Census report forms included two different types of inquiries, ''basic'' and ''special.'' Basic or general inquiries, which included location, kind of business or operation, receipts or revenue, payroll, number of employees, and legal form of organization, were available from a combination of sources for all establishments. (See ''General Description of the Census'' in the Introduction.) Special inquiries, tailored to the particular kinds of business or operation covered by the report, were available only from establishments in the mail universe that completed the appropriate inquiries on the questionnaire.

Data for special inquiries in this report have been expanded in most tables to account for establishments that did not respond to the particular inquiry for which data are presented. Data presented for special inquiries based on a December 31 reference date have been expanded in direct relationship to total annualized receipts or revenue of only those establishments in business at the end of the year. Unless otherwise noted in specific tables, data for all other special inquiries have been expanded in direct relationship to total receipts or revenue of all establishments included on the data line. It is assumed that the characteristics of establishments not responding to a particular special inquiry are the same as those of establishments in the same category (publication table line) that did respond to the inquiry. In a few tables in this report, expansion on the basis of the receipts or revenue item was not appropriate, and another basic data item was used as the basis for expansion of reported data to account for nonrespondents.

All tables in which data are expanded to account for nonrespondents include a coverage indicator for each publication category, which shows the receipts or revenue establishments responding to the special inquiry as a percent of total receipts or revenue of all establishments for which data are shown. Where appropriate, other basic data items may be used in lieu of receipts or revenue. Unless otherwise noted in the specific table, data are shown in this report only for categories for which coverage, or level of response, was 60 percent or higher. Coverage is usually determined by the ratio of total receipts or revenue of establishments responding to the inquiry to total receipts or revenue of all establishments in the category.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS

Establishments. An establishment is a single physical location at which business is conducted. It is not necessarily identical with a company or enterprise, which may consist of one establishment or more. The count of establishments in this publication represents the number in business at the end of the year. A comparison of the number of establishments in business at the end of the year versus the number active any time during the year for the United States as a whole is presented by kind-of-business group in appendix G.

Census of Service Industries figures represent a summary of reports for individual establishments rather than companies. When a census report was received from a large employer indicating that business was conducted at more than one location, each such location was treated as a separate establishment. Conversely, when administrative records of other Federal agencies were used instead of a census report or when a company included in the 10-percent sample of small employers reported operations at more than one location, only one establishment was tallied in the publications. Consequently, the number of establishments published in the 1992 Census of Service Industries is understated.

An attempt was made to measure a part of this understatement by analyzing the 10-percent sample of small employers. There were 83,733 such service firms subject to Federal income tax in business at any time during 1992. Of this number, 74,989 responded to the number of locations inquiry and reported operations at 77,850 locations. By weighting these variables to account for the nonmail universe and assuming that firms in the sample that did not return their report would respond as those that did report, this sample representing 865,641 firms would have operated a total of 1,044,247 establishments. Also, there were 5,232 such service firms exempt from Federal income tax in business at any time during 1992. Of these, 4,884 responded to the number of locations inquiry and reported operations at 5,142 locations. By weighting these variables to account for the nonmail universe and making the same assumption as above, this sample representing 98,277 firms would have operated a total of 102,699 establishments.

When two activities or more were carried on at a single location under a single ownership, all activities generally were grouped together as a single establishment. The entire establishment was classified on the basis of its major activity and all data for it were included in that classification. However, when distinct and separate economic activities (for which different industry classification codes were appropriate) were conducted at a single location under a single ownership, and when conditions prescribed by the SIC manual for recognizing the existence of more than one establishment were met, separate establishment reports for each of the different activities were obtained in the census.

Leased service departments (separately owned businesses operated as departments or concessions of other service establishments or of retail businesses, such as a separately owned shoeshine parlor in a barber shop, or a beauty shop in a department store) are treated as separate service establishments for census purposes. Leased retail departments located in service establishments (e.g., a gift shop located in a hotel) are considered separate retail establishments.

Firms. A firm is a business organization or entity consisting of one domestic establishment (location) or more under common ownership or control. All establishments of subsidiary firms are included as part of the controlling firm. For the economic census, the terms ''firm'' and ''company'' are synonymous.

Receipts (Basic dollar volume measure for service establishments of firms subject to Federal income tax). Includes receipts from customers or clients for services rendered, from the use of facilities, and from merchandise sold during 1992 whether or not payment was received in 1992, except for health practitioners and legal, architectural, engineering, and surveying services, which reported on a cash basis (payments received in 1992 regardless of when services were rendered). Excise taxes on gasoline, liquor, tobacco, etc., which are paid by the manufacturer or wholesaler and passed on in the cost of goods purchased by the service establishment, are also included. Receipts from leasing of vehicles, equipment, etc., marketed under operating leases are included in receipts figures as well as the fair sales value of merchandise marketed in 1992 under capital, finance, or ''full payout'' leases. Receipts also include the total value of service contracts, amounts received for work subcontracted to others, and dues and assessments from members and affiliates.

Receipts are net after deductions for refunds and allowances for merchandise returned by customers. Receipts do not include sales, occupancy, admissions, or other taxes collected from customers and remitted directly by the firm to a local, State, or Federal tax agency, nor do they include income from such sources as contributions, gifts, and grants; dividends, interest, and investments; or sale or rental of real estate. Also excluded are rents from and receipts (gross as well as the establishment's share) of departments and concessions which are operated by others; sales of used equipment rented or leased to customers; commissions from vending machine operators; and other nonoperating income such as royalties, franchise fees, etc.

Receipts in this report do not include service receipts of manufacturers, wholesalers, retail establishments, or other businesses whose primary activity is other than service. They do, however, include receipts other than from services rendered (e.g., sale of merchandise to individuals or other businesses) by establishments primarily engaged in performing services and classified in the service industries.

Revenue (Basic dollar volume measure for firms exempt from Federal income tax). Includes revenue from customers or clients for services rendered and merchandise sold during 1992, whether or not payment was received in 1992. Also included are income from interest, dividends, gross contributions, gifts, grants (whether or not restricted for use in operations), rents, royalties, dues and assessments from members and affiliates, and receipts from fundraising activities. Receipts from taxable business activities of firms exempt from Federal income tax (Unrelated Business Income) are also included in revenue.

Revenue does not include sales, admissions, or other taxes collected by the organization from customers or clients and paid directly to a local, State, or Federal tax agency; income from the sale of real estate, investments, or other assets (except inventory held for resale); gross receipts of departments, concessions, etc., that are operated by others; and amounts transferred to operating funds from capital or reserve funds.

Annual payroll. Payroll includes all forms of compensation, such as salaries, wages, commissions, bonuses, vacation allowances, sick-leave pay, employee contributions to qualified pension plans, and the value of payments in kind (e.g., free meals and lodgings) paid during the year to all employees. Tips and gratuities received by employees from patrons and reported to employers are included. For corporations, payroll includes amounts paid to officers and executives; for unincorporated businesses, it does not include profit or other compensation of proprietors or partners. Payroll is reported before deductions for social security, income tax, insurance, union dues, etc. This definition of payroll is the same as that used by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) on form 941.

First-quarter payroll. This item consists of payroll, as defined above, paid to persons employed at any time during the quarter January to March 1992.

Paid employees for pay period including March 12. Paid employees consist of the full- and part-time employees, including salaried officers and executives of corporations, who were on the payroll during the pay period including March 12. Included are employees on paid sick leave, paid holidays, and paid vacations; not included are proprietors and partners of unincorporated businesses. The definition of paid employees is the same as that used on IRS form 941.

Auxiliary establishments. Each company included in this census was asked to identify and separately report auxiliary locations whose primary functions were to manage, administer, service, or support the activities of the other establishments of the company. Data presented in this report do not include auxiliary establishments. Data for auxiliaries are presented in a subsequent report issued as part of the 1992 Enterprise Statistics reports.

KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATIONS

Services, as defined in Division I of the 1987 Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) manual, includes establishments primarily engaged in rendering a wide variety of services to individuals, business and government establishments, and other organizations.

Establishments covered by the census were assigned kind-of-business classifications according to the industry classifications defined in the 1987 SIC manual. When a more detailed classification than defined in the SIC manual was needed, additional kinds of business were identified within an SIC industry.

The basis for a kind-of-business classification is described above in Method of Classifying Kinds of Business. Descriptions of those kinds of business for which data are provided in this report follow.

Hotels, Rooming Houses, Camps, and Other Lodging Places (SIC Major Group 70)

Noncommercial research organizations (SIC 8733). Establishments primarily engaged in performing research into and dissemination of information for public health, education, or general welfare. These establishments primarily operate on funds from endowments, contributions, and grants. Establishments which fund such research, although the actual research may be contracted out to other establishments, are also classified here.

Testing laboratories (SIC 8734). Establishments primarily engaged in providing testing services. Establishments performing clinical laboratory testing for the medical profession are classified in Industry 8071.

Management services (SIC 8741). Establishments primarily engaged in furnishing general or specialized management services on a day to day basis and on a contract or fee basis. Establishments classified here do not provide operating staff. Management and operation of a business, where operating staff as well as management is provided, is classified according to the activity of the establishment managed. Construction management services are classified here.

Management consulting services (SIC 8742). Establishments primarily engaged in furnishing operating counsel and assistance to managements of private, nonprofit, and public organizations. These establishments generally perform a variety of activities, such as strategic and organizational planning; financial planning and budgeting; marketing objectives and policies planning; information systems planning, evaluation, and selection; human resources policies and practices planning; and production scheduling and control planning.

Public relations services (SIC 8743). Establishments primarily engaged in the preparation of materials, written or spoken, which are designed to promote the interests of their clients by attempting to influence the general public or other groups.

Facilities support management services (SIC 8744). Establishments primarily engaged in furnishing personnel to perform a range of services in support of the operations of other establishments, or those engaged in providing a number of different continuing services, on a contract or fee basis, within other establishments. Establishments which provide management and staff to operate a business are classified according to the type of activity of the business. Establishments primarily providing one specialized service are classified in the specialized industry. Establishments primarily supplying temporary or continuing help (except agricultural) are classified in Industry 7363. Establishments which provide management services only (except agricultural) are classified in Industry 8741. Computer facilities management is classified in Industry 7376.

Business consulting services, n.e.c. (SIC 8748). Establishments primarily engaged in furnishing business consulting services, not elsewhere classified, on a contract or fee basis. Included are agricultural, economic, educational, and systems engineering consultants as well as city planners and testing services (educational or personnel).

Services, Not Elsewhere Classified (SIC Major Group 89)

Establishments primarily providing services, not elsewhere classified, such as artists (excluding commercial and medical artists), authors, scientific consultants (working on their own account), inventors, lecturers, music arrangers, newspaper columnists, radio commentators, song writers, weather forecasters, and writers.

There is evidence that among small employer establishments (for which kind-of-business information is obtained from administrative records), many service establishments are classified incorrectly in this industry because there is insufficient information to determine the correct kind-of-business classification. Therefore, the published data probably overstate the number of establishments and level of activity for this category.

For some tables of this report, data are presented for the following subdivisions of this classification:

1. Scientific and related consulting services, except environmental.
2. Environmental consulting.
3. Authors, composers, and other arts-related services.
4. Other services, n.e.c.

All data included in the printed reports are available on compact discs-read only memory (CD-ROM). The CD-ROM's provide the same information found in the final reports as well as additional information not published in the final reports, such as ZIP Code statistics available from series SC92-Z, and nonemployer data for counties and places from series SC92-N. Electronic media products are available for users who wish to summarize, rearrange, or process large amounts of data. These products, with corresponding technical documentation, are sold by Customer Services, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233-1900.

OTHER ECONOMIC CENSUS REPORTS

Data on retail trade, wholesale trade, financial, insurance, real estate, construction industries, manufactures, mineral industries, transportation, communications, utilities, enterprise statistics, minority-owned business enterprises, and women-owned businesses also are available from the 1992 Economic Census. A separate series of reports covers the census of outlying areas—Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands of the United States, Guam, and the Northern Marianas. Separate announcements describing these reports are available free of charge from Customer Services, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233-1900.

Introduction to the Economic Census

PURPOSES AND USES OF THE ECONOMIC CENSUS

The economic census is the major source of facts about the structure and functioning of the Nation's economy. It provides essential information for government, business, industry, and the general public.

The economic census furnishes an important part of the framework for such composite measures as the gross domestic product, input/output measures, production and price indexes, and other statistical series that measure short-term changes in economic conditions.

Policymaking agencies of the Federal Government use the data, especially in monitoring economic activity and providing assistance to business.

State and local governments use the data to assess business activities and tax bases within their jurisdictions and to develop programs to attract business.

Trade associations study trends in their own and competing industries and keep their members informed of market changes.

Individual businesses use the data to locate potential markets and to analyze their own production and sales performance relative to industry or area averages.

AUTHORITY AND SCOPE

Title 13 of the United States Code (sections 131, 191, and 224) directs the Census Bureau to take the economic census every 5 years, covering years ending in 2 and 7. The 1992 Economic Census consists of the following eight censuses:

- Census of Retail Trade
- Census of Wholesale Trade
- Census of Service Industries
- Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries
- Census of Transportation, Communications, and Utilities
- Census of Manufactures
- Census of Mineral Industries
- Census of Construction Industries

Special programs also cover enterprise statistics and minority-owned and women-owned businesses. (The 1992 Census of Agriculture and 1992 Census of Governments are conducted separately.) The next economic census is scheduled to be taken in 1998 covering the year 1997.

AVAILABILITY OF THE DATA

The results of the economic census are available in printed reports for sale by the U.S. Government Printing Office and on compact discs for sale by the Census Bureau. Order forms for all types of products are available on request from Customer Services, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233-1900. A more complete description of publications being issued from this census is on the inside back cover of this document.

Census facts are also widely disseminated by trade associations, business journals, and newspapers. Volumes containing census statistics are available in most major public and college libraries. Finally, State data centers in every State as well as business and industry data centers in many States also supply economic census statistics.

WHAT'S NEW IN 1992

The 1992 Economic Census covers more of the economy than any previous census. New for 1992 are data on communications, utilities, financial, insurance, and real estate, as well as coverage of more transportation industries. The economic, agriculture, and governments censuses now collectively cover nearly 98 percent of all economic activity.

Among other changes, new 1992 definitions affect the boundaries of about a third of all metropolitan areas. Also, the Survey of Women-Owned Businesses has now been expanded to include all corporations.

HISTORICAL INFORMATION

The economic census has been taken as an integrated program at 5-year intervals since 1967 and before that for 1963, 1958, and 1954. Prior to that time, the individual subcomponents of the economic census were taken separately at varying intervals.

The economic census traces its beginnings to the 1810 Decennial Census, when questions on manufacturing were included with those for population. Coverage of economic activities was expanded for 1840 and subsequent censuses to include mining and some commercial activities. In 1902, Congress established a permanent Census Bureau and directed that a census of manufactures be taken every 5 years. The 1905 Manufactures Census was the first time a census was taken apart from the regular every-10-year population census.

The first census of business was taken in 1930, covering 1929. Initially it covered retail and wholesale trade and construction industries, but it was broadened in 1933 to include some of the service trades.

The 1954 Economic Census was the first census to be fully integrated—providing comparable census data across economic sectors, using consistent time periods, concepts, definitions, classifications, and reporting units. It was the first census to be taken by mail, using lists of firms provided by the administrative records of other Federal agencies. Since 1963, administrative records also have been used to provide basic statistics for very small firms, reducing or eliminating the need to send them census questionnaires. The Enterprise Statistics Program, which publishes combined data from the economic census, was made possible with the implementation of the integrated census program in 1954.

The range of industries covered in the economic censuses has continued to expand. The census of construction industries began on a regular basis in 1967, and the scope of service industries was broadened in 1967, 1977, and 1987. The census of transportation began in 1963 as a set of surveys covering travel, transportation of commodities, and trucks, but expanded in 1987 to cover business establishments in several transportation industries. For 1992, these statistics are incorporated into a broadened census of transportation, communications, and utilities. Also new for 1992 is the census of financial, insurance, and real estate industries. This is part of a gradual expansion in coverage of industries previously subjected to government regulation.

The Survey of Minority-Owned Business Enterprises was first conducted as a special project in 1969 and was incorporated into the economic census in 1972 along with the Survey of Women-Owned Businesses.

An economic census has also been taken in Puerto Rico since 1909, in the Virgin Islands of the United States and Guam since 1958, and in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands since 1982.

Statistical reports from the 1987 and earlier censuses provide historical figures for the study of long-term time series and are available in some large libraries. All of the census data published since 1967 are still available for sale on microfiche from the Census Bureau.

AVAILABILITY OF MORE FREQUENT ECONOMIC DATA

While the census provides complete enumerations every 5 years, there are many needs for more frequent data as well. The Census Bureau conducts a number of monthly, quarterly, and annual surveys, with the results appearing in publication series such as Current Business Reports (retail and wholesale trade and service industries), the Annual Survey of Manufactures, Current Industrial Reports, and the Quarterly Financial Report. Most of these surveys, while providing more frequent observations, yield less kind-of-business and geographic detail than the census. The County Business Patterns program offers annual statistics on the number of establishments, employment, and payroll classified by industry within each county.

SOURCES FOR MORE INFORMATION

More information about the scope, coverage, classification system, data items, and publications for each of the economic censuses and related surveys is published in the Guide to the 1992 Economic Census and Related Statistics. More information on the methodology, procedures, and history of the census will be published in the History of the 1992 Economic Census. Contact Customer Services for information on availability.

Assets and Expenditures Survey

GENERAL

This report, which was prepared in conjunction with the 1992 Census of Service Industries, provides data on selected characteristics of service industry firms, including capital expenditures, depreciable assets, and operating expenses.

Data in this report are based on information collected from a probability sample of service firms used to produce annual national estimates of receipts and revenue published in the Service Annual Survey report. A description of the survey methodology, estimating procedures, and concepts is presented in appendix A.

The 1992 statistics are summarized by kind-of-business classifications based on the Standard Industrial Classification Manual: 1987[1] (SIC). This report covers a majority of service industries in the Nation. A description of each kind of business represented by data shown in this report is included in appendix A.

DOLLAR VALUES

All dollar values presented in this report are expressed in current dollars; i.e., 1992 data are expressed in 1992 dollars.

SPECIAL TABULATIONS AND UNPUBLISHED DATA

Special tabulations of data collected in the 1992 Assets and Expenditures Survey may be obtained, depending on availability of time and personnel, on computer disk or in tabular form. The data will be in summary form and subject to the same rules prohibiting disclosure of confidential information (including name, address, kind of business, or other data for individual business establishments or companies) as are the regular publications.

Special tabulations are prepared on a cost basis. A request for a cost estimate, as well as exact specifications on the type and format of the data to be provided, should be directed to the Chief, Agriculture and Financial Statistics Division, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233.

To discuss a special tabulation before submitting specifications, call 301-763-7596.

Some estimates have not been published in this report because their sampling variability or imputation is so high as to make them potentially misleading. Some unpublished data can be derived directly by subtracting appropriate published data from their respective totals. However, the figures obtained by such subtraction would be subject to high sampling variability described above for unpublished kinds of business, and their use would be subject to the same hazards. Unpublished data may be obtained upon request from the Chief, Agriculture and Financial Statistics Division, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233.

Summary of Findings

Data presented in this report on taxable receipts and tax-exempt revenue in 1992 amounted to $59.6 billion for personal services; $309.4 billion for business services; $78.5 billion for automotive repair, services, and garages; $623.5 for health services; and $102.3 billion for legal services. Comparisons to 1987 receipts/revenue data for individual kinds of business can be made using the Census of Service Industries, Nonemployer Statistics reports for the 2 years. Data presented on capital expenditures, depreciable assets, and operating expenses for service industries are summarized below. Note that some data presented in this report are not directly comparable to those in the 1987 report due to their inclusion of nonemployer businesses and changes to kind-of-business classifications.

CAPITAL EXPENDITURES

Capital expenditures for depreciable assets for personal services, business services, automotive repair services and garages, health services and legal services amounted to $2.3, $18.1, $21.1, $31.3, and $1.8 billion, respectively.

Expenditures for new facilities, structures, and equipment for these kinds of business amounted to $2.0, $16.8, $20.8, $29.7, and $1.6 billion, respectively. These amounts accounted for 85.9, 92.6, 98.7, 94.9, and 89.9 percent of total capital expenditures, respectively.

The kinds of business reporting the largest capital expenditures in 1992 included hospitals, with $22.0 billion and automotive rental and leasing, without drivers, $19.5 billion.

DEPRECIABLE ASSETS

The gross (acquisition) value of depreciable assets at the end of 1991 for personal services, business services, automotive repair services and garages, health services, and legal services amounted to $21.7, $90.6, $42.0, $306.7, and $16.9 billion, respectively. After adding capital expenditures and deducting assets sold, retired, scrapped, and destroyed, the year 1992 ended with the gross value of depreciable assets for these kinds of business amounting to $23.5, $101.4, $43.9, $332.8, and $18.1 billion, respectively. These amounts represented percent annual increases of 8.3, 11.9, 4.6, 8.5, and 7.0, respectively.

The kinds of business representing the highest values of depreciable assets at the end of 1992 were hospitals, with $236.8 billion; and hotels, motels, and tourist courts, with $101.8 billion.

OPERATING EXPENSES

Operating expenses in 1992 for personal services, business services, automotive repair services and garages, health services, and legal services amounted to $43.5, $243.6, $50.6, $527.9, and $72.4 billion, respectively. These amounts represented 73.0, 78.7, 64.4, 84.7, and 70.8 percent of total receipts and revenue, respectively. The following summarizes the findings for specific types of operating expenses.

Supplemental labor costs (employer cost for fringe benefits). Supplemental labor costs in 1992 for personal services, business services, automotive repair services and garages, health services, and legal services amounted to $2.8, $22.0, $3.3, $50.6, and $6.2 billion, respectively. Legally required supplemental labor costs for these kinds of business, such as employers' social security contributions, unemployment tax, workers' compensation insurance, and State disability insurance programs, amounted to $1.9, $13.7, $2.2, $23.6, and $6.1 billion, respectively.

Depreciation charges. Depreciation and amortization charges against depreciable assets in 1992 for personal services, business services, automotive repair services and garages, health services, and legal services amounted to $2.1, $11.5, $5.4, $20.4, and $1.7 billion, respectively.

Lease and rental payments. Lease and rental payments in 1992 for personal services, business services, automotive repair services, and garages, health services, and legal services amounted to $4.4, $12.6, $5.8, $17.7, and $7.4 billion, respectively. These payments represented 10.2, 5.2, 11.5, 3.4, and 10.3 percent of total operating expenses, respectively. Payments for office space, buildings, and other structures amounted to $4.1, $8.8, $4.5, $13.3, and $6.9 billion, respectively.

Communication and utility expenses. Communication services purchased in 1992 for personal services, business services, automotive repair services and garages, health services, and legal services represented 1.8, 1.9, 1.4, 0.9, and 1.9 percent of total operating expenses, respectively. Total purchased utilities in 1992 for these kinds of business represented 4.6, 0.7, 2.4, 1.4, and 0.4 percent of total operating expenses, respectively. Note that these data represent only utilities which were purchased by firms in 1992, and exclude those utility costs which were part of normal lease and rental payments or franchise fees.

[1]Data represent receipts of taxable firms and revenue of tax-exempt organizations. See appendix A for a description.
[2]Payroll data are not the same as in other reports from the 1992 Census of Service Industries due to their sample basis and inclusion of auxiliaries.
[3]Estimates are obtained from a sample of employers only and, therefore, do not include nonemployer data.
[4]Due to the inclusion of government operated hospitals, these data are not comparable to those compiled for 1987.
[5]Data on total operating expenses may differ from those compiled in the 1992 Service Annual Survey since they were collected separately.

[1]Data represent receipts of taxable firms and revenue of tax-exempt organizations. See appendix A for a description.
[2]Payroll data are not the same as in other reports from the 1992 Census of Service Industries due to their sample basis and inclusion of auxiliaries.
[3]Estimates are obtained from a sample of employers only and, therefore, do not include nonemployer data.
[4]Due to the inclusion of government operated hospitals, these data are not comparable to those compiled for 1987.
[5]Data on total operating expenses may differ from those compiled in the 1992 Service Annual Survey since they were collected separately.

Note: Detail may not add to total because of rounding. For estimated measures of sampling variability (coefficients of variation) see explanation in appendix A for percentage columns and table 11 for other columns.

[1]Payroll data are not the same as in other reports from the 1992 Census of Service Industries due to their sample basis and inclusion of auxiliaries.
[2]Estimates are obtained from a sample of employers only and, therefore, do not include nonemployer data.
[3]Due to the inclusion of government operated hospitals, these data are not comparable to those compiled for 1987.

[1]Payroll data are not the same as in other reports from the 1992 Census of Service Industries due to their sample basis and inclusion of auxiliaries.
[2]These data represent only utilities which were purchased by firms in 1992, and exclude those utilities costs which were part of normal lease and rental payments or franchise fees.
[3]Estimates are obtained from a sample of employers only and, therefore, do not include nonemployer data.
[4]Due to the inclusion of government operated hospitals, these data are not comparable to those compiled for 1987.

[1]Data on total operating expenses may differ from those compiled in the 1992 Service Annual Survey since they were collected separately.
[2]These data represent only utilities which were purchased by firms in 1992, and exclude those utilities costs which were part of normal lease and rental payments or franchise fees.
[3]Estimates are obtained from a sample of employers only and, therefore, do not include nonemployer data.
[4]Due to the inclusion of government operated hospitals, these data are not comparable to those compiled for 1987.

Note: This table excludes estimated measures of sampling variability (coefficients of variation) for percentages shown in other tables. For an explanation of these measures, see in Appendix A, Limitations of the Data.

[1]Estimates are obtained from a sample of employers only and, therefore, do not include nonemployer data.
[2]Due to the inclusion of government operated hospitals, these data are not comparable to those compiled for 1987.

General Explanation

SAMPLE DESIGN

The 1992 Assets and Expenditures Survey sample consists of all sampling units in SIC's 7 and 8 tabulated in the production of annual estimates of service receipts published in the Current Business Report Series BS, 1992 Service Annual Survey. The sampling procedures as carried out for the 1992 Service Annual Survey are described below.

The annual sample consists of a list component and an area component. The list component is composed of a fixed panel of large businesses, most of which were selected with certainty (i.e., probability of selection = 1.0), and two rotating panels of smaller businesses. The area component consists of three panels of land segments.

The list sample component. The frame for the initial sample was constructed using information from the Standard Statistical Establishment List (SSEL) as updated to December 31, 1989. The frame consisted of two lists. One list was composed of companies (multiestablishment enterprises) as determined by the 1989 Company Organization Survey. The other list was composed of all retail Employer Identification Numbers (EIN's) issued by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that (1) reported payroll in at least one quarter of 1989 and (2) were on the latest available IRS mailing file of Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) taxpayers. Each list contained information on receipts, payroll, employment, name and address, kind-of-business classification, type-of-operation classification, etc.

Because the frame consisted of a list of companies and a list of EIN's (some of which were associated with companies on the first list), the sampling units consisted of both companies and EIN's. If a company had total service receipts above a prescribed cutoff corresponding to its major kind of business, the company was selected into the sample with certainty. In this case, the company, which could consist of many EIN's, was the sampling unit. Consequently, any new establishments that the company might acquire, even if under new or different EIN's, were in the sample with certainty. All EIN's associated with the company were then removed from the second list to avoid duplication on the frame. After all certainty companies had been selected, the unduplicated EIN frame was sampled.

All multiestablishment retail companies that were not selected with certainty and all single establishment firms were treated on an EIN basis; that is, the EIN was the sampling unit. The EIN's were stratified according to their major kind of business and their estimated sales. A separate determination of certainty EIN's was performed using the same cutoffs as for companies. After certainty EIN's were selected, the remaining EIN's were subjected to simple random sampling within strata. The sampling rates for these EIN's varied between 1 in 1.5 to 1 in 250. Three such samples of EIN's, called panels, were drawn.

For those EIN's in the initial sample that were not classified in a kind-of-business category and for all EIN ''births'' after the frame creation, a two-phase selection procedure was used. EIN births, as used here, are new EIN's recently assigned by the IRS that are also on the latest available IRS mailing list for FICA taxpayers. They may be assigned a kind-of-business classification by the Social Security Administration (SSA). In the first phase, births were stratified by kind of business (if available) and size (expected employment or quarterly payroll). A relatively large sample was drawn and canvassed for more reliable and detailed information on the amount of receipts in two recent months and kind-of-business code.

Using this additional information, the cases selected in the first phase were restratified and the final sample drawn with probability-proportional-to-size sampling. The overall selection probabilities for the birth sampling are equivalent to those used in drawing the initial sample. Because of the lag in reporting births to the IRS and the SSA and the time needed to accomplish the two-phase birth-selection procedure carried out quarterly, births were actually tabulated in the sample about 9 to 12 months after they began operation.

The area sample component. The area sample component is a multistage sample. In the first stage, 12 primary sampling units (single counties or small groups of contiguous counties) were selected with certainty and 47 were drawn with probability proportional to size (population). Each selected primary sampling unit (PSU) was then subdivided into small land segments containing, at the time of selection, an average of about four service stores each. Twelve subsamples of these land segments were drawn in each PSU at an overall rate of 1 in 1,000 (1 in 2,000 or 1 in 3,000 in the smallest PSU's). Each of these 12 panels include approximately 420 land segments.

In the service annual survey sample, three area sample panels are used. This reduces the overall sampling rate to 1 in 333 (1 in 667 or 1 in 1,000 in the smallest PSU's).

All service establishments in these selected land segments are canvassed. Sufficient information (mainly concerning the EIN) is obtained to determine whether the business has had a chance of selection in the list sample component. If it has no EIN or if its EIN fails to match either the list component universe or the current FICA mailing list, it is tabulated in the area sample. The area sample used in the service annual survey thus includes employer and nonemployer businesses, mainly recent EI ''births'', not represented in the list component. The same area sample was used in the Assets and Expenditures Survey. Since the sample for several service SIC's excludes an area sample component, an interim procedure is required to account for ''births'' during the period between the onset of activity and the time of birth selection. This consists of imputing for all cases which go out of business, but which are still active on the IRS mailing list.

METHOD OF ESTIMATION

Data on service receipts and revenue presented in this report are reproduced from the United States Summary and the Nonemployer Statistics reports of the 1992 Census of Service Industries. All other data are statistical estimates which were developed from summation of weighted information from the sampling units. The weights used are the inverses of the probabilities of selection (or sampling rate) of sampling units in the survey. Each weighted estimate was multiplied by a ratio of taxable receipts and tax-exempt revenue reported in the 1992 Census of Service Industries to corresponding amounts reported in the 1992 Service Annual Survey to ensure comparability of the estimate to receipts and revenue data reproduced from census reports.

LIMITATIONS OF THE DATA

Because the estimates were based on a sample, exact agreement with the results that would be obtained from a complete census of service establishments using the same enumeration procedures should not be expected.

However, because every service operation in the United States had a chance of being selected for the sample, and because the probability of selection for each unit in the sample was known, it was possible to estimate the sampling variability of the estimates made from the sample.

The sampling error, or standard error of the estimate, is a measure of variability among the estimates from all possible samples of the same size and design and, thus, is a measure of the precision with which an estimate from a particular sample approximates the results of a complete enumeration. The coefficient of variation is the standard error of the estimate divided by the value being estimated. It is not expressed here as a percent. Note that measures of sampling variability, such as the standard error and the coefficient of variation, are estimates derived from the sample and are also subject to sampling variability.

The coefficients of variation permit certain confidence statements about the sample estimates. The particular sample used in this survey was one of a large number of samples of the same size that could have been selected using the same design. In about 2 out of 3 of these samples, the estimate would differ from a complete enumeration by less than the corresponding percentage for that estimate shown in the sampling variability columns. In about 9 out of 10 samples, the estimates would differ from the results of a complete enumeration by less than 1.65 times the percentages shown. To illustrate the computations involved in the above confidence statements as related to dollar volume sales estimates, assume that an estimate of sales is $10,750 million and that the coefficient of variation for this estimate is 1.8 percent, or 0.018. First obtain the standard error of the estimate by multiplying the estimate by the coefficient of variation. In this example, $10,750 million times 0.018 equals a standard error of $194 million. The 67-percent confidence interval for this example is $10,556 million to $10,944 million (i.e., $10,750 million plus or minus $194 million). Bounds for a 90-percent confidence interval are computed by adding or subtracting 1.65 times the standard error from the estimate; consequently, the 90-percent confidence interval ranges from $10,430 million to $11,070 million. If corresponding 67-percent confidence intervals were constructed for all possible samples of the same size and design, approximately 2 out of 3 (67 percent) intervals would contain the value obtained from a complete enumeration. Similarly, for 90-percent confidence intervals, 9 out of 10 of all possible intervals would contain the value obtained in a complete enumeration.

Although coefficients of variation have not been calculated for the percent estimates shown in this report, they will be less than:

$$\sqrt{CV^2\ (\text{VALUE IN DENOMINATOR}) + CV^2\ (\text{VALUE IN NUMERATOR})}$$

Coefficients of variation for all other published estimates are presented in table 11.

RESPONSE AND OTHER NONSAMPLING ERRORS

The coefficients of variation shown in this report do not measure biases which might arise from nonsampling errors such as the failure of respondents to submit correct figures on time for tabulation. Nonsampling errors can be attributed to many sources: inability to obtain information about all cases in the sample; response errors; definition difficulties; differences in the interpretation of questions; mistakes in recording or coding the data obtained; and other errors of collection, response, coverage, and estimation for missing data. These nonsampling errors also occur in complete censuses. Information is not available on the extent of bias that may be due to reporting errors. To minimize nonsampling biases, all reports were reviewed for completeness and consistency.

Various ratios were calculated from the data of each report (e.g., employer contributions for plans required by law to total annual payroll). All extreme and unusual ratios were verified or corrected where necessary. Some firms did not report prior to the closeout of this survey. Data were therefore imputed for these firms based on other available records for like firms in the same kind of business. Imputation amounted to about 14.0 percent for capital expenditures, 14.2 percent for depreciable assets, and 16.6 percent for operating expenses.

COMPARABILITY OF THE 1987 AND 1992 SURVEYS

The 1987 and 1992 surveys were conducted under similar conditions and procedures except for the following:

The 1987 publications for wholesale trade, retail trade, and service industries all presented data limited to employer business establishments. However, for 1992 the retail and service reports include data on nonemployer establishments. It should be noted that in the 1992 Census of Retail Trade, nonemployers accounted for only 2.8 percent of total sales. In the 1992 Census of Service Industries, nonemployers accounted for only 10.6 percent of total receipts.

It should also be noted that the 1987 publication used kinds of business definitions based on the 1972 Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) manual. This report uses kinds of business definitions based on the Standard Industrial Classification Manual: 1987[1] (SIC). For a list of significant changes in SIC codes from 1972 to 1987, see appendix C.

COMPARISONS WITH OTHER DATA

Data on receipts and revenue presented in this report generally reflect those presented in other reports from the 1992 Census of Service Industries. All other statistics shown are estimates developed from the sample of service firms participating in the 1992 Service Annual Survey. Items from this report are comparable, in whole or in part, to statistics developed from other sources; notably the 1992 Census of Service Industries, the Annual Capital Expenditures Survey, the national income and products accounts (NIPA) tables published in the Survey of Current Business, and Statistics of Income published by the IRS. Estimates from these varying sources may differ for reasons of sampling variability and methodology. Broad descriptions of the differences in concept or methodology which should be observed when comparing other data series to those from this report follow.

Annual Capital Expenditures Survey. This annual publication of the Bureau of the Census provides detailed information on investment in structures and equipment by nonfarm businesses. The data are used to improve the quality of monthly and quarterly economic indicators of investments and planned investments. These measures contribute to improved quarterly estimates of the gross domestic product from the Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA). Differences in sampling methodology, independent processing and editing, variability in respondents completing the forms, and timing of the data collection contribute to variations in the estimates of capital expenditures.

Statistics of Income From the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). These annual publications and quarterly bulletins of the IRS provide information on business receipts, cost of goods sold, selected expense items, and depreciable assets compiled from the Federal income tax returns.

The company or subcompany level of reporting on income tax returns may not be the same as used for reporting in the assets and expenditures survey. For example, manufacturing and other establishments operated by firms which are primarily service firms may be included in the IRS data. Service establishments operated by firms primarily engaged in other industries are not represented in the IRS statistics for service industries.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS

Receipts (for firms subject to payment of Federal income tax). Receipts include, except for certain professional services, the total amounts received from customers or clients for services rendered and merchandise sold during 1992 whether or not payment was received in 1992. For offices of physicians, legal services, architectural and engineering services, receipts include only payments received in 1992, regardless of when services were rendered. Receipts are net after deduction for refunds and allowances for merchandise returned by customers. Receipts do not include sales, occupancy, admissions, or other taxes collected from customers and remitted directly by the firm to a local, State, or Federal tax agency. Receipts (represents firms subject to payment of Federal income tax) exclude sources considered ''nonoperating'', such as investment income, real estate rental, contributions, and grants. Also, a portion of data reported for capital expenditures, value of assets, depreciation, and other operating expenses may pertain to real estate owned by a taxable business and leased to others, even though corresponding data on receipts exclude real estate lease income.

Receipts data for advertising agencies reflect commissions, fees, and other agency income rather than gross receipts.

Revenue (for organizations exempt from Federal income tax). Revenue includes charges or billings to customers or clients for services rendered and merchandise sold during 1992 whether or not payment was received in 1992. Also included are income from interest, dividends, contributions, gifts and grants, rents, royalties, dues and assessments from members and affiliates, and net receipts from fundraising activities. Receipts from these organizations' taxable business activities, as well as tax-exempt activities, are included.

Revenues do not include sales taxes or other taxes (occupancy, admissions, etc.) collected by the organization from customers or clients and paid directly to local, State, or Federal income tax agencies; income from the sale of real estate, investments, or other assets; or amounts transferred to operating funds from capital or reserve funds. Firms providing legal services reported payments received in 1992 regardless of when services were rendered.

Federal income tax status. The selected kinds of business, firms and organizations were classified on the basis of their response to the tax status inquiry on the Service Annual Survey questionnaire. Those that indicated all or part of their income was exempt from Federal income tax under provisions of Section 501 or 521 of the IRS code were classified as tax-exempt.

Firms indicating no such exemption were classified as taxable. For firms that did not respond, the tax status classification was based upon administrative records. (Firms and organizations in all other kinds of business were by definition considered subject to Federal income tax.)

Data adjustment. Data on receipts and revenue were previously published for taxable firms and tax-exempt organizations, respectively, in the United States Summary and the Nonemployer Statistics reports of the 1992 Census of Service Industries.

Preliminary estimates of all data items in this report other than for receipts and revenue were multiplied by a ratio of receipts or revenue compiled for the 1992 Census of Service Industries United States Summary report to receipts or revenue compiled in the 1992 Service Annual Survey (S.A.S.), where receipts or revenue for both were defined based on the S.A.S. definitions. See Method of Estimation in appendix A for further explanation.

Operating expenses. The types of operating expenses requested on the report form are:

1. Annual payroll. Payroll includes all salaries, wages, commissions, bonuses, and allowances for vacation, holiday, and sick leave paid to employees in 1992 before payroll deductions. For corporations, it includes amounts paid to officers and executives; for unincorporated businesses, it does not include payments to or withdrawals from profits by owners or partners. (This figure does not include employer contributions to plans required by law and other plans besides vacation, holiday, and sick leave.)
2. Employer costs for programs required by law. This item includes all programs required under Federal and State legislation such as FICA, unemployment tax, workers' compensation, and State disability payments.
3. Employer costs for other fringe benefits. This item includes programs not specifically required by Federal or State legislation, such as life and health insurance premiums for employees.
4. Depreciation charges. This item includes depreciation and amortization charges against depreciable assets owned during 1992. Amounts representing tax exempt organizations, if not reported, were estimated even though depreciation accounts may not be maintained.
5. Taxes. Includes all taxes and license fees paid during 1992 (excluding income and payroll taxes). It includes tobacco and liquor tax stamps, fines, and property taxes. It excludes direct payments to government tax agencies for sales and other taxes collected directly from customers.
6. Lease and rental payments. These are payments for lease or rental of buildings, machinery, and equipment. Payments for machinery and equipment include use of production machinery, office equipment, computer systems, passenger cars, trucks, materials handling equipment, and all other types of machinery and equipment.
7. Cost of office supplies, stationery, and postage.
8. Cost of purchased communication services. This item includes cost of telephone, data transmission, telegraph, telex, teletype, and all other communications services purchased in 1992.
9. Cost of purchased electricity. Some businesses included this expense as part of building/office lease payments.
10. Cost of purchased fuels. This includes fuels for heating, power, or generation of electricity, also sometimes included in lease payments.
11. Cost of other utilities. This includes all utilities except purchased fuels and electricity, also sometimes included in lease payments.
12. Legal services purchased from other firms.
13. Accounting services purchased from other firms.
14. Computer related services. This item includes data processing and other computer services purchased from other firms. It excludes prepackaged software.
15. Cost of purchased repair services. This item includes the total amount paid for noncapitalized repairs to buildings, structures, machinery, and equipment such as motor vehicles and office space. It excludes cost of repairs to leased buildings and equipment covered by regular lease payments.
16. All other operating expenses. This includes inventory storage and shipping costs, insurance expense (nonemployee), uninsured casualty losses, and bad debt losses. It excludes interest on loans and sales excise taxes.

Capital expenditures. Capital expenditures refer to all costs actually incurred in 1992 which were chargeable to the depreciable assets accounts of a firm. These costs are of the type for which depreciation or amortization accounts are ordinarily maintained.

All items obtained through a capital lease on or after January 1, 1992, are included. Excluded are capital expenditures made by a firm for property which it leased to others as part of a capital lease arrangement.

Included are expenditures for new and used structures (including those under construction at the end of 1992), fixtures and equipment, additions, major alterations and improvements to existing facilities, and capitalized repairs. Also included are expenditures made by a firm for structures which, on completion, were or are to be sold or leased back to that firm. (The value of trade-ins are not deducted.)

Excluded are expenditures for land; items chargeable as current operating expenses such as cost of maintenance, repairs, supplies, etc.; expenditures for locations primarily engaged in activities other than service; and expenditures for goodwill, patents, or copyrights. Also excluded are capital expenditures (except capital leases) made by owners of property rented or leased to the surveyed firms, but included are capital expenditures made to property leased from others (leasehold improvements).

Cost of assets acquired during 1992 by tax-exempt organizations, if not reported, was estimated even though depreciation accounts may not be maintained.

Gross value of depreciable assets. This amount is the acquisition value (original cost) of all assets for which depreciation and amortization accounts are ordinarily maintained. Included are all improvements and new construction ''in progress'' but not completed at the end of 1992 and the gross value of machinery and equipment owned by retail firms but leased or rented to other firms except under capital lease arrangements. Excluded are land and depletable assets (timber, mineral rights, etc.), nondepreciated assets (cash, inventories, etc.), and all intangible assets such as goodwill, patents, or copyrights.

Cost of assets acquired by tax-exempt organizations, if not reported, was estimated even though depreciation accounts may not be maintained.

Deductions from depreciable assets. This amount represents the value of depreciable assets sold, retired, scrapped, or destroyed during 1992, and other adjustments (except depreciation).

Legal form of organization. The legal form of organization for firms in this survey was based on the response to the organizational status inquiry on other economic census or survey forms as well as administrative records of other Federal agencies. However, tax-exempt organizations were treated as corporations in applicable tables.

Auxiliary establishments. In consideration of recordkeeping practices and for consistency with the related sales data collected for 1992 in the annual business surveys, each company in this survey was asked to include those auxiliary locations whose primary functions were to manage, administer, service, or support the activities of the main establishments covered by the report. Data presented in other reports from the 1992 Census of Service Industries exclude such auxiliaries. Capital expenditures and other data for auxiliaries alone are released as part of the 1992 Enterprise Statistics program.

KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATIONS

Services, as defined in Division I of the 1987 Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) manual, includes establishments primarily engaged in rendering a wide variety of services to individuals, business and government establishments, and other organizations.

Establishments covered by the census were assigned kind-of-business classifications according to the industry classifications defined in the 1987 SIC manual. When a more detailed classification than defined in the SIC manual was needed, additional kinds of business were identified within an SIC industry.

Hotels, Rooming Houses, Camps, and Other Lodging Places (SIC Major Group 70)

This group includes establishments engaged in providing lodging, or lodging and meals, and camping facilities. Hotels which provide accommodations for permanent residents (e.g., apartment hotels) and residential mobile home parks are classified in Real Estate, Major Group 65.

Hotels and motels (SIC 7011). Commercial establishments, known to the public as hotels, motor hotels, motels, or tourist courts, primarily engaged in providing lodging, or lodging and meals.

The classification of individual establishments into hotels, motor hotels, and motels and tourist courts was based primarily on the respondents' self-designation.

Rooming and boarding houses (SIC 702). Establishments renting rooms, with or without board, on a fee basis. Homes for the elderly, for children, and for the handicapped that provide additional services, other than nursing care, are classified in Industry 8361, and homes that provide nursing and/or health-related care are classified in Industry Group 805. Rooming and boarding houses operated by membership organizations for their members only are classified in Industry 7041.

Sporting and recreational camps (SIC 7032). Sporting and recreational camps providing lodging and meals, or lodging only. Included are children's camps, fishing camps, hunting camps, and dude ranches. Day camps and sports instructional camps, such as baseball, basketball, or football camps, are classified in Industry 7999.

Recreational vehicle parks and campsites (SIC 7033). Establishments providing overnight or short-term sites for recreational vehicles, trailers, campers, or tents. Residential trailer and mobile home parks are classified in Real Estate, Major Group 65.

Lodging houses and hotels operated by membership organizations for the benefit of their members and guests, and not open to the general public. Hotels operated by such organizations but open to the public are classified in Industry 7011. Residential homes for the elderly and others in need of residential, social, and personal care are classified in Industry 8361.

This group includes establishments primarily engaged in providing services generally to individuals, such as barber and beauty shops, drycleaning plants, laundries, and photographic studios. For establishments classified in Industry Group 721, collecting and distributing units (branch outlets, pickup stations, terminals, or depots) owned and operated by a firm which does its own laundry work are not classified as separate establishments. Data for these units are merged with data for the plant where the work is done.

Power laundries, family and commercial (SIC 7211). Establishments primarily engaged in operating mechanical laundries with steam or other power. Excluded are establishments which have power laundry equipment but which are primarily engaged in a specialty, such as industrial laundering, linen rental, or diaper service. These establishments are classified in other categories within Industry Group 721. Independently owned agencies for laundry plants are classified in Industry 7212. Laundries using small power equipment of household type are classified in Industry 7219.

Establishments primarily engaged in supplying laundered or drycleaned work uniforms, wiping towels, protective apparel (gloves, flame resistant clothing, etc.), dust control items (treated mats or rugs, mops, cloths, etc.), and similar items to industrial, commercial, and government users. These items may belong to the industrial launderers and be supplied to users on a rental basis, or they may belong to the customers. Establishments included in this industry may or may not operate their own laundry or drycleaning facilities.

Laundry and garment services, n.e.c. (SIC 7219). There is evidence that among small employer establishments (for which kind-of-business information is obtained from administrative records), many service establishments are classified incorrectly in this industry because there is insufficient information to determine the correct kind-of-business classification. Therefore, the published data probably overstate the number of establishments and level of activity for this category.

Introduction to the Economic Census

PURPOSES AND USES OF THE ECONOMIC CENSUS

The economic census is the major source of facts about the structure and functioning of the Nation's economy. It provides essential information for government, business, industry, and the general public.

The economic census furnishes an important part of the framework for such composite measures as the gross domestic product, input/ output measures, production and price indexes, and other statistical series that measure short-term changes in economic conditions.

Policymaking agencies of the Federal Government use the data, especially in monitoring economic activity and providing assistance to business.

State and local governments use the data to assess business activities and tax bases within their jurisdictions and to develop programs to attract business.

Trade associations study trends in their own and competing industries and keep their members informed of market changes.

Individual businesses use the data to locate potential markets and to analyze their own production and sales performance relative to industry or area averages.

AUTHORITY AND SCOPE

Title 13 of the United States Code (sections 131, 191, and 224) directs the Census Bureau to take the economic census every 5 years, covering years ending in 2 and 7. The 1992 Economic Census consists of the following eight censuses:

- Census of Retail Trade
- Census of Wholesale Trade
- Census of Service Industries
- Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries
- Census of Transportation, Communications, and Utilities
- Census of Manufactures
- Census of Mineral Industries
- Census of Construction Industries

Special programs also cover enterprise statistics and minority-owned and women-owned businesses. (The 1992 Census of Agriculture and 1992 Census of Governments are conducted separately.) The next economic census is scheduled to be taken in 1998 covering the year 1997.

AVAILABILITY OF THE DATA

The results of the economic census are available in printed reports for sale by the U.S. Government Printing Office and on compact discs for sale by the Census Bureau. Order forms for all types of products are available on request from Customer Services, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233-8300. A more complete description of publications being issued from this census is on the inside back cover of this document.

Census facts are also widely disseminated by trade associations, business journals, and newspapers. Volumes containing census statistics are available in most major public and college libraries. Finally, State data centers in every State as well as business and industry data centers in many States also supply economic census statistics.

WHAT'S NEW IN 1992

The 1992 Economic Census covers more of the economy than any previous census. New for 1992 are data on communications, utilities, financial, insurance, and real estate, as well as coverage of more transportation industries. The economic, agriculture, and governments censuses now collectively cover nearly 98 percent of all economic activity.

Among other changes, new 1992 definitions affect the boundaries of about a third of all metropolitan areas. Also, the Survey of Women-Owned Businesses has now been expanded to include all corporations.

HISTORICAL INFORMATION

The economic census has been taken as an integrated program at 5-year intervals since 1967 and before that for 1963, 1958, and 1954. Prior to that time, the individual subcomponents of the economic census were taken separately at varying intervals.

The economic census traces its beginnings to the 1810 Decennial Census, when questions on manufacturing were included with those for population. Coverage of economic activities was expanded for 1840 and subsequent censuses to include mining and some commercial activities. In 1902, Congress established a permanent Census Bureau and directed that a census of manufactures be taken every 5 years. The 1905 Manufactures Census was the first time a census was taken apart from the regular every-10-year population census.

The first census of business was taken in 1930, covering 1929. Initially it covered retail and wholesale trade and construction industries, but it was broadened in 1933 to include some of the service trades.

The 1954 Economic Census was the first census to be fully integrated—providing comparable census data across economic sectors, using consistent time periods, concepts, definitions, classifications, and reporting units. It was the first census to be taken by mail, using lists of firms provided by the administrative records of other Federal agencies. Since 1963, administrative records also have been used to provide basic statistics for very small firms, reducing or eliminating the need to send them census questionnaires. The Enterprise Statistics Program, which publishes combined data from the economic census, was made possible with the implementation of the integrated census program in 1954.

The range of industries covered in the economic censuses has continued to expand. The census of construction industries began on a regular basis in 1967, and the scope of service industries was broadened in 1967, 1977, and 1987. The census of transportation began in 1963 as a set of surveys covering travel, transportation of commodities, and trucks, but expanded in 1987 to cover business establishments in several transportation industries. For 1992, these statistics are incorporated into a broadened census of transportation, communications, and utilities. Also new for 1992 is the census of financial, insurance, and real estate industries. This is part of a gradual expansion in coverage of industries previously subjected to government regulation.

The Survey of Minority-Owned Business Enterprises was first conducted as a special project in 1969 and was incorporated into the economic census in 1972 along with the Survey of Women-Owned Businesses.

An economic census has also been taken in Puerto Rico since 1909, in the Virgin Islands of the United States and Guam since 1958, and in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands since 1982.

Statistical reports from the 1987 and earlier censuses provide historical figures for the study of long-term time series and are available in some large libraries. All of the census data published since 1967 are still available for sale on microfiche from the Census Bureau.

AVAILABILITY OF MORE FREQUENT ECONOMIC DATA

While the census provides complete enumerations every 5 years, there are many needs for more frequent data as well. The Census Bureau conducts a number of monthly, quarterly, and annual surveys, with the results appearing in publication series such as Current Business Reports (retail and wholesale trade and service industries), the Annual Survey of Manufactures, Current Industrial Reports, and the Quarterly Financial Report. Most of these surveys, while providing more frequent observations, yield less kind-of-business and geographic detail than the census. The County Business Patterns program offers annual statistics on the number of establishments, employment, and payroll classified by industry within each county.

SOURCES FOR MORE INFORMATION

More information about the scope, coverage, classification system, data items, and publications for each of the economic censuses and related surveys is published in the Guide to the 1992 Economic Census and Related Statistics. More information on the methodology, procedures, and history of the census will be published in the History of the 1992 Economic Census. Contact Customer Services for information on availability.

Census of Service Industries

KINDS OF BUSINESS COVERED

This report presents data for Hotels, Rooming Houses, Camps, and Other Lodging Places, Major Group 70, as defined in the Standard Industrial Classification Manual: 1987[1] (SIC). The data in this report, tabulated as part of the 1992 Census of Service Industries, supplement those previously included in the Geographic Area Series (SC92-A) reports. See the ''Kind-of-Business Classifications'' section of appendix A for definitions of the kind-of-business categories for which data are shown in this report. Only establishments with some payroll during the year are included.

The basic tabulations in this report do not include data for establishments which are auxiliary (primary function is providing a service, such as warehousing or bookkeeping) to service establishments within the same organization. Data for auxiliaries are presented in a subsequent report issued as part of the 1992 Enterprise Statistics reports.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF THE CENSUS

For the 1992 Census of Service Industries, large- and medium-size firms, plus all firms known to operate more than one establishment, were sent questionnaires to be completed and returned to the Census Bureau by mail. For most very small firms, including those with no paid employees, data from existing administrative records of other Federal agencies were used instead. These records provided basic information on location, kind of business, receipts, payroll, number of employees, and legal form of organization. In addition, more detailed information for selected kinds of business was obtained on the various questionnaires.

Appendix A gives a more detailed explanation of census coverage and methodology.

CENSUS DISCLOSURE RULES

In accordance with Federal law governing census reports, no data are published that would disclose the operations of an individual establishment or business. However, the number of establishments in a kind-of-business classification is not considered a disclosure, so this information may be released even though other information is withheld.

GEOGRAPHIC AREAS COVERED

This report series presents data for the following areas:

1. The United States as a whole.
2. Each State and the District of Columbia.
3. Each consolidated metropolitan statistical area (CMSA) and primary metropolitan statistical area (PMSA) defined by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) as of June 30, 1993. A CMSA is an area used to facilitate the presentation and analysis of data for large concentrations of metropolitan populations. It includes two or more contiguous PMSA's which have a population of at least 1,000,000[2] and which meet specific criteria of urban character and of social and economic integration.
4. Each metropolitan statistical area (MSA) defined by the OMB as of June 30, 1992. An MSA is an integrated economic and social unit with a population nucleus of at least 50,000 inhabitants.[2] Each MSA consists of one or more counties meeting standards of metropolitan character; in New England, cities and towns rather than counties are the component geographic units.

DOLLAR VALUES

All dollar values presented in this report are expressed in current dollars, i.e., 1992 data are expressed in 1992 dollars and 1987 data in 1987 dollars. Consequently, when making comparisons to prior years, users of the data should consider the inflation that has occurred.

RELIABILITY OF DATA

The data presented on various subjects included in this report are based, in part, upon a sample and, therefore, are subject to both sampling errors and nonsampling errors.

[1] Standard Industrial Classification Manual: 1987. For sale by Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, DC 20402. Stock No. 041-001-00314-2.

[2] According to 1990 Census of Population or subsequent special census.

Specifically, these data are estimated based on information obtained from census questionnaires mailed to all large employers and to a 10-percent sample of small employers in the service universe. Sampling errors affect these estimates insofar as they may differ from results that would be obtained from a complete enumeration. Nonsampling errors can be attributed to many sources: inability to identify all cases in the actual universe; definition and classification difficulties; differences in the interpretation of questions; errors in recording or coding the data obtained; and other errors of collection, response, coverage, processing, and estimation for missing or misreported data.

The reliability of data estimates on the selected topics presented in this report is determined by the joint effects of sampling and nonsampling errors. No direct measurement of these effects has been obtained except for estimation for missing or misreported data; however, precautionary steps were taken in all phases of the collection, processing, and tabulation of the data in an effort to minimize the effects of nonsampling errors. Appendix A provides more detailed information on the sampling procedure (see Census Coverage and Methodology) and estimation procedure (see Treatment of Nonresponse) that apply to those data. Also see appendix E in the Geographic Area Series (SC92-A) reports for an indication of the extent that data for kind-of-business totals included in this report were obtained from the administrative records of other Federal agencies and from estimation, rather than reports directly from respondents.

SPECIAL TABULATIONS

Special tabulations of data collected in the 1992 Census of Service Industries may be obtained, depending on availability of time and personnel, on diskette, computer tape, or in tabular form. The data will be in summary form and subject to the same rules prohibiting disclosure of confidential information (including name, address, kind of business, or other data for individual business establishments or companies) as are the regular publications.

Special tabulations are prepared on a cost basis. A request for a cost estimate, as well as exact specifications on the type and format of the data to be provided, should be directed to the Chief, Services Division, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233.

To discuss a special tabulation before submitting specifications, call 1-800-541-8345.
